

IRISH CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER RIOTS

Both Sides Admit Breaches of Truce.

DISCUSSION IS FRIENDLY

Settlement Declared Likely to Follow Lines Suggested by General Smuts.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—When the Irish conference resumes its sessions tomorrow morning it probably will deal with the question of alleged breaches of the truce, which have been the subject of conversation today between members of the British and Irish delegations.

It is agreed among the delegates that breaches have arisen on both sides. Dublin castle having produced a list of such occurrences, which was compared with a list published by the Irish Bulletin of breaches by auxiliaries, the police and the military.

In the recent killings at Galway and shootings resultant from an Irish republican dance, it was conceded that both Sinn Feiners and crown officers violated the truce by carrying arms.

Extension Is Opposed. The Irish representatives expressed disfavor of any extension of the original terms of the truce signed at the conference in Dublin.

Today's conversations, in which Eamonn J. Duggan, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Michael Collins, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, General Macready and Robert C. Barton participated, were quite friendly and harmonious, as were yesterday's discussions in conference.

The appointment today of Lionel Curtis as one of the chief secretaries on the government side, having a position similar to that of John Charles on the Irish side, was taken to indicate that the government approach toward a settlement will follow the lines indicated by General Smuts.

Mr. Curtis, who is considered a great authority on the imperial federation, took a prominent part in the framing of the South African constitution. He has spent much time in Ireland, his wife being an Irish woman.

Veterans at Conference. His joint secretary, Thomas Jones, has had experience in Ireland as professor of economics in Queens university at Belfast. These two, with Erskine Childers and Mr. Chartres, both of whom served the British with distinction during the war, will be present at all sessions of the conference.

CORK, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lord Mayor O'Mahony, speaking today at a meeting of the Cork harbor board, moved the following resolution: "We insist that Mr. Lloyd George's protestations of a sincere desire for peace between Ireland and Great Britain cannot be accepted while his government retains in power in the permanent camps thousands of untried Irishmen."

F. B. O'Brien, seconding the resolution, said that the Irish army had called upon the British cabinet to release these men for the sake of peace.

storing peace with the central powers. The senator's influence and advice was said to have largely been responsible for the selection by President Harding of Andrew W. Mellon of Pittsburgh, as secretary of the treasury.

It was immediately after the final refusal of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles that Senator Knox began his fight for the ending of the technical state of war by resolution.

Senator Knox's last important address in the senate was in support of his position that congress had the power and upon it devolved the duty to end the status of war by resolution.

PLACES HELD IN CABINETS Active Part Taken in Fight Against Treaty Ratification.

Phillander C. Knox was attorney-general in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Taft and in the interim between those two offices and afterward was United States senator.

Senator Knox was an active figure in the fight in the senate in 1919 and 1920 against the ratification of the peace treaty. Even when the treaty was being drawn up he delivered speeches in the senate and out of it in which he demanded that the league of nations covenant should be separated from the other part of the treaty. He introduced a resolution to that effect which was adopted by the senate and also presented a resolution against the appointment of American representatives on the reparations commission. He also drafted one of the various resolutions submitted to the senate for adopting the treaty with reservations.

Subsequently, Senator Knox was the author of a resolution adopted by the senate in May, 1920, declaring peace with Germany. This also was voted by President Wilson.

SENATE TO RATIFY GERMAN PACT SOON

Leaders of Both Parties Expect Vote in Few Days.

SAFE MARGIN IS CLAIMED

Senator Walsh Declares Treaty Will Not Stop Controversy Between Two Countries.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—Ratification of the German peace treaty within the next few days was forecast tonight by leaders of both sides after a canvass of the senate had been completed. A vote on the treaty had been expected by Friday or Saturday at the latest, but in view of the death of Senator Knox, some delay is expected in the action of the senate.

A safe margin above the necessary two-thirds majority for ratification was clearly shown by the treaty's passage. Fourteen democratic votes, it was said, would be cast for ratification with a loss to the republican side of only three or four against ratification.

Treaty Gets Right-of-Way. Senator Lodge, republican leader, discussed the handling of the treaty with Senator Underwood, democratic floor leader, and later announced the treaty would be given exclusive right-of-way beginning not later than Friday, when the unanimous consent agreement, made some time ago, limiting each senator's time to one hour, will become effective.

Comparatively few senators, it was said, plan to make addresses and it was highly probable, leaders declared, that a final vote could be had on ratification and ratification late Friday or almost certainly on Saturday. The treaty was expected to pass by a wide margin.

Walsh Opposes Pact. Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, spoke at length tonight against ratification of the treaty. He declared that it reserved privileges without assuming legal obligations, but that it was a step toward peace.

Woodrow Wilson Society Against Ratification by Senate. NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The Woodrow Wilson democracy, organized to promote internal peace and favoring entry of the United States into the league of nations, announced tonight through its president, Hamilton Holt, that its executive committee on October 7 has declared its opposition to ratification by the senate of a separate treaty of peace with Germany.

Mr. Holt was directed to forward a copy of this declaration to every senator.

Mr. Webb told of finding three sticks of dynamite in the creek when he lifted out the body of Russell. The dynamite was on the table of the court reporter as evidence.

Court Doesn't Like Explosives. "I don't like to have explosives around very much," said Judge Bingham. The dynamite sticks were given to Sheriff Starmer with instructions that they be stored somewhere outside the courthouse. The action was another example of the careful supervision of the coroner by Judge Bingham, who has made it known on several occasions that he will take every precaution to prevent some unforeseen mishaps to the proceedings.

Ed and J. T. Russell, brothers of the murder victim, took the stand for a short time. Their testimony was primarily for the purpose of establishing the identification of the body of the deceased as that of Dennis Russell.

Dr. E. B. Stewart and Dr. George Houck, who performed the autopsy on Russell's body, were questioned about the condition of the corpse. They told of removing a bullet from the chest cavity of the body and said that the two bullet wounds in it had been inflicted after death.

Another slight victory for the defense was recorded in the testimony of A. J. Willard, Roseburg barber, who did all the barber work for Dennis Russell. Willard was unable to give proof that he could positively tell the difference between the hair of a human and an animal by means of a small sample.

The other witnesses called today repeated testimony they had given twice before, and which has been published. Through small individual bits of testimony, the prosecution got its case well along in workable form preparatory to the more important programme of the next group of witnesses.

Another record-breaking crowd filled the courtroom today. The great majority of the 400 spectators were women, some of whom found seats on the courtroom floor in order to be present.

Laughter Canes Threat. Several times today a wave of laughter swept over the audience, after some remark by a witness that would not be laughable under any other circumstances. The amusement was not intended.

The Wisdom of Buying Weyenberg Shoe Quality

THE rare comfort, good looks and long wear of Weyenberg Shoes for Service is a big aid to contentment, life's greatest blessing. That's it exactly—Comfort, Good Appearance, Wear. What more can be desired? The Weyenberg standard embodies these factors always. No one was ever disappointed in Weyenberg Shoes for Service. They're made of real leather on principles never to this day surpassed.

Dealers are delighted with the liberal sales proposition on Weyenberg Shoes for Service. The surprise of the trial today was the unexpected show of strength by attorneys of the defense. There were many predictions that their case was not hopeless, as it has appeared so far.

The state will probably conclude its case Friday noon, according to Attorney Hammerley. A number of important witnesses are expected to occupy the center of attention tomorrow.

Think of it! A complete outfit consisting of ARCOLA and four American Radiators—which will heat the whole house with healthful hot-water warmth—costs no more to install than a stove for each room.

ARCOLA will add three times its cost to the value of your house

REMEMBER this about ARCOLA—it really costs you nothing. If you stay in your present house three years, ARCOLA will pay for itself in the coal it will save. Your Heating Contractor knows this; let him tell you the experiences of some of the thousands of ARCOLA owners.

If you plan to sell next Spring, ARCOLA will add much more than its cost to the selling-value of the house—just as IDEAL Boilers and larger AMERICAN Radiator systems add far more than their cost to the value of larger buildings.

And think of the comfort this winter of having every room warmed with ARCOLA's healthful beat—the same kind which one of our larger heating plants gives the White House itself.

Think of the joy of being free from dirty, stuffy stoves and hot-air furnaces forever. And the satisfaction of having plenty of hot water for washing and bathing besides!

ARCOLA is unlike any heating outfit you ever saw—a wonderful new invention—as handsome as a fine phonograph and costing hardly any more. Don't try to imagine what it is like; go to your Heating Contractor and let him show you today.

The red and yellow card at the left is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (formerly called Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a very great deal.
