

DEFENSE BURNES' BARRIERS

Witness Fights Give-and-Take Battle for State.

STORY IS LITTLE SHAKEN

Admitted Accomplice Does Not Weaken on Essential Facts, Though Confused on Details.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Bill Burns, the state's chief strength in the baseball trial, today finished his story of how he and others conspired with eight Chicago White Sox players for them to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati.

Defence Gains Admission.

Mr. O'Brien obtained from Burns what may prove a damaging point to the state. Burns had testified on direct examination that he recalled seeing "Click" Gandall at the Warner hotel in Chicago while games were being played there.

Burnes Asked if He Lied.

Concerning his statement that he told the ball players in a hotel room in Cincinnati that he would throw the series to be thrown, O'Brien asked Burns if he had not lied then.

Thousands of Disappointed Fans

Hundreds of disappointed fans crowded the sidewalks in front of the building to watch the arrival of the former star ball players, who yesterday were accused by Burns of planning to lose the series in return for $100,000 to be paid by a gambling syndicate.
