

PRIVATE OWNERSHIP IS HELD THREATENED

Northwest Lumbermen Are Warned of Clamor.

200 ATTEND GATHERING

Hoover's Plans for Voluntary Regulation of Business Are Discussed at Session.

TACOMA, Wash., July 29.—Northwest lumbermen were warned of the increasing clamor for government price-fixing, regulation and control of private business, which it was said is passing through the nation, and urged to support the secretary of Commerce Hoover in his plans for a voluntary regulation of industry as an offset against the clamor which threatens it.

Reports were made from various sections of the country on lumbering conditions and, while hope was expressed by various representatives of the industry of better markets, the speakers were guarded in expressions of belief in early or rapid recovery.

Two Hundred Lumbermen Attend. Preceding the session, at which about 200 lumbermen were present, including the trustees of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association and members of the west coast forest products bureau, giving the assembly almost the nature of a national convention, the trustees of the West Coast Lumbermen's association met for a discussion of revision of grading rules.

The trustees agreed upon revised rules for Douglas fir, western cedar and hemlock, spruce and Port Orford cedar, which will be mailed out to member manufacturers in the next two or three weeks. Grading rules applying to Port Orford cedar are established for the first time by the action of the trustees.

Criticism of the tendency for what is termed "the troublesome meddling in everybody's business" existing in governmental circles, was freely indulged in by John Henry Kirby of Houston, Texas, president of the national association, in his address before the afternoon session. He said the blessings of "constitutional liberties" are in danger and urged the importance of organized representation at Washington, D. C., to meet the issue.

Income Tax Official Speaks. Carl M. Stevens, chief of the timber section income tax unit, department of the treasury, Washington, D. C., explained in a detailed talk the efforts being made to get old tax obligations cleared up, and to dispel the uncertainty of lumbermen.

The policy of Secretary Hoover, directed at combating the philosophy of those who are seeking government control and eventual government ownership of industries, was explained in the address by Dr. Wilson Compton of Washington, D. C., secretary-manager of the national association.

The state department of labor and industry is functioning with a saving in administrative costs, and with the assistance of manufacturers in following up industrial insurance claims insurance costs will be reduced, said Major E. S. Gill, superintendent of the industrial insurance division, in a lengthy address.

Reports on general business conditions as affecting the lumber trade were given by Harry Kendall, Houston, Texas; G. B. Mattison, Malvern, Ark.; E. H. Polleys, Missoula, Mont.; F. G. Winger, Tulsa, Okla.; A. L. Osborn, Okoboko, Wis.; Mark Reed, Shelton, Wash.; Major Everett G. Griggs, Tacoma; S. B. Johns of Snoqualmie Falls; and E. A. Poyner of Everett, Wash.

MR. AITCHISON AT HEARING

Plea to Make Railroad Common Carrier Is Considered.

Clyde B. Aitchison, member of the interstate commerce commission, sat with Elgin V. Kuykendahl, director of the department of public works for the state of Washington, in presiding over a hearing in the federal court room yesterday to consider the application of the Empire Coal company of Lewis county, Washington, that the Eastern Railway & Lumber company's line be declared a common carrier.

This road, it was declared, offered the only feasible outlet for present products from the mine and if it were made amenable to the traffic regulations of other rail lines, it was said development of the coal properties most concerned would be begun upon a large scale. Further evidence was expected to be taken in the case today and a ruling by the commission will be made known at a later date.

STUDENTS IN PANTOMIME

"The Shepherd in the Distance" Presented by Art Class.

Students in art design who concluded their five weeks' session under the expert instruction of Herman Rosse, head of the school of design of the Chicago art institute, fittingly celebrated that occasion last night, when they treated their friends to a splendid presentation in costume of Roland Hudson's ludicrous pantomime, "The Shepherd in the Distance."

The rendition was greeted with delighted laughter and applause. The students made their costumes themselves.

TARIFF COMMITTEE AFTER FACTS ONLY

Senators Seem Fed Up With General Statements.

REED MAKES FIRST MOVE

Missourian Urges That Testimony of Witnesses Be Omitted When Figures Are Refused.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Preparatory to the consideration of rates and provisions of the new tariff bill, senate finance committee members appeared today to have adopted a new policy with respect to testimony in the hope it was declared, of getting "more facts and less generalities."

Several committee members indicated their intention to press witnesses for definite facts and figures upon which to base the new rates.

Senator Johnson, republican of California, announced he would introduce tomorrow an amendment to the bill which would increase the rates on almonds from 4 to 5 cents a pound and from 12 to 15 cents a pound on shelled products.

Hearings to Be Suspended. Plans of some of the members to reduce the hearings to statements of value to the committee became known after Chairman Penrose had announced that hearings would be suspended after Monday while the members determine whether American valuation provisions in the Fordney or house bill are to be stricken out or retained. All rates in the bill were computed on the basis of assessing duties on the domestic value of imported commodities, and Senator Penrose said it was useless to go further into consideration of details until the question of policy had been decided.

The first move to have the records show only "facts" was made by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri. He urged that testimony of A. G. Rosengarten, a Philadelphia chemical manufacturer, be omitted after the witness had declined to give the committee information concerning his firm's production costs, taxes, earnings, dividends, and other details which Mr. Reed deemed necessary to show whether tariff protection was required. No action was taken on the Missouriian's request.

Chemical Schedule Up. The committee considered the chemical schedule of the bill today, and further discussion on it is planned for tomorrow. The dye embargo, proposed by the house ways and means committee, but killed by the house, was brought in several times, but the three-day dye embargo had lost hope of having it restored to the bill, but it is known, however, that the readjustment in tariff consideration in committee later on.

Such an end as this is not achieved all at once. The elimination of Germany's destructive monopoly is a great step forward, but it is not everything. A huge task confronts the world in the emergency that has been won. The war has done much to change the international mind and the psychology of peoples, and has impressed the world, as never before, with the inevitable interdependence of peoples and countries and the necessity for recognizing and acting upon it if prosperity is to be restored, if the world is to progress at all, and if it is to be worth living in.

OREGON GUARDSMEN LEAD

NINTH CORPS AREA HONORS HELD FOR FISCAL YEAR.

All Organization Requirements Are Shown to Have Been Met According to Federal Tables.

SALEM, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—Oregon's National Guardsmen completed their fiscal year as the first state in the ninth corps area in relative strength and efficiency, according to the official tables of standing received from the federal government today by George A. White, adjutant-general of the state. Oregon finished nine points ahead of Washington, which is in second place among the western and northwestern states of the ninth corps area. Idaho, in third place, is 19 points behind Oregon and California is 46 points behind.

The government's compilation also showed that Oregon has not only met all organizational requirements for 1921, but has sufficient enrolled strength at this time to qualify for federal pay and disbursements for 1922 on the present strength of 2125, whereas a total strength of 1900 would have met the requirements of the national defense act.

In addition, Oregon's National Guard stands out conspicuously in the entire National Guard by being second place among all states and territories. Oregon leads New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, and Ohio, which were noted for effective organization during the war and is exceeded by Connecticut, which holds first place in the United States. Oregon has climbed from ninth to second place in the United States during the last year and has held first place in the ninth corps area for 10 consecutive months. Minnesota, which held second place last month, slipped into third place behind Oregon in June. Washington obtained fourth place in the national procession.

NEW AUTO TAGS ARRIVE

License Applied For Regulations Are to Be Tightened.

The new state-wide temporary automobile license tags were received by the license bureau of the police department and will be put into use as soon as the tags now being issued have run out. The old tags are red and the new ones are yellow, having the name of the county in which they are issued printed on them in addition to a temporary number and date of expiration.

This will mark an improvement in the state system of protecting itself against automobiles running without license. Portland has always been protected, but many counties throughout the state have not been and frequently machines have been seen in the city with a home-made placard for temporary license. The new state-wide system will enable an officer to trace the machine and the owner can be easily traced in case of accidents or theft.

PAY WARRANTS HELD UP

FOUR CLACKAMAS OFFICERS CLAIM TWO CHECKS.

Men in Health and in Traffic Jobs Restrained From Drawing Salaries.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 29.—(Special.)—Two orders were issued by the county court Thursday holding up the salary of the county health officer and the traffic officer.

These positions have been contested for a month. The court attempted to make a change in the personnel of both offices, and apparently had little success. Under order the county judge and commissioners, the county clerk is restrained from issuing warrants in payment for these two salaries.

Effective July 1, the court issued an order appointing Dr. W. E. Hempstead county health officer, Dr. O. A. Walsh was still in office and had not been removed. Since then both doctors have claimed the job. The court also appointed R. E. Wagy to the position of traffic officer. Deputy Long was never officially removed and Wagy was not deputized by the sheriff, although he obtained a state police commission. Both are evidently serving. The question arose, "Who gets the pay check at the end of the month?"

The salary of the health officer has been paid monthly, but the law requires that the health officer must be paid quarterly. The quarter ends in September. Dr. Welch said he would take no action to obtain his pay until after the expiration of the legal period.

If the court refuses to order warrants cashed in favor of Long and Welch, suit probably will be instituted to collect.

Pay day for county employees is August 1.

MARTHUR BILL HEARD

Representative Argues for Change of Inauguration Date.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., July 29.—(Special.)—The house committee on elections today listened to an argument by Representative McArthur, in support of his proposed constitutional amendment changing the date of the assembling of congress to the first Monday in January, following the November election, and changing the inauguration date to the second Monday in January.

Mr. McArthur's read numerous editorials and statements from other public men in support of his proposals.

The majority of the committee seemed favorably disposed toward his amendment, but objections were raised by other members and indications pointed to a lively battle before the committee takes favorable action.

Among the editorials which Mr. McArthur read in support of his amendment was one from the Marion Star, which said the proposed change would be a "lively battle before the committee takes favorable action."

Youth Held in The Dalles on Charge of Carrying Weapon.

Burman was taken to the city jail and the officers stated he was carrying a revolver found upon his person for protection on his recent trip to the Columbia river from Lewiston, Idaho, to Portland. He told the police that he had taken the canoe from a Portland boat-house on July 27, and that he had made the trip there himself on the train and then started back by canoe.

He had "shot" every rapid but that of the Celido, he said. He will be turned over to Marion county for trial on a charge of larceny.
