

WIFE OF SANTAELLA SECRETLY DIVORCED

Pianist at Portland Theater Fails to Defend Suit.

BABY GOES TO MOTHER

Judge Stapleton Awards Alimony of $50 Weekly and Restores Plaintiff's Maiden Name.

Mrs. Lillie Santella has received a decree of divorce from Salvatore Santella, pianist and orchestra leader at a local moving picture theater, with which goes the custody of her four-month-old baby, Dorothy Genevieve, alimony of $50 a week and her maiden name of Lillie Hansen.

Filing of an amended complaint, answer, and a special hearing before Presiding Circuit Judge Stapleton, which was not listed on the court calendar, and which was held late in the afternoon, occurred October 24. Findings and decree were awarded the same day.

The Santellas were married in Detroit, Michigan, in 1919. The original divorce complaint was filed here September 13, 1921. In it, Mrs. Santella charged that her husband struck her, threatened to send her to an insane asylum and keep her baby, had acted indecently, refused to give her more than $10 a week for household expenses, and had cursed the government of the United States. Though penniless, she received $1000 a month salary, gave private lessons at $10 each, and played at social affairs for money.

Diolatory Charge Denied. In the amended complaint, filed the same day as the decree was rushed through, Mrs. Santella deletes the charge of diolatory to the government and reduces the alleged salary of her husband from $1000 to $600 a month, but repeats other charges. Santella's answer was a general denial and asked dismissal of the suit. In both complaints, the wife demanded $25 a month permanent alimony for herself and $100 a month for the support of their child during her minority.

Though he had filed his answer, Santella did not appear in court to contest the action and it went by default. The alimony of $50 a week included support money for the daughter.

That her husband was a confirmed flirt was the sole charge in the divorce action of Anna E. Harwick, filed in the circuit court yesterday against William H. Harwick, to whom she was married February 2, 1921. He "constantly seeks opportunities to make appointments with other women," "flirts with any other woman who will take the slightest notice of him" and "frequently attempts to flirt with personal friends of the plaintiff, to her great embarrassment and humiliation," she says.

Harwick keeps the photograph of a "certain married woman" on his dresser continually and refuses to remove it, complains his wife, His last flirtatious conduct complained of, she said, had occurred with waitresses of a Portland restaurant where he was dining with his wife on October 28, 1921.

The second marriage of Effie and Harry McDowell did not "take" any better than the first, a divorce suit being filed by the wife yesterday. They were wed the first time at Vancouver, Wash., March 17, 1915. The wife received a divorce July 21, 1920, on a cross-complaint to a suit begun by her husband. Donald, their 3-year-old son, was split between the June, 1920, by McDowell and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. McDowell, and was not found by the mother until August, 1921, at Bend, Or., though she had been awarded custody by the court, it is charged.

Remarriage Held Futile. The couple were remarried January 22, 1921, on the promise of the husband to mend his ways and stay away from his folks, declared Mrs. McDowell. After marriage he got away, she had wed her only to prevent her from getting permanent custody of the child, struck her, told her she was a "bummy without a lick of sense," gave her a black eye for upsetting a quart of moonshine, and otherwise misbehaved, it is charged.

Further, Mrs. McDowell asserts she has been informed that her husband was compelled to marry a 16-year-old girl in eastern Oregon prior to the remarriage.

WATER SUIT IS AVERTED

MALHEUR LAKE BIRD RESERVE BASIS OF LITIGATION.

Federal Design to Conserve All Streams Used by Ranchers Finally Abandoned.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 3.—(Special).—Threatened litigation with relation to the celebrated Malheur lake bird reserve has been temporarily averted through the efforts of Senator McNary and Representative Gilmore, according to a telegram received at the offices of the state engineer here today.

The federal government, it was said, was planning to bring suit against all water users on the Snyles and Hiltner rivers, tributaries of Malheur lake, with a view of insuring an adequate flow into Malheur lake at all times, so that the present condition of the lake would be maintained.

The matter was called to the attention of the Washington officials by Percy Cupper, state engineer, who said that litigation of this character would interfere seriously with the development of Harney county, and particularly with the construction of the work proposed by the Harney valley irrigation district, which involves approximately $6,000 acres. It also was held that the litigation, if prosecuted, would interfere with the development of the district, organized recently on the Donner and Hiltner rivers. This development contemplates the reclamation of approximately 40,000 acres of land.

Mr. Cupper said today that it was his opinion that the state and federal government would be able to reach an agreement without resorting to litigation.

HIBERNIAN FAIR OPENS

Popular Feature Country Store and Prizes Are Awarded.

A fair and carnival under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians opened last night at Hibernia hall, 340 Russell street, with an address of welcome by John R. Murphy, president of the order. About 500 persons were in attendance.

The purpose of the fair is to raise funds to liquidate the debt on Hibernia hall. The most popular feature seemed to be the country store, where groceries and merchandise were sold and prizes awarded to the holders of winning tickets.

The first prize winner was Mrs. John Tennant, 298 Eugene street, who won a 50-pound sack of flour. The main prize of the fair will be a Gasco range, valued at $100, which will be given away Saturday night.

The hall is decorated with white, yellow and green flags, and the American flag dominates the scheme of decorations. The fair will be open from 8 to 12 tonight and Saturday.

Auto Wreck Hurts Stockman.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Nov. 3.—(Special).—Clarence Woods, a young farmhand employed by C. W. Wherry, a stockman and farmer residing near Doty in eastern Klickitat county, was severely injured yesterday, when his car he was driving skidded off the grade on the road across the head of Pine Creek canyon on the Central Washington highway between Bickleton and Cleveland, while Woods was attempting to pass a truck. The auto turned over several times and finally landed against a wire fence at the bottom of the canyon. Woods had his collar bone broken and sustained internal injuries. A companion who was riding with him escaped without injury.
