FOUR WOMEN ARE ON MAHONEY JURY

All of Refined Type—Three Are Married.

SPECIAL VENIRE NECESSARY

Challenges May Throw Out Entire Tentative Panel.

LONG TRIAL IS FORECAST

Alleged Wife Murderer Makes No Effort to Continue Reputed Insanity Pretense.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Eleven jurors—seven men and four women—were tentatively selected today for the trial of James E. Mahoney on the charge of murdering his aged and wealthy wife, Mrs. Kate Moberg Mahoney.

This exhausted the available supply of jurors and Judge Ronald adjourned court until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to permit the summing-up of a special venire of 190.

Prevailing opinion is that the jury cannot possibly be completed until late tomorrow afternoon. The state has five preemptory challenges still and the defense ten, making it possible for the entire tentative jury to be thrown out without cause.

Long Trial Indicated. That the trial will be a long drawn out affair, was indicated by the questions of judge and lawyers, who made it a point to ask prospective jurors if they thought they could stand the strain of two weeks' constant confinement.

The jury as it now stands is considered by court attaches as being considerably higher in standard than the average. The four women members are all of a refined type. Three of them are married and one single—the latter is the youngest person in the box. Most of the men are high grade artisans.

The tentative jury was completed with the passing of Charles W. Angel, a confectioner of 5607 Kirkwood place, and L. O. Waterman, a salesman of 2419 Wallingford avenue.

MAN IS SHOT TWICE; WIFE REPORTED CAUSE

WILBUR JACKS IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION IN MEDFORD.

Medford, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Wilbur "Wig" Jacks, ex-marshall of Eagle Point, was taken to a Medford hospital in a critical condition with two bullet holes in his body, and Hollie Matthews, also of Eagle Point, was held in the county jail as the result of a shooting affray in Eagle Point this morning. Bad blood has existed between the two men for the past five years, according to Sheriff Terrill, over allegations Matthews was alleged to have paid Jacks' wife, Matthews was on horseback at the time of the shooting.

Conflicting stories were told by both sides. After the shooting Matthews returned to his home, where he awaited the coming of Sheriff Terrill and deputies, to whom he surrendered and handed over two revolvers, saying:

"There is no self-defense about it. He said he was going to shoot me, and I said, 'Go ahead and do it. I don't care.'"

Two empty cartridges were found in Matthews' gun and one empty one and a snapped one in the gun Matthews said was Jacks'.

While still conscious after the shooting, Jacks said to Sheriff Terrill:

"There is no self-defense about it. He said he was going to shoot me, and I said, 'Go ahead and do it. I don't care.'"

Jacks then collapsed without finishing his statement.

HANNA LEADS BURSUM IN SENATORIAL RACE

DEMOCRAT LEADS OREGON, 1632 TO 1986, IN ALBUQUERQUE.

Grant County, Lost in gubernatorial Election Last Year by Candidate, Carried This Year.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 20.—Returns received by the Albuquerque Morning Journal up to 9 o'clock tonight from the senatorial election held today indicate that the southern part of the state is showing unusual strength for Richard H. Hanna, democrat, and republican majorities are being cut down, while in the northern counties Senator Bursum, republican, is running strong.

Indications are that the result will be very close.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 20.—Practically complete returns from the city of Albuquerque in the senatorial election today give: Bursum, republican, 1632; Hanna, democrat, 1986.

Last year Hanna for governor carried the city by more than 1000.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Sept. 20.—Practically complete, but unofficial, returns indicate that Hanna, democrat, for United States senator, has carried this (Grant) county by 250. Last year, when he ran for governor, he lost the county by 221.

68-MILE STORM HITS NORTH PACIFIC COAST

FIRST BIG GALE OF SEASON ATTAINS HIGH VELOCITY.

Wind Warnings Continue to Hang on All Coast Stations of Oregon and Washington.

The first storm of the season struck the north Pacific coast yesterday with a wind velocity of 60 miles an hour at North Head and 68 miles an hour at Tatoosh. At 5 o'clock yesterday evening, according to reports received by the local office of the weather bureau, the gale was still blowing 26 miles an hour at North Head, but had blown itself out at Tatoosh, where the velocity had dropped to six miles an hour from the west. The stronger blows earlier in the day, both at the mouth of the Columbia river and the entrance to Puget sound, were straight from the south.

Whether or not the falling off of the blow farther north indicated the approach of the storm's end on the Oregon coast could not be stated last night by Forecaster Wells, for the entire northwest was still enveloped in an area of low barometric pressure, and it was thought that there might be a second gale stacking up behind the first one.

Storm warnings ordered early yesterday for all Oregon and Washington coast stations were ordered continued at 5 P. M.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 20.—A southeast gale swept the lower sound early this morning. The purse seine fishing vessel Athena was driven ashore in Port Townsend bay and left dry by the receding tide, but escaped damage. The Port Townsend city float was cast adrift, but later was recovered. Small boats generally scamped for cover.

ASORIA, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The rain which started last Saturday has developed into a southerly gale which today was sweeping along the north Pacific coast.

The barometer was fairly high, but has been dropping slightly since morning. Many believed this was the equinoctial storm which was considered due either today or tomorrow and that it would be followed by a period of pleasant weather.

NEW COLORADO ON PROSPERITY ROAD

"Silver State" Now Rich Agricultural Land.

OLD MINING GLORIES GONE

Livestock, Grain, Sugar, Corn Now Leading Products.

SOME HANDICAPS NOTICED

Recent Slump, However, Appears to Have Been Less Severely Felt Than Elsewhere.

BY RICHARD SPILLANE. (Copyright by the Publisher Co. Published by arrangement.)

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 20.—Denver means Colorado, otherwise the silver state is a misnomer. There is little silver mined here today. It doesn't pay despite the Pittman act. Mining men say silver can be mined profitably only as a by-product.

Today Colorado is an agricultural land. In this field it has made great progress, although less than one-third of its area is under cultivation. What ranks first, with a yield of about 28,000,000 bushels sugar beets second, alfalfa third and corn fourth. The potato crop is immense and sorghums bulk big. Of course every one knows of Colorado cantaloupes by reason of the Rocky Ford, but the fruits, particularly apples, peaches, pears and cherries, bring six times the money total of the cantaloupe crop. Truck farms abound. Perhaps the finest cabbages of the country are grown here.

The dairy business has grown amazingly. Last year it amounted to $25,000,000. The livestock from Colorado farms brings a yearly return up to three times that of the state's metal output.

Old Mine Glories Gone. Gone are the glories of Leadville, Cripple Creek, Silverton, Aspen and such places. Men talk of best sugar, improved livestock, tire factories, the tourist traffic, merchandising and the industrial enterprises.

SEASIDE HOTEL LOOT FOUND IN PORTLAND

STOLEN PROPERTY SAID TO BE WORTH $5000.

Officials to Drop Case on Pledge of Thief to Restore Value of Goods to Owners.

Silverware, table linen, bed linen and other articles were stolen recently from the Seaside hotel and recovered in Portland on a search warrant signed by officers and stockholders in the hotel company, it became known last night. The total value of the property recovered was said to aggregate more than $5000.

According to long-distance telephone reports from Seaside, no warrants have been issued for the arrest of any person or persons thought to be implicated in the theft of the property. Although hotel officials and officers of that county know the person who opened and shipped the trunk, no arrests have been made, and, according to authentic reports, there will be no arrests.

Those said by hotel officials to be implicated or to have complete knowledge of how the property was taken from the hotel have promised to make full restitution for everything, that is missing, it was reported.

The trunk was shipped from Seaside to Portland early last week. Later in the week officers of the hotel company came to Portland and procured a search warrant for the seizure of the trunk after they had received information that it contained considerable property stolen from the hotel.

According to Deputy Constable Miles, who seized the trunk, it was in the basement of the Plender building on Washington street. It was taken to the courthouse and opened. It was found to be full of property claimed by the Seaside hotel.

Further reports from Seaside regarding the theft of considerable other property from the hotel were denied by stockholders and officers by long-distance telephone last night. All of the property taken from the hotel has been recovered, and no criminal action is likely to be taken in view of the fact that full restitution has been promised, it was said.

FILM MEN LOSE CITY AUDITORIUM

Metro Officials Charged With Sharp Dealing.

"4 HORSEMEN" CASE ENDED

Carl Stern and Melvin Winstock Under Ban.

BUILDING OPEN TO MOVIE

Councilmen Say Responsible Person May Negotiate for Use of Municipal Structure.

Carl Stern, northwest branch manager of the Metro Film corporation, and Melvin G. Winstock, field representative of the same concern, were barred yesterday by unanimous action of the city council from using the public auditorium for showing "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Evidence showed that efforts had been made to sell this picture to the Jensen & Von Herberg interests after a contract had been signed for the use of the auditorium.

The councilmen made it plain, however, that they were not barring the picture from the auditorium, and that any responsible person could obtain dates for showing the film if satisfactory arrangements were agreed upon with H. M. White, manager of the auditorium.

Film Likely to Come Here. It was evident at the hearing that Portland probably will get an opportunity to see this picture, for not only did Dan J. Malarky, of the Jensen & Von Herberg concern, state emphatically that his clients were willing to enter into negotiations with the Metro company for the picture, but William T. Fangle, manager of the Heilig theater, for not only did he negotiate for the purchase or lease of the picture rights in Portland.

It developed at the hearing that last June the picture was booked in the Heilig theater for a two-weeks' straight run, and dates were set aside.

Later, Mr. Fangle said, the dates were canceled without any explanation whatever. Mr. Fangle then went to San Francisco and viewed the picture and interviewed representatives of the Metro corporation. He was advised to proceed to New York and see the picture, or at least to reserve at his theater had been canceled.

New York Trip Taken. "I went to New York and called upon W. E. Atkinson, general manager of the Metro corporation," said Mr. Fangle, "and he told me that the reason we were not getting the picture was because his representatives were dickering with the Jensen interests. He promised me that he would telegraph Mr. Stern in Seattle and determine what the situation was."

THEY OUGHT TO BE ABLE TO STOP THAT FELLOW.

JUDGE TO ENTER SCHOOL

Heppner Municipal Jurist Will Be Freshman at University.

HEPPNER, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Heppner is perhaps the only town in Oregon that will send an active jurist to the University of Oregon this year. Municipal Judge Hughes of Heppner leaves tomorrow morning for Eugene, where he will attend the university as a freshman.

Other Heppner students going to the university this year are Arthur Thomas, Elizabeth Phelps, Lea Humphreys, Elma Peterson and Roland Humphreys.

Students leaving this week for Oregon Agricultural college are: Helen Barrett, Violet Corrigan, Max Rogers, Edward Nelson and Jasper Crawford. Robert Nelson will enter his second year at Willamette university and Jared Aiken goes to Columbia university at Portland.

With R. A. Booth, chairman, recuperating in the mountains of southern Oregon, with W. B. Barratt sick in his hotel room, with John B. Yeon on deck but coughing violently, and with Attorney Devers sneezing, the state highway commission and its attaches needed the attention of physicians rather than that of contractors, bond buyers and county courts yesterday morning.
