Schools Enroll 125,000.

The united Y. M. C. A. schools had a total enrollment during the last year of approximately 125,000. The system serves as a "school of second chance in life," for it provides opportunities to many too old to enter colleges and universities. Many of these men undertake training in certain branches of business and make great successes in a short time.

of the school movement.

Business Men Hear Educator.

The educator was a speaker at guest of officials of the Portland tuncheon at 12:15 yesterday, at which Y. M. C. A. and business men on an 100 Portland business men gathered.

The gathering was one of the mest attractive of the summer season and was attended by many of the society and musical folk of Portland who are numbered among Mr. and Mrs. Insley's friends. Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal, Mrs. Charles F. Swigert, Mrs. W. B. Ayer and Mrs. James Laidlaw presided at the supper table. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. John C. Alnsworth, Mrs. Herbert Nichols and Mrs. Otis Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Insley and the honor guests received informally.

Miss Nancy Holt was hostess yes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hoffman and their children spent the week end at the Eyric, dinner yesterday for the visitors said will drive with them to Seaside for the week end.

A. schools of America, who arrived in Portland yesterday on a tour of the educational institutions of the Pacific coast. He expressed the view that the time had come when larger equipment will have to be installed to take care of the rapid gains in enrollment.

Mr. Hirsch of the Pacific coast the second greatest educational system of the United States, ranking next to the public schools, lauded the Oregon institute of technology, conducted by the Portland Young Men's Christian association. He characterized ft as "one of the eminent leaders in the gainonal Y. M. C. A. educational system." Tribute also was paid to H. W. Stone, general secretary of the Portland association, who was credited with being one of the organizers of the school movement.
