Fred W. Robinson Criticises Men Who Hissed at Exhibition Given in Armory.

PORTLAND. Or., June 30.—(To the Sporting Editor.)—Dear sir: Permit me to say a few words regarding the boxing game here and its probable future. If it has any. I am forced to inflict this upon you after witnessing the card put on at the armory the other night.

In the first place I believe I am justified in saying that boxing fans of Portland are the poorest sportsmen that were ever permitted to "razz" a boxer. And yet they are continually howling about the quality of the cards put before them by the Portland and Milwaukie boxing commissions. I say they are not deserving of anything but the most mediocre exhibitions.

CLEVELAND, July 3 .- Gardner's

When Phil Neer, Oregon state tennis champion, won the national intercollegiate championship at the Mericol Cricket club in Philadelphia Saturday, he advanced another rung on his ladder of court achievements. In this tournament he played under the colors of Stanford university.

His defeat of J. B. Fenno Jr. of Harvard in the finals came as a climax to brilliant playing throughout the week when his work was the best he has shown on his present tour of the cast.

With Mericol Davis of State (Special.)—In a fast game on the local diamond the Crown-Williamette baseball team of Oregon City this afternoon defeated the Salem Senators by a score of 2 to I. Myers and Cole occupied the mound for the visitors, with Kracke tworking behind the plate. Bishop pitched for the locals, with Edwards receiving.

Salem made one run in the first insign, and the score remained unchanged until the first half of the inith, when the visitors sent two men over the plate. More than 1000 fans witnessed the game.

He has shown on his present tour of the cast.

With Jimmle Davies, also of Stanford university, as his partner, he left school early in May and since then has been playing all over the country. He and Davies came to Portland from San Francisco and played in exhibition with a team from the Multinomah club. Then they went to Eugens to the Pacific coast intercollegiate tournament.
