

DIVORCEE EXPECTED TO REVEAL MURDER

Mrs. Obenchain May Clear Up Kennedy Mystery.

SLAYING NEAR SOLUTION

Stock of Shotgun Found on Beach Part of Weapon That Links Burch With Killing.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—J. B. Fox, a deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, was recalled today by telegraph from Arizona, where he is investigating a case, and at the county jail began a long talk with Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, who, with Arthur C. Burch, was indicted yesterday charged with the murder here a week ago of J. Belton Kennedy.

Other deputies working on the Kennedy case stated that Fox had been recalled because Mrs. Obenchain had said she would talk freely if she could talk to him.

Hint Given of Revelation.

Earlier in the day she told interviewers that she could tell a story that would restore her freedom, but said it would not be fair to a person in whose innocence I believe.

Discharged Shells Same Gauge.

The shells found at the home of the slain man, who was killed by a charge of shot, were from a 12-gauge gun. It also was stated that experts would be called to compare the firing pin on the recovered portion of the gun with the indentations on the shells found where Kennedy was shot.

Shotgun Evidence Clearing.

The district attorney, while declining to discuss those features of the case, said he had learned enough additional facts to lead him to believe that the stock and firing mechanism of the take-down shotgun found near Santa Monica were portions of the gun that had been used in the Kennedy shooting. He declined to explain why he thought so.

Witness Identifies Burch.

The other and more definite bit of evidence was produced by a man who identified Burch as a visitor to the beach near Santa Monica the night of the shooting.

BRITISH EDITOR VISITOR

Tillamook is the first cheese made in America to be branded so the name appears on every slice of one-half pound or more. None genuine without "Tillamook" on the rind.

No guesswork now—every Tillamook Cheese is branded!

For the past twenty-five years, cheese has been made at Tillamook. About twelve years ago, the most progressive dairymen in this little valley banded together to make cheese that has since become famous up and down the Pacific Coast.

For years, people have recognized the quality of Tillamook cheese, but found it difficult to make sure they were getting the genuine.

Now, there's no guesswork. Every pound of this finest cheese is branded. Every slice bears the name—Tillamook. Look for Tillamook on the rind if you want to buy the best cheese it is possible to produce.
