RATHIE AND KIRBY REHEARING DENIED

Taylor Slayers Must Pay Penalty for Crime on Gallows.

CHANGE OF VENUE ISSUE

Defendants Will Be Removed to Pendleton for Resentencing by Judge Phelps.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—John L. Rathie and Elvie D. Kirby, convicted in the Umatilla county circuit court on charges of first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of Sheriff Til Taylor in July, 1920, will be hanged for the part they played in the crime unless the death sentence imposed by Judge Phelps is commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Olcott.

This was made plain here today when the Oregon supreme court denied the petition of the accused men for a rehearing. It will now be necessary to remove Rathie and Kirby to Umatilla county, where they will be resentenced and a new date of execution fixed by the court.

Following their conviction in the lower court, Rathie and Kirby were sentenced to hang. They afterward were brought to the penitentiary, but before the execution date arrived they perfected an appeal to the supreme court. This appeal later was denied by the court and the sentence of Judge Phelps was allowed to stand.

Original Verdict Stands.

"We have carefully considered the petition of the defendants for a rehearing and are unable therefrom to gain any substantial reason for deviating from the views expressed in the original opinion," said Justice McBride, who wrote the opinion handed down today.

"It is true that by inadvertence it was stated that Edward J. Clark, an attorney of Pendleton, was a nonresident of the county, but in view of what we consider the weight of affidavit testimony introduced in the motion for a change of venue, we do not look upon that fact as controlling. The motion was heard before a judge who had resided in the county for many years, and who, by his long residence and necessary acquaintance over the county, was well qualified to pass upon the condition of the public mind and to appraise the value of the testimony introduced relating to this matter.

"The other matters urged in the petition for rehearing were carefully considered before the original petition was handed down, and, as before remarked, we see no reason to change our views. We fully appreciate the serious consequences of our decision, but these consequences are such as the defendants have invoked by their conduct and which we cannot avert without doing violence to established principles of law.

Trial Held Fair One.

"The defendants, in our opinion, had a fair trial, and anyone who reads the record will see that they were ably defended. So, viewing the case, we are constrained to deny the petition for rehearing, and it is so ordered."

During the past few weeks considerable influence has been directed at the executive offices with a view to having the death sentence imposed upon Rathie commuted to life imprisonment. Petitions have been circulated among the various war mothers' organizations of the state, and these are now on file in the executive offices. Hope for commutation of Rathie's sentence was based on his war record.

When asked if there was any basis for speculation that he might commute the sentences of Rathie and Kirby to life imprisonment, Governor Olcott said: "I think there is none."

Neil Hart, who fired the shot that killed Sheriff Taylor, was hanged in the penitentiary here more than a year ago. Prior to his execution he made a statement to local ministers in which he assumed all blame for the sheriff's death.

In a second opinion Justice McBride upheld the lower court, which dismissed a petition for rehearing on grounds of "coram nobis," a legal term for a certain kind of error. It was held that this no longer obtains in Oregon law.

Mrs. Eckert reported that she weighed the vegetables and found them to weigh as follows: One white turnip 8 pounds, three ruta bagas 17 pounds, three beets 3 pounds, 11 potatoes 8½ pounds, four carrots 2½ pounds, three parsnips 1 pound. In addition she said there were a number of white radishes as large around as a silver dollar and about eight inches long.

ENGINEER ASKED TO QUIT

MEDFORD IRRIGATION TANGLE STRAIGHTENED OUT.

Land Owners Approve Recommendation That R. W. Rhea Hand in Resignation.

MEDFORD, Or., Sept. 20. — (Special.) — An important step towards ironing out the internal dissension in Medford irrigation district affairs was the approval of the mass meeting of the landowners of the district last night of the report of the special investigation named to investigate the irrigation tangle.

This report recommended that the chief engineer of the district, R. W. Rhea, the chief bone of contention in the board of directors, resign and that at the earliest possible date an engineer be obtained to succeed him. The special committee also recommended the appointment of R. H. Thompson, ex-city engineer of Seattle, to have complete charge of the contractors' work.

Further new developments are the resignation from the board of directors of Leonard Carpenter, who stood with Engineer Rhea in opposing Patrick Welch, the contractor, and the appointment of John A. Westerlund, to replace him as director.

Assurance has been given by Welch that the system will be completed and water in use by the summer of 1923.

State Engineer Percy Cupper has been asked to recommend at once an able engineer to succeed R. W. Rhea and to be in absolute control of the building of the big irrigation system. Engineer Thompson will be in charge only of the contractor's work and Mr. Welch pledged to the special committee that whatever Thompson said should be done would go with him.

WOMAN CO-ED, SON JUNIOR

Husband and Father Is Professor in Willamette University.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, Salem, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Father a professor, son a college junior, mother a sophomore. Such was the unique situation created here today when Mrs. Florian von Eschen registered for work in liberal arts with a sophomore rating. Her son, Exton von Eschen, is a member of the class of 1923.

Many years ago Mrs. von Eschen took freshman work in the university, but since that time other activities have claimed her attention. Two years ago she was principal of the Lincoln junior high school in Salem. Desire to possess a collegiate education led Mrs. von Eschen to forsake the call of teaching and once again assume the guise of the student.

Asked if she would study chemistry, the department of which Mr. von Eschen is head, Mrs. von Eschen emphatically shook her head, saying that she believed she was already versed in that branch of study.

SIX ASK FOR DIVORCES

WOMAN SAYS HUSBAND TRIED TO SEND HER TO ASYLUM.

Man Also Accused of Threatening Wife and Relatives if Action Was Begun Against Him.

Blanche Luehrs accused her husband, James A. Luehrs, of an unsuccessful attempt to railroad her to the insane asylum, and of numerous threats to succeed in such an undertaking, in a divorce suit filed in the circuit court yesterday. He swore to a complaint and compelled her to submit to an examination into her sanity, she alleged, but Dr. S. E. Josephi pronounced her sane.

The threat was made by her husband that if she sued him for divorce that "neither she nor any of her relatives would be in the land of the living in one year," it was asserted. The Luehrs were married the first time in 1915 under the name of Porter. Mrs. Luehrs discovered the name was an assumed one and demanded a remarriage, it was said, in 1919.

Carroll J. Bennett on one occasion flew into a rage and broke his children's toys, declared Lena B. Bennett in a divorce action. He found fault with her methods of raising their child and criticised her cooking, she further complained.

Frantiska Nemec asserted in a divorce suit that her husband, Miloslav Nemec, struck her with a picture which was a Christmas gift to their child, breaking the glass and frame. This act was accompanied by "a torrent of oaths," she declared.

Nellie Milner complained that Carl F. Milner kicked her, tramped on her and made fun of her, in a divorce action begun yesterday.

Other divorce suits filed were those of Anna Catherina Hammond against Byron Eugene Hammond and Minnie against Emil DeTore.
