Mr. Sefrit Calls Governor's Econ omies Guesswork Unfounded on State Reports.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 24 .- (Special.) -There has been no rush on the eptance as satisfactory of Governor Hart's answer to charges of wastage, extravagance and indiscretions in of lice preferred against himself and his administration on various occasions in recent months.

While the governor's appearance before the state bar association last week and his explanations had the effect of silencing those critics who had declared that he could not antwer the charges made and would not dare attempt it, the governor's address on that occasion has not stopped the general criticism of his official acts and those of his official family. One paper, which had been loud in condemnation, has accepted the governor's explanation. Concerted action er is awaited with interest. Press Is Offended.

In response to a request from The Oregonian for a statement as to the causes of complaint against Governor Hart and as to whether the governor's explanation to the bar associaon was deemed an answer to the riticisms made, Frank L. Sefrit, editor of the Bellingham Revellle and one of the leaders of the opposition among editors to the governor, sent
