nothing in his outward appearance which would indicate it in the least.

'It's a fine thing to know that my wife and boys are waiting for me wife and boys are waiting for me and have every confidence in me after all these things which have been published," he asserted, as a tanned but steady hand brushed away the faint trace of a tear from his eyes.

During the afternoon Dr. Brumfield penned a two-page letter to his wife, which jailors mailed for him after it had been read by Sheriff Starmer. Although the Douglas coun-ty official declined to make public its contents, he declared it said noth-ing about the murder of Russell, the ing about the murder of Russell, the flight into Canada, or anything else concerning Roseburg's famous murder case.

"He simply wrote to Mrs. Brum-field to be of good cheer and await his home-coming," said the sheriff. 'He avowed his devotion and love to his wife and boys. That was all." Telegram Also Is Sent.

Prior to writing the letter he sent a telegram to Mrs. Brumfield, requesting her not to come to Portland to meet him, as he would be back in Roseburg within a day or two. When he shook hands with District when he shook hands with District Attorney Neuner a few moments af-ter his arrival at the county jail at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Dr. Brumfield's first words were of his wife and family.

"Did Mrs. Brumfield come to Portland?" he asked. He then wanted to know if she had suffered any financial inconvenience during his absence.

All post-arrival predictions and promises that the dentist would help to clear up the Dennis Russell murder after he had talked with District Attorney Neuner failed to materialize. From Calgary the doctor had quoted as saying he would tell his story to Neuner. The "story" which he told in an inquiry room at the county Jail yes-terday was not what Neuner or Sher-irf Starmer had expected. In fact, hey indicated that they gave but little credence to the rambling state-ments of their prisoner.

Brumfield Tells Story.

His story, in brief, is this: "I can remember nothing from the Sunday before Russell was murdered until I woke up in my Pullman berth yesterday morning. I have a faint recollection of having been in Portland, Seattle and Vancouver on my way north, but there is nothing else. way north, but there is nothing else

Brumfield said the last thing he remembered was that on the Sunday be-fore the day of the murder-which ecurred on a Wednesday night-he was in the country near the Russell cabin. A nephew, he said, had spilled a box of sirgun shot on the ground and he had stooped down to help pick them up. From that time until he swoke on the train Tuesday mornhe said, his mind had been a
