AGITATE CONGRESS

Mellon Refunding Measure
Promises Fireworks.

BROAD POWERS FEARED

Republican Leaders Insist Fiscal Policy Toward Allied Nations
Requires Liberal Treatment.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—With the introduction by Senator Penrose of the foreign debt refunding bill of the administration, the financiers in congress stepped into the limelight, and judging by the first few days of the proceedings in the senate there are more financiers in congress than in Wall street. No doubt there will be a general discussion of the subject throughout the country. It bids fair to share with the tariff the attention of congress.

Broad Powers Required.

But the administration is not dealing with the stockholders or directors of large corporations. It is asking extraordinary authority from congress. Congress views the granting of such authority to the executive with distrust. Every proposition in the administration financial programme will be placed under the mental microscope of both houses of congress. Until some action is taken on the bill, billions of dollars will drift around the chamber of the senate like banes while a big league team is warming up for the national championship game. The debate in the house will be short and acrimonious.

Treasury Department Powerless.

President Harding acted on the basis of a communication which he had received from Secretary Mellon, in which the latter pointed out that the treasury department is at present without authority to consent to any extension of the time for payment of the principal or of the interest, or to proceed with the refunding of the demand notes now held by the United States.

More Important Debts.

The more important foreign indebtedness is that under the various liberty bond acts. In all Great Britain received under these authorizations, $4,650,318,256; Belgium, $1,648,034,050.90; Czechoslovakia, $1,356,596.74; Rumania, $2,230,819.21; Serbia, $28,175,129.22; Cuba, $9,025,500; Greece, $15,000,000; Russia, $187,729,756; and Liberia, $26,000.

FIGHTERS SET FOR GONG

(Continued from first page.) Dempsey will knock out the French soldier in less than two rounds. Carpentier may last three if he carefully carries out his well-prepared defensive fight.

One-sided Match Predicted.

It is the most one-sided heavy-weight championship match in history, and Carpentier is the lightest man who ever competed for the title. We cannot dignify the bout by calling it a contest. It should be styled an "exhibition" for that is what it is, pure and simple.

George Lewis Rickard, the silent Nevada, will play to the biggest and most representative fight crowd ever assembled. He announced late tonight that the sale of tickets had reached a total of 1,350,000 and predicted that every one of the more than 91,000 seats will be disposed of and that the gate will pass the $1,500,000 mark.

are letting sentiment overcome good judgment.

Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer weather for tomorrow is promised by the weather bureau, with a temperature of 55 degrees.

The "foggy Oregon mist" of the last three days ceased falling late this afternoon. "Tex" Rickard says that only heavy rainfall lasting through the morning will force a postponement until Monday.

Today 500 policemen and 200 firemen were trained to emergency work within the huge arena and between it and the ferries and tube stations, are ready to handle the crowd.

More than 700 newspaper men and feature writers have their typewriters well oiled, and many telegraph wires run direct to the ringside. Correspondents are here from nearly every nation.

Dempsey will enter the ring wearing his usual three-day growth of heavy black whiskers. He says that he has often preceded in the heads of champagne and challenger are well shorn.

Eugene Corri, famous British referee, arrived from London today. He said the guest of Rickard, Corri said Corri had to hold him after his visit here that "Dempsey was very nice, but that he was made for him."

Dempsey's morale is unshaken. New York has swallowed the great crowd as easily as a great pit swallow a small pebble, and every hotel lobby is jammed with the thousands who fight bugs rehashing past championships.

More than 5000 women will attend. Dempsey's morale is not shaken, despite the fact that the majority are openly "for" the Frenchman.

Champion's morale is not shaken, despite the fact that the majority are openly "for" the Frenchman. Dempsey was badly advised during the war and that he has received a lot of "bad" advice.

But the administration is not dealing with the stockholders or directors of large corporations. It is asking extraordinary authority from congress.

Secretary Mellon comes to congress with request for authority to conduct negotiations with our debtor nations, as he has often preceded in the heads of champagne and challenger are well shorn.

EDISON'S NAME READ TO SPIRIT'S FOLD

Einstein Also Honored at New York Convention.

NO STOCK TIPS ARE GIVEN

World Beyond Is Sportless, Says
President, and ex-Gambler
May Be Lonesome.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Special.)—

Edison and Einstein were claimed as spiritualists by President J. F. Stockenreiter at the 25th annual convention of the general assembly of Spiritualists of the state of New York, which met at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mediums from all parts of the state attended and spirits from all parts of the globe were on hand. There was public communication with spirits in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria.

It was not a gathering of persons who tell how to find lost articles or give tips on the races and stock market, or teach luckless lovers how to turn defeat into victory.

According to President Stockenreiter, one of the principal activities of true spiritualists is the exposing of charlatans of this type, but it is one of the imperfections of the criminal law that it cannot do this.

President Stockenreiter, "that a departed jockey or race-track tout might transmit tips to his former friends. A man whose soul was ennobled with horseracing when he was living might exist for some time in the other state before his baser nature was refined away.

There is in the records of similar sports in the other world.

Telepathy Held Familiar. Mr. Stockenreiter said that telepathy, or the transmission of thought through space from one living person to another, was a familiar phenomenon to spiritualists.

He stated that the transmission took place by means of waves or vibrations. Sir Oliver Lodge's theory that ether was the habitat of departed spirits was not of great interest to spiritualists.

"We are too busy keeping our comrades out of jail to go deeply into the matter," he said. "It does not matter whether they live in ether or another substance of the same name."

The president said that the relatively theory had not the slightest effect on spirits, but that Einstein had got the theory from spirits. "All other theories that are true and all advances of knowledge come the same way," he said.

President Stockenreiter said that ether is a fabric of spirit, which have been seen and photographed, according to a Conan Doyle, had not manifested themselves in the United States as yet.

"There is no reason why they should not, however," he said. "If one kind of appearance can be produced, there is no reason why crabs, snails or elves could not be brought into existence in the same way."

Stockenreiter said that there would be no materializations at the convention. "Manifestations," he said, "require darkness or semi-darkness."

Police Get No Help. The spirits which have communicated all great scientific discoveries have not so far been able to communicate enlightenment to legislators.

According to Mr. Stockenreiter the statute books are still disgraced with persecuting laws which have survived from the centuries of witch burning. Guided by the advice of living and dead lawyers the spiritualists have overcome the biggest state of jurisprudence by organizing a crusade, and thus obtaining the endorsement of the constitution for acts of religious freedom which, committed by laymen, would be criminal.

"But our church is the only true one," said Mr. Stockenreiter. "It is composed of that which is good in all the others. We have what is best of Christianity, Christian Science, Buddhism, Confucianism and all other religions."

In spite of this plain-clothes position, his plain-clothes police molest them. "Men and women detectives come to me," said Mrs. Milton Rathburn, "and say they have lost a dear one and are so anxious to know where they are and how they are living. They ask if I can send them to someone who will help them. You don't want any such thing," I reply. "What you want is to find a medium and persecute her and arrest her. I won't help you." In his address at the opening meeting of the Waldorf-Astoria President Stockenreiter said:

"All great minds that bring from the unknown or immaterial world a message that benefits and uplifts mankind are undoubtedly mediums for such spiritual transmission. Take the case of Edison. His invention of the phonograph has brought to millions on this earth a spiritual message. In hundreds of thousands of homes there is a better and a finer spirit now because of Edison's revelation of music and speech. Just think—through him you hear the voice of the dead. Whether Edison agrees or not to the contention, he is surely a medium. He has been chosen to construct apparatus that brings the message and thought of the spirit world."

RADICAL SPEECH IS UPHELD

Attorney-General Gives Opinion on Legality of Utterances of William Bouck.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—William Bouck, master of the Washington state grange, violated no state law in his radical utterances delivered recently before the convention of the state grange at Colville, Wash. Attorney-General Daugherty has ruled in a letter to Senator Poindexter.

"You inquire whether these utterances of Mr. Bouck constitute a violation of the criminal laws of the United States," the attorney-general wrote. "In my judgment they do not."

Numerous complaints regarding the Bouck speech were sent to government officials here.

Secretary of Interior Fall said today that the itinerary for his western trip was not yet worked out but he still hoped to get away from here on the night of July 14. It seems probable that he will go first to the northwest, visiting those irrigation projects which are easiest of access, including those at Yakima, in Washington, Umatilla, in Oregon, and possibly all projects in Idaho.

Small communities in the northwest have been telegraphing invitations to the secretary to pay them a visit, but he said today that his plan for the reclamation projects and inspect national parks will give him little time for social engagements.

Senators Jones and Poindexter are likely to bring out their entire list of recommendations for federal reorganization in Washington state next week, Senator Jones said today. "There will be no announcement until we announce all," and added that "the joy and disappointment in our decisions will come together."

DJAMBI OIL BILL VETOED

COMPANY TO BE CONTROLLED BY DUTCH GOVERNMENT.

First Chamber of Parliament Approves Legislation Providing Exploitation of Fields.

THE HAGUE, July 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first chamber of parliament today, by a vote of 27 to 8, adopted the Djambi oil bill providing for exploitation of the valuable Djambi oil fields for a period of 40 years by a consortium of the Dutch Indian government and the Batavia Oil company, the latter belonging to the Shell group.

The measure was adopted by the second chamber April 29. Under the bill the combination exploiting the oil fields will be capitalized at 10,000,000 guilders. The capital will be divided equally but the company will be under control of the Dutch government and the board of directors must all be Dutchmen. The president, vice-president and one other member of the board of directors will be nominated by the Dutch minister of the colonies. By adoption of the bill American interests are excluded from exploitations in the Djambi fields.

Court Upholds Jury List. ABERDEEN, Wash., July 1.—(Special.)—In meeting the criticism of his court and his method of selecting juries in bootlegging cases, made by Deputy Prosecutor Wade in a vice-crusade mass meeting Tuesday night, Justice Baumert today declared that the juries in his court were selected strictly according to the state constitution.

There is only one absolute way to judge the lubricating value of a motor oil—in the crucible of Service.

Cyclo was created and is sold solely on this principle.

Gravity, fire and flash tests, or color, or base are not true indications of the lubricating value or durability of a motor oil.

Cyclo is a revolutionary achievement in lubrication science. In the production of Cyclo the Associated Oil Company held to one great objective—results in service. In the selection of crude petroleum, in the refining process, in all tests, this was the primal—and final—purpose.

Cyclo—the new and different motor oil—is free from destructive "sulpho" compounds. These are removed by the new Hexeon Process, used only by us. Oils containing "sulpho" compounds break down quickly under engine heat causing impairment of the lubricating film.

Cyclo's lubricating value is conclusively proved in our motor laboratory—a step far beyond the conventional tests of motor oil. This is the only laboratory of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

Here Cyclo was subjected to the most gruelling service—more severe than any motorist can give it. The Cyclo Recommendation Chart is based on these tests. It shows, with scientific accuracy, the correct grade of Cyclo for each internal combustion engine.

Cyclo is sold for 25c to 35c a quart, according to grade.

Cyclo-ize your motor today. Have your crank case thoroughly flushed—not with kerosene—and refilled with the correct grade of Cyclo.

ATHLETIC TYPE GIRL

STRONG PROTEST IS MADE

Female Offspring or Inferior Sons
Declared Due to Developmental Exercises.

LONDON, June 18.—(Special.)—A campaign in the interest of motherhood and against the ill-effects alleged to result from girls going in for athletics has been started here.

A resolution was adopted at a meeting of managers of girls' schools and of the London Physical Development, that the feet were the only part of a girl's body that should be made strong. A woman's body should be elastic and strong chests and big muscles meant inelastic chests and bodies. Dr. apparatus should be done away with.

Several letters favoring the movement were read. Sir James Crich-ton-Browne, author of books on mental and nervous diseases, wrote: "Physical exercise and training are as necessary to girls as to boys, but their cause as regards to physiological and developmental considerations. To ignore sexual differences is to court disaster in the long run."

CARNEGIE ESTATE LARGE

NEW YORK STATE APPRAISAL
IS $22,151,011 NET.

Steel King Gives Away $360,000.

and Creates Trust to Provide for Himself and Family.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The state

controller's office has appraised the estate of Andrew Carnegie at $22,151,011 net. The principal items are securities valued at $17,543,538.

Louise Whitfield Carnegie, the widow, was chief beneficiary, receiving a total of $11,328,847. The Carnegie corporation of New York was bequeathed $10,622,860.

The will, which was made public in August, 1919, stated that Mr. Carnegie made ample provisions in his lifetime for his daughter, Margaret Carnegie Miller, and provided that if she outlived her mother she would receive the principal of a trust fund of $4,643,750.

This trust fund, the appraisal revealed, was formed by the iron master with provisions that the income should be paid to himself for life, at his death to Mrs. Carnegie and when she died the principal should be given to her daughter absolutely. The trust was so arranged that the principal could not be taken either by Mrs. Carnegie or his wife while they lived, being described by the appraiser as "an anchor to windward."

The appraisal enumerated in detail the numerous gifts and benefactions stipulated in the will, which were made public almost two years ago. An affidavit by Eilihu Root Jr., one of the attorneys for the executor, the Home Trust company, which was filed with the appraisal, stated that Mr. Carnegie had given away $360,000,000 during the latter part of his life, and had the estate remained intact it would have been the largest yet administered.

The Carnegie mansion at Fifth avenue and Ninety-first street, valued by the estate at $2,525,200, and other city property, were not taxed by the appraiser, the reason given being that it was "conveyed to the decedent and his wife and tenants by entirety."

The pension fund referred to by Mrs. Root provided initially of $10,000 for William Howard Taft, President, Lloyd George and Viscount Morley. Among those chosen by Mr. Carnegie for 1000 annuities included Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Preston, widow of Grover Cleveland.

CHANGE OF VENUE ASKED

Executor of Estate Worth Millions Faces $2,000,000 Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—W. S. K. Brown, executor of the estate of the late James A. Murray, wealthy western capitalist, made a motion before Superior Judge Trout for a change of venue to Marin county, California, in the suit of James E. Murray to recover 4000 shares of stock in the Mondiah Trust company, a corporation. James E. Murray is a nephew of the late capitalist and the stock at issue is said to be worth about $2,000,000.

Suit was brought by Murray for the recovery of the stock on the ground that it was presented to him by his uncle in October, 1920, and that since that time the indorsement on the back of the certificate has been changed from "James E. Murray" back to "James A. Murray."

Brown asked the change of venue on the ground that he is a resident of Marin county, and the court set July 7 as the date for the hearing of arguments on the motion.

George Davis to Go to Bureau.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—George E. Davis of Vale, Or., who has been slated for early appointment as United States judge in Idaho, is expected to be assigned to the second division at Nome, while George M. Lomen of Nome is to receive one of the judgeships. The understanding is that on account of large business interests there, he is to be assigned to the third division at Valdez.
