

BRUMFIELD PASSES PRELIMINARY CRISIS

Temperature and Pulse of Convicted Man Steady.

SHERIFF HAS NEW THEORY

Blade Believed Used in Attempt at Suicide Thought Washed Away in Lavatory.

BY DON SKENE.

ROSBURG, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Dr. Richard M. Brumfield, convicted assassin of Governor Russell, was slightly worse today, although the preliminary crisis resulting from the two slashes in his neck made in his attempt to commit suicide, was successfully passed, according to Dr. Charles H. Wade, county health and medical officer.

Temperature and Pulse are Steady.

"His temperature and pulse are steady. The infection was most noticeable today in the cut on the left side. Dr. Brumfield seemed drowsy and somewhat listless. I gave him only enough opiate to enable him to avoid this restlessness."

Prisoner Still Weak.

The prisoner is recovering rapidly from loss of blood. He is still quite weak, but seemed in good spirits this afternoon. He chatted with his jailers and nurses and chuckled at some of the jokes of "chiefs" Ballew, his jail companion who stands watch day and night at Brumfield's bedside.

Spot of Blood Found.

"As soon as he awoke he covered the wounds by wrapping his blankets tightly around his head. He walked back to his bed. This accounts for the fact that there was no blood on the floor or on the cot. He was bleeding from the upper portion of the blankets."
