

COUNCIL RESTORES 30-MINUTE PARKING

Left-Hand Turns Also Allowed in Congested District.

LAW WILL BE AMENDED

Business Men Win Case in Regard to Washington, Alder and Morrison Streets.

Restoration of 30-minute parking on Morrison, Alder and Washington streets, and elimination of the no-left hand turn restriction in the congested area were announced by the city council yesterday after 100 business men had filed protests against the regulations. The restrictions have been in effect since September 15. Mayor Baker instructed Traffic Captain Lewis to issue orders at once carrying out the wishes of the council. A formal amendment of the ordinance will be made today, it was announced. Mayor Baker told the business men that the council was not acting arbitrarily to injure business, but was endeavoring to promulgate such regulations in traffic as would prove beneficial to the greatest number.

Mayor Makes Speech.
"We are here to follow out the wishes of the people of the city, and if the regulations that we have worked out are not satisfactory, I am willing to discard them. In other words, I favor giving you what you want, although I am not willing to agree that what you want will prove the panacea that some of you visualize."

Other members of the council agreed that they were willing to make the changes in the traffic laws that were requested by the business men.

The meeting, which was in the form of a conference between the councilmen and the large group of business men who have held meetings in the last week to discuss the new traffic regulations, opened with the filing of petitions signed by several hundred citizens who favored restoration of 30-minute parking on Washington, Alder and Morrison streets and the elimination of the no-left hand turn in the inner congested district.

Shoppers Ban Disturbed.
William F. Woodward opened the discussion by tracing the distressing journey of a prospective shopper who was endeavoring to reach a certain point in the shopping district. He maintained that the elimination of left hand turns as well as the no-parking provisions on Morrison, Alder and Washington streets were driving the shoppers from the west side retail district to a large extent.

George W. Joseph followed with a protest against the elimination of the left hand turns, saying that it increased the mileage of every automobile owner who brought a car into the congested area, and actually caused more congestion than would result if left hand turns were permitted.

Policemen Declared Lacking.
Police Captain Lewis told the council that it would be impossible for his force to make an adequate and immediate check on the new traffic regulations unless he was given additional men. He said that it took one officer for every four blocks on such streets as Morrison, Alder and Washington, and that with his present force he can assign but one man to each of these streets to cover a distance of about ten blocks.

Attorney Joseph assured the council that the committee of business men who were represented in the protest would work out a number of suggestions to relieve traffic if immediate relief as petitioned was granted. He stated that he favored one-way traffic as the proper solution.

Two-Hour Parking Target.
However, several business men who attended the meeting stated after the meeting had adjourned that the next step would be an effort to eliminate the two-hour parking restrictions, which, if successful, would put traffic regulations in effect as they were prior to the enactment of the present ordinance.

Odds and Ends

BY LILLIAN TINGLE.
FOLLOWING are some more uses for sour milk and buttermilk contributed by readers of this column, whom I thank for their kindness. The first was by an old lady who has made it for years with great success.

Buttermilk Pie.—1 cup buttermilk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, yolks of 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon extract. Line a pie plate with pastry, build up the edge as for a custard pie. Cream the butter and beat the eggs until light. Beat part of the sugar into the butter and part into the eggs, and then beat the two together. Mix the flour with enough of the buttermilk to make a smooth paste, then pour into the first mixture, add the rest of the buttermilk and mix all together thoroughly.

Sour Cream Pie.—Take 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup brown sugar, yolks of 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon extract, cloves, cinnamon and allspice; 1 tablespoon flour, 2 teaspoons vinegar, whites of the eggs for frosting.

Sour Cream Pie.—1 cup of sour cream, 1/2 cup of seeded raisins (chopped fine), 1/2 teaspoon of cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon of cloves, a pinch of nutmeg, 1 cup sugar, yolks of 2 eggs, white of 1 egg. Bake like a plum custard, using the whites of 2 eggs for top. Bake in an unbaked shell in a slow oven until custard is set, then beat the whites of 2 eggs until stiff, add 2 tablespoons of sugar and spread on top after pie is baked and brown in oven.

HOSPITALS RATE HIGHER

OREGON SERVICE INCREASES 33 PER CENT IN YEAR.

St. Vincent's and Emanuel Are on List Approved by American College of Surgeons.

Hospital service to the people of Oregon has improved 33 per cent in the last year, according to the third annual rating of the American College of Surgeons, received by telegraph from Philadelphia.

Two Oregon hospitals, St. Vincent's and Emanuel, both of Portland, are included on the list approved by the college of surgeons as meeting their specifications. The ratings, which were made on the basis of inspection several months ago, were too early to take into consideration changes which are in progress to bring other Oregon hospitals up to the standards of the College of Surgeons. The Good Samaritan hospital has been making changes to meet the specifications of the college, probably several months ago, were too early to take into consideration changes which are in progress to bring other Oregon hospitals up to the standards of the College of Surgeons. PRINEVILLE, Or., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—In response to a call for help, 16 Crook county high school girls came to their aid and spent last Saturday at the Guy Lafollette place picking up potatoes. Mr. Lafollette sent a request to the high school for boys and as many of the boys were in Bend at a football game between the two high schools, the girls promptly took their place. Undoubtedly this wearing of their various grades of potato pickers on record, all the classes being represented, even to six dignified seniors. The young ladies were accompanied by Miss Phila Hall, domestic science and art teacher, and if the weather permits they will all be on the job again next Saturday.

Problems of Dressmaking
by Madam Richet

Madame Richet's answers are appearing in The Oregonian daily and Sunday. Address letters to her in care of The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, Oct. 25.—Dear Madam Richet: I am interested in your columns and am coming to you for advice. I would like to make this midnight blue velvet suit (the sketch is enclosed) into a dress. Kindly suggest a style in an afternoon dress, slim and slender built. What materials and shades would be suitable for a cape or wrap? Thank you very much.
MRS. A. F. M.

If your coat has the same straight line on you as shown in the sketch you can have your one-piece dress with little changing as far as the general outline is concerned. Lift your sleeve to a three-quarter length keeping the wide cuff; remove the lace collar and have round but rather high in back meeting the front vest of your material. If your coat collar does not show wear and is of the proper width, add with wooden buttons. Slash your "coat skirt" at long waist line and spread an opening down the skirt front, under which place a row of paprika colored satin buttons. Four or five inches wide. Trim your point edges with the wooden buttons, using dark blue soutache braid as a facing over the satin band. The buttons "seemingly" holding the lacing in place. The sleeve cuff of paprika satin, with a row of blue soutache and a double row of buttons and laced to carry out the trimming on skirt would be very attractive. Have an inch and a half girdle of blue braid ending with a tailored knot or bow at top of skirt panel. Should your skirt be too short make longer by piecing down at long waist line with pieces taken off for panel front and trim in an allover design of soutache braid finishing over top of panel with two braid buttons; also in regard to your buttons would suggest that in the event that you do not care for the light color, they can be dipped and dyed blue or paprika. Wear a little trimmed, but smart hat of paprika shade or black velvet with the above planned frock.

There are so many beautiful materials from which to choose, but for a cape or coat which would be for afternoon or evening see such fabrics as nearella, duret de laine, evora, paurelaine and duvetryn, are best. Notice—Your question was answered in The Oregonian of Friday the 22d, and through a typographical error a phrase read "skirt over the satin dress," which should have been "drop." Hope this has not too confused you to go on with your dress. Prefixed—Suggestions for the making over of your gown appeared Friday the 21d and a misprint read "Use georgette for rest, it should have read, "Use georgette for vest." Will readers interested in this department, kindly watch the daily Ore-
