

EPIDEMIC RAGES IN IDAHO

INFANTILE PARALYSIS KILLS 30 IN STATE.

More Than 100 Cases Reported to Authorities—Strenuous Campaign Is Planned.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Announcement that the death of C. J. McKee of Boise, August 19, was caused by anterior poliomyelitis; the report of a death at Craigmont from the same cause, and four other cases of the disease reported by physicians to the state department of public welfare show that an epidemic of infantile paralysis threatens Idaho. The state department is preparing in every possible way to combat it.

Following the death of Mr. McKee the diagnosis of whose case defied Boise physicians, autopsy specimens of the spinal cord tissue were sent to an eastern specialist for pathological examination. The report received here today was that poliomyelitis had caused death.

This is the only case reported in southern Idaho. The others are in the northern counties bordering on the state of Washington, which has experienced an epidemic of infantile paralysis in the last two months involving 100 cases and 30 deaths.

Dr. F. W. Almond, medical adviser of the department of public welfare, has sent to the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a supply of Dr. Rorup's serum, used for the arrest of infantile paralysis, which he will distribute to the physicians in northern Idaho. He may go north himself to administer the serum in some cases.

A request also was made by Dr. Almond of Surgeon-General Cummings for the assistance of a surgeon of the United States public health service. Word was received today that Surgeon Wayson has been ordered to Idaho from Oregon to confer with the state officials on the best method to adopt for the control of the epidemic.

When the reports of the first two cases of infantile paralysis were received from northern Idaho quarantine was contemplated against Washington and Oregon. This will not be attempted.

BIG APPEAL BOND ASKED

HIGH COURT REVIEW OF JITNEY CASE RESTRICTED.

Corporation Counsel Requests $300,000 for Protection of Street Car Company's Revenues.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 9.—Upon re-issuing application of H. P. McGlothorn and other Seattle jitney men for a writ of review from the supreme court of Washington, the supreme court of the United States, on final appeal from the state decision sustaining the city of Seattle in barring jitneys from the streets under a relative ordinance, Walter F. Meier of Seattle, corporation counsel, asked the supreme court today to require an appeal bond of at least $300,000. If the review is granted. From a check of traffic made September 8, he submitted this amount as representative of revenue the city street car system will be deprived of by jitney operation annually during the pendency here of the United States supreme court.

For the jitney operators, W. R. Crawford contended for an appeal bond of not to exceed $5000 as ample protection, holding that a $300,000 bond would deprive McGlothorn of his right of appeal.

The court took the case under consideration.

DRAINAGE AGREED UPON

Farmers Near Olympia, Wash., Get Together on Project.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The old Mill creek drainage territory 10 miles south of Olympia will be completed as the result of a meeting last night at Independence at which the farmers interested agreed to get together on a voluntary assessment proposition. This ends long differences which have prevented drainage reclamation of about 1000 acres extending from the Henry Kearney place on the Little Rock road almost to Plumb station.

Right of way for the ditch through 1500 feet of the Weyerhaeuser strip and a donation of $15 from the timber company toward putting the work through has also been obtained, which removed another obstacle to the improvement.

HORSE KILLS ITS OWNER

Fractional Animal Plants Hoof in Chehalis Man's Face.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—J. J. Miesen was killed here Thursday by a horse. Miesen, who was a well-known teamster and drayman, was breaking a team of young horses that he recently had bought. One horse reared while being harnessed and struck Miesen in the face and head with his hoof. An hour later the injured man died at the St. Helena hospital, where he was removed following the accident.

Mr. Miesen had been a resident of Chehalis for 20 years, being engaged most of the time in draying and the fuel business. A widow, two daughters, Mrs. Frances Forker and Thelma Miesen, and two sons, Lloyd and Huber, both of Tacoma, survive him.

16-YEAR-OLD WIFE SUES

Young Woman Alleges She Was Held Prisoner by Husband.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Martha Erb, aged 16, has instituted suit in the superior court of Thurston county for a divorce from Donnie Daniel Erb, asserting that her husband kept her prisoner in the house of his parents.

The couple were married in 1919. Martha claims she was confined to the house, locked in her room part of the time, and only allowed to go down town twice in three months' time and then with her husband on the side streets. She also asks that the court restore to her her maiden name of McDonald.

Uriah Brothers, Clarke County Pioneer, Dies of Injuries.

RIDGEFIELD, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Uriah Brothers, a pioneer of Clarke county living near the Oakdale school house, one mile northeast of La Center, was kicked to death by a horse Thursday evening. Mr. Brothers was gathering eggs from the manger at the time. He was found unconscious by his son, Ray. As-

ARMIS LIMITATION SEEN

SENATOR JONES, WASHINGTON, PREDICTS AN AGREEMENT.

Break With Colleague Is Denied and Solon Says Shipping Board Is Making Good.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Limitation of armament in some form as a result of the international conference to be held at Washington in November, and a reduction in the expenditures for war purposes, was predicted by Wesley L. Jones, United States senator, who was in Tacoma yesterday.

"I think the disarmament conference will accomplish something toward a reduction of expenses," said Senator Jones. "Perhaps I think so because I hope so, but I am sure the people of the world feel that something is necessary to stop the war waste. If the representatives of the foreign governments show an inclination to put obstacles in the path of such a reduction, I believe they will be forced to reverse themselves by the people of their own countries."

Senator Jones made a positive denial of the rumors that have been circulating regarding a reported break between himself and Senator Poin-dexter on the federal appointments in this state.

In his address before the members of the Tacoma Commercial club, Senator Jones urged the necessity for individual work toward getting back to normal instead of asking the government to help.

"The government can't do much without the help of the people," he said. "We must do the work ourselves."

Regarding the shipping situation, Senator Jones expressed himself as being favorably impressed with the attitude of the new shipping board and pointed out that the present slump in shipping is due to a worldwide economic condition.

ORE ZONE IS EXTENSIVE

FURTHER PROSPECTING AIDS TO ALASKAN DISCOVERY.

Camps Are Being Set Up and Claim Owners Are Taking In Outfits for Development.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Further prospecting in the Girwood district has revealed that the mineralized zone has a north-south area of 20-odd miles, and recent discoveries in the northern end of the district on Pengrum creek show assays of grab samples running $1470 a ton.

Camps are being set up and claim owners are taking in outfits to begin development. During the fall and winter considerable prospecting will be prosecuted on a series of large contact veins thrown up between rhyolite and slate with rich stringers intruding into the slate and leading to the ledges. Some of the ledges are several thousand feet in continuity and average about eight feet in width, cleaving the mountains in a north-westerly and southeasterly direction. While the stringers are very rich, panning small nuggets, the principal hope lies in the big ledges, which are showing medium-grade ore. In several cases the quartz contains galena and borate copper, the gold appearing free both in the borate and in the pure galena. Appreciable nuggets have been found imbedded in the nodular galena, affording fine specimens.

Joseph Clark Sought.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—A bonus check for Joseph Clark, an ex-service man, has recently been received at the local post-office. Clark formerly lived in Vancouver, but left the city some time ago without leaving an address. When the ex-soldier left here he was ill and in need of funds. Adjutant Harry Brace of the American Legion has requested that anyone with knowledge of Clark's whereabouts communicate with him at once.

Tag Sale Raises $1000.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—It was estimated at 6 o'clock this afternoon that $1000 worth of the tags bearing the words, "I Bet a Dollar on Hayden Island" had been sold during the first day's work of the 26 Vancouver girls who were chosen to sell the tags on the streets.

BONUS DENIED FATHER
Dependent Parent Cut Off by Decision of Supreme Court.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—A recent supreme court decision, depriving George D. Farwell of State of any claim to the state bonus due his son, Major George W. Farwell, who died in France.

The complaint alleged that the father was dependent on his son for support, but the fact that Major Farwell left a widow, who remarried before the state compensation law became effective, complicated the situation.

The court held that the marriage of the widow did not entitle the parent to the compensation.

Highway Work in Progress.
