

JELLY APPLES NEW ARRIVALS ON MART

Fruit Is Highly Prized by Portland Housewives.

GRAPES 10 TO 20 CENTS

Great Variety of Luscious Edibles Make Appearance—Tomatoes Are Scarce.

Apple jelly and prune conserve probably will be the chief concern next week of housewives, who are intent upon filling every corner of the jelly cupboard. Waxen apples, which have long been famed for jelly making, are now in the market at $2 a box for the best fruit.

The last Oregon prunes for canning and conserve, will be in the market next week. They are growing scarce and sell now at 10 cents a pound.

Concord grapes, the best kind for jelly, are still in the market, selling at $2 for a 20-pound crate. Other grapes are plentiful and of good quality. There are tokays, manzanas, muscats and lady fingers, all at prices ranging from 10 to 20 cents a pound.

New arrivals for next week will be Florida grapefruit, the first in Portland for three months. The price will be high. It is expected about 25 cents each. The first carload of grapefruit this season from the Isle of Pines is also scheduled for early in the week.

Other delinquents to be in during the next few days are alligator pears and okra.

Crabapples scarce. Crabapples are very scarce just now and sell for 10 cents a pound. Nearly everyone who desired crabapples for jelly has already been supplied, however, and the good sales during the past few weeks.

Pomegranates at two for 25 cents, Hartlett pears at 40 cents a dozen, green walnuts at 20 cents a pound, and ripe figs at 25 cents a dozen are selling well.

Brussels sprouts at 25 cents a pound, Hubbard squash at 4 cents a pound and horseradish root for pickling purposes at 50 cents a pound are among the arrivals of the past week.

Tomatoes are scarce and of best quality just now. The minimum price is 6 cents a pound. Sweet potatoes at four pounds for a quarter are cheaper than last week.

Other reasonable delicacies are artichokes at three for 50 cents, egg plant at 15 cents a pound, and hearts of hearts at 25 cents for large bunches.

Pickling cucumbers sell for $1.25 a box and silver prunes at 10 cents a pound. Late arrivals of canned goods in Portland are glasses of preserved figs, put up in California, in 20, 40 and 75-cent glasses.

EGGS FOUR CENTS HIGHER Increase in Price Is Attributed to Seasonal Scarcity.

Eggs are four cents higher than they were last week. At the time, the lowest price yesterday being 40 cents a dozen. This minimum price on the market is in contrast to that of 44 cents a dozen last Saturday.

The scarcity of eggs at this season accounts for the increase in price. The wholesale price of butter has advanced, but butter on the market yesterday was two cents a pound higher than last week, with 47 cents a pound as the lowest price.

Poultry prices are stationary. Hens over four pounds sell for 36 cents a pound and those under that weight for 25 cents a pound. Chickens are 32 cents. Hares not skinned are 25 cents a pound and dressed 30 cents.

MORE SETTLERS WANTED SUGGESTION ON HOW TO CUT TAX MADE TO REALTORS.

L. R. Wheeler Declares Need for Advertising Oregon Is Great With Big Future.

The bringing of settlers to Oregon in large numbers so as to increase the value of property and create additional wealth was the subject of a speech made by L. R. Wheeler at the luncheon of the Healthy Board at the Multnomah hotel yesterday noon.

The speaker declared that there was a great need for advertising Oregon not only for the bringing of tourists here but also to bring settlers to the state.

"We have the country here, but we haven't the citizens," he declared. "The great trouble is we have not advertised our possibilities for development and our natural wealth."

Mr. Wheeler predicted that the next few years would determine whether Oregon is to be a big factor in the development of the Pacific area or is to play a minor role.

Walter M. Pierce, senator from La Grande, emphasized the need of some schedule of taxation whereby real estate would be relieved of some of the burden. He suggested a state income tax as a means of doing this. He said that 12 years ago it took one car of cattle for him to pay his tax on his Union county property. Now he declares it takes six cars.

W. B. Shively discussed legal questions. Alfred A. Aya was chairman.

TIGARD ELECTION TODAY $24,000 Bond Issue for School Building to Be Decided.

An election to vote on a $24,000 bond issue for the erection of a new school building at Tigard, Or., will be held by the Tigard school district today. The polls will be open from 2 to 7 P. M. It was just three years ago that the Tigard school building burned down and since that time the district has been using portable school houses.

Tentative plans have been prepared for an eight-room building to be erected if the bond issue carries.

MRS. FREDERICK SHEPHERD OF WASHINGTON, VISITING IN PORTLAND

SEVERAL teas, for which cards are being issued, will make next week especially bright from the social standpoint. Mrs. William C. Alvord has sent out cards for a large tea for next Tuesday.

Mrs. H. F. Kendall and her daughter, Miss Adeline Kendall, will be hostesses next Wednesday, when they will entertain for Mrs. Blatchford, wife of General Blatchford, U. S. A., and Mrs. Delaplaine, wife of Major Delaplaine, U. S. A., of Vancouver barracks.

With the arrival of a number of officers and their wives at Vancouver barracks, social life at the post is assuming much of the brightness that characterized the barracks several years ago. The 59th infantry band is giving concerts on Tuesday and Thursdays on the parade grounds. Last Thursday several hundred guests from Portland motored over the inland terrace bridge and attended the concert. On Wednesday at the officers' clubhouses the officers and their wives received in compliment to the officers of the 59th.

In the receiving party were General and Mrs. Blatchford, Colonel and Mrs. Baker, Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Bradberry, Major and Mrs. Delaplaine, Major and Mrs. Currier, Major and Mrs. Rose, Major and Mrs. Bryne.

Last night the non-commissioned officers at Vancouver barracks entertained with a dancing party for the non-commissioned officers of the 59th. Several guests from Portland were included.

Tonight Service club, No. 1, will give a party at the post gymnasium to welcome the men of the 59th infantry.

Miss Ruth Johns has come from Salem for a short visit in Portland and is dividing her time between the homes of Mrs. Frank Harmon and Miss Jocelyn Foulkes. Miss Johns will accompany her father, C. A. Johns, and her brother, Charles Jr., to the Philippines and many informal luncheons and teas are being given as farewell parties for her. The family will sail from San Francisco on October 12.

Today is the date set for the marriage of Miss Lucia Harriman and Harold Alvord Merriam. The ceremony will be solemnized in St. Luke's Episcopal church in New York City. The Professional Women's league, of which Miss Harriman was a charter member, sent her a night letter, congratulating her.

Reading of Books Urged

PASTOR SAYS AVERAGE MAN IS WASTEFUL OF TIME. "Professional Provincialism" Is Price Paid by Business Men for Success.

The average man wastes every day a certain amount of time which he could devote to reading good books and becoming acquainted with the best in literature, said Dr. Harold Leonard Bowman, pastor of First Presbyterian church, in an address to the City club yesterday noon on "The Busy Man and His Reading."

"The average business man is not well read because he doesn't read about subjects outside of his own line of work," said Dr. Bowman. "He tries to keep up with all the news in his trade papers and magazines. The price a business man pays for success is professional provincialism."

"Busy men often confine their reading to newspapers and weekly and monthly magazines. It is a good thing for a man to read the newspapers to keep in touch with the news of the world, but the newspaper gives him no permanent value in mental training, for it strives to keep him informed principally on events of the day."

Dr. Bowman declared that little benefit is derived by readers of some periodicals of wide circulation. He expressed the firm belief that the progress of a city depends on the personality of its citizens rather than the wealth of their pocketbooks. "No man can look at the snow-capped peaks of worth-while literature without experiencing all-around development," he declared. Dr. Bowman read a list of 30 books which he said every man should read. This list was as follows: The Bible, Plato—Republic, Dialogues, Aristotle—Ethics, Homer—Iliad, Dante—Divine Comedy, Goethe—Faust, Cervantes—Don Quixote, Victor Hugo—Misérables, Ibsen—Dramas, Shakespeare, Milton—Paradise Lost and Samson Agonistes, Browning—Poems, Tennyson—Poems, Shelley—Poems, Roswell—Life of Samuel Johnson, Bunyan—Pilgrim's Progress, Lamb—Essays of Elia, Carlyle—Sartor Resartus; Heroes and Heroines, Ruskin—Seven Lamps of Architecture, Eliot—Adam Bede; Romola, Scott—Talisman; Rob Roy, Dickens—Tale of Two Cities; David Copperfield, Franklin—Autobiography, Hawthorne—Scarlet Letter, Emerson—Essays, Holmes—Autocrat of the Breakfast Table, James—Psychology, Wells—Outline of History, Emerson—Modern Democracy, Strachey—Queen Victoria.

Entertainment plans include a trip to Eagle Creek tomorrow, where a dinner is to be served. He will speak at a dinner at the Portland hotel tonight. Auto trips are to be taken over the city.

Mr. Drayer will address the engineers and their wives at 8 o'clock Monday evening in library hall. The chapter has invited all professional engineers of Oregon and their wives to attend.

The Oregon chapter, of which O. Laurgaard is president, now has a total membership of 1250 members. Portland is headquarters for one of the strongest chapters of the association.

PAY CUT RUMORS PERSIST

DENIALS BY TAX CONSERVATION COMMISSION HELD NONE. Members Insist That Conference Have Covered Methods of Making Up 1922 Budget.

Persistent rumors that chunks will be lopped from salaries about the courthouse in 1922 will not down, in the face of denial of officials of the tax supervising and conservation commission that such an economy measure has been ordered, or even suggested, and the resolution of the county commissioners to the effect that department heads need not trim the pay of extra-compensation deputies if certificates showing that the salaries now received are necessary are made.

Tax supervision commission officials insist that their only conferences with the county clerk, auditor, assessor, sheriff and other county officials have covered methods of making up the 1922 budget and not means of cutting down the budgets. Some
