

SUPPLY OF APPLES ON MARKET LARGE

Now Is Declared Right Time for Housewife to Buy.

TURKEY RUSH EXPECTED

Only Few Thanksgiving Birds Are Displayed at Present, but Celery Is Seen in Quantity.

Portland markets offer a generous supply of apples grown in the world-famed orchards of the Pacific northwest. The best eating varieties at present are Winter Banana, Kinga, Delicious, Spitzenbergs and Jonathans.

Now is an opportune time for the housewife to buy apples, for the quality and price are right. Winter Banana apples are selling at 40 cents a dozen, Jonathans at 20 to 25 cents a dozen, and Delicious at 25 cents. Little cooking apples are sold at 5 cents a pound.

In the vegetable line, potatoes and onions head the list of favorites at this time. Potatoes of the Irish variety are selling at eight pounds for 25 cents. Sweet potatoes are displayed in general quantities at 15 cents a pound for 25 cents. Onions of No. 1 grade are selling at three pounds for 25 cents and No. 2 grade at five pounds for a quarter. Little green onions at 5 cents a bunch look attractive.

Turkey Rush Anticipated. Market dealers anticipate a rush for turkeys when this fowl so popular at Thanksgiving time starts to make an appearance in abundance.

Celery and cranberries, always associated with turkey, are in the annual autumn feast, are seen in quantity. Bunches of crisp celery at 10 cents are plentiful. Prices on celery range from two bunches for 15 cents to 15 cents a bunch, according to quality.

There are enough cranberries to assure plenty of cranberry sauce and jelly for turkey dinner trimmings. The general price is 20 cents a pound. The quality of Florida grapefruit is improving with each shipment. The California variety sells 10 cents a case or three for 25 cents, while the Florida fruit is sold at 15 cents.

Oregon Grapes Grow Scarce. Oregon grapes of the Tokay and Concord varieties have passed the height of the season and are becoming scarce. The best buy in grapes seems to be in the three-pound baskets of Concord at two baskets for 15 cents.

Deep-dish huckleberry pies are now in order, for a good supply of fresh-picked huckleberries is at hand at a price of 15 cents a pound. Pears of the winter Bartlett variety and tiny sweet grades sell at 25 cents and 15 cents a dozen, respectively. Lemons and bananas maintain the usual price of 25 cents a dozen.

Corn on the cob may still be found at 25 cents a dozen ears or 10 cents a dozen, according to quality. An abundance of cauliflower is at hand at prices ranging from two heads for 5 cents to 15 cents a head. Radishes hold the price of 5 cents a bunch.

In the fish markets are baby salmon at 10 cents a pound, fresh fish from Seattle, 15 cents; silver smelt, 15 cents; perch, 20 cents; halibut, 15 cents, and tenderloin of black cod, 20 cents.

MRS. For the first course you might have either a soup or a cocktail, whichever you prefer. If soup, avoid cream soups. Use a fine vegetable and meat clear soup (well colored and flavored) or a tomato bouillon. If you serve a cocktail, you might have one of shrimp or clams, crabs, oysters or even of fruit, as preferred.

There should be a smooth, rich, well-flavored sauce. It may be a tomato sauce, and apple sauce or baked apple sauce. Good trussing and carving are important.

For salad the traditional orange and lettuce salad would be correct following duck, unless you served a fruit cocktail, in which case a green salad with perhaps a Thousand Island dressing would be the only thing.

For dessert the simplest plan would be to have vanilla ice cream or a good Bavarian cream served in tall glasses with whipped cream and some kind of garnish such as strawberry or cherry preserves or sabayon sauce. Serve also either a simple light cake such as angel, sunshine or sponge cake or small fancy cakes as preferred. Then coffee, rolls, celery, olives, bonbons can be left to your own discretion.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Oct. 18.—Dear Miss Tingle: Will you kindly publish a notice in your paper regarding the "Noodle Ring" which was held in Hoquiam, Wash., on Oct. 15, 1921. I published this in the hope that you may see it and send a detailed description of what you have in mind. "Noodle ring" might mean almost anything surrounded by noodles, and I have a number of recipes for "noodle puddings" which again might mean almost anything made with lady fingers or sponge cake and whipped cream or gelatine whip. I can never send recipes.

Reclamation Delegates Named. OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 4.—Governor Hart today named 13 delegates to the National Reclamation Association meeting at Salt Lake City, November 25 and 30. They were: D. A. Scott, Olympia; N. W. Durham, Spokane; Fred Adams, Spokane; Arthur D. Jones, Spokane; Marvin Chase, Olympia; Peter M. McGregor, Hooper; Ralph B. Williamson, Yakima; R. K. Tiffany, Yakima; B. F. Reed, Ellensburg; O. L. Walker, Pullman; E. F. Blaine, Seattle; Judge Ralph Kaufman, Ellensburg; and F. W. Shultz, Wenatchee.

SOCIETY NEWS

All who attend the Junior League fete this afternoon at the Multnomah hotel should go armed with a shopping bag or market basket and start the campaign of early Christmas-gift shopping. Society maid and matrons of the league have worked diligently for months preparing for this big benefit event.

One of the most alluring departments will be the industrial arts booth, over which Mrs. Lawrence Wheeler will preside. She will be assisted by Miss Louise Linthicum, Miss Margaret Biddle, Miss Elizabeth Halley, Miss Marjorie Hall, Miss Cora Cook, Miss Susanna Platt, Mrs. Ferdinand Smith and Miss Nadine Caswell.

Festive spirit will reign supreme among this "art colony," most of whom are students. Among the bargains will be some embroidered linings, luncheon sets, Christmas cards and arts and crafts articles of clever design. The girls will wear artistic costumes and will be glad to sell the articles in the collection.

Miss Isabella Gauld and Mrs. Ertle P. Whitney will have the tea shop, whereas one may get the best of cakes and teas. Mrs. Reade M. Ireland and her co-workers will sell jams and jellies, homemade and absolutely delicious. For those who live in apartments or who have not been able to put up the winter's supply of jellies, this booth will be a great feature.

Dolls, children's garments, cooked foods and fancy and useful articles will be on sale and the general atmosphere of good cheer will prevail. Miss Katherine Laidlaw will present a solo dance at 4 o'clock.

Prior to the fete there will be several luncheons given by friends of the league members. One of the largest of these will be for 25 guests.

This evening the Tilloum club will give its first dance of the season. Several large dinner parties will precede the ball.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brun will be hosts at a dinner of 22 covers at the Multnomah hotel. Mr. and Mrs. N. U. Carpenter will entertain for a dinner for 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Allen have as their guests Mrs. Harry Boetskes and Miss Grace Spannagel of Seattle, who are spending the week end here and are en route to Los Angeles. They will be guests at the Tilloum dance.

The North Dakota society will give a party on Thursday evening, November 17, at the Royal B'irth ball. Thirtieth and Market streets. All former residents of North Dakota are urged to be present. Five hundred will be played; dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morris of Portland have been enjoying an interesting visit in the city. They were entertained in Marietta, O., as the guest of Mr. Morris' cousins, George W. Morris and Doris Dunmore. Mr. Morris is prominently identified with the Southern Pacific company. Mr. Morris spent the winter in his visit in Ohio, went to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York, in which cities they will spend some time.

Miss Winifred Byrd, pianist, will represent the state at the Western States' Reclamation association meeting at Salt Lake City, November 25 and 30. They were: D. A. Scott, Olympia; N. W. Durham, Spokane; Fred Adams, Spokane; Arthur D. Jones, Spokane; Marvin Chase, Olympia; Peter M. McGregor, Hooper; Ralph B. Williamson, Yakima; R. K. Tiffany, Yakima; B. F. Reed, Ellensburg; O. L. PROBLEMS OF DRESSMAKING by Madam Richet Madame Richet's answers are appearing in The Oregonian daily and Sunday. Address letters to her in care of The Oregonian.

HARRISBURG, Or., Oct. 21.—Dear Madam Richet: Please advise me how to have an afternoon dress made that will be becoming and stylish. I am of medium height, quite light complexioned, have dark brown hair, blue eyes, weight about 140 pounds and my bust is 35.

For my second dress I have 10 yards of heavy black satin. What can I use for the remainder? Canton crepe? What would you use for trimming? I am going to have it made up so that I can wear it either in the afternoon or evening. Any information will be greatly appreciated. AN ANXIOUS READER.

AN ANXIOUS READER. Harrisburg, Or.—For an afternoon gown meeting the two elements you desire I to have I would suggest a material such as silk duvetyne or kitten's ear satin, and for one of your complexion a shade such as, Harding blue or pheasant. The long-bloused type of waist still holds favor and is kind to all figures, generally speaking. Join your skirt waist lining of lawn or net, permitting your top to blouse in freedom. A duvetyne embroidered in copper nail heads, these to be in the event that you choose a pheasant, and black with steel should you use a blue. Also be generous in the work which you give to the sleeve, both in width and trimming. The skirt may be trimmed in either the border or panel line, using the nail heads.

ROAD SOON TO BE OPENED. Concrete Highway to Be Ready for Traffic by November 10.

EUGENE, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The new concrete pavement on the highway between Goshen and Creswell will be opened for travel on Thursday, November 10, thus eliminating a 12-mile detour that has been in use nearly all summer and fall.

Barring the 12 miles between Alton and Corvallis the opening of this section of pavement will provide almost a continuous line of pavement from Portland through Eugene to Drain and beyond about 120 miles. There is a short stretch at Cottage Grove, the Camas swale stretch and one or two in the lower valley yet to complete.

to match those on waist. Wear a soft grade of dress material ending in loop and long ends, finished with bordered ends if skirt is so treated and with tassels if the panel effect be employed.

For your second dress why not combine with a figured seersucker which has some black in the design? Such a combination would be better for evening wear. A touch of jet in band trimming would be very attractive.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 30.—Dear Madam Richet: Your column is certainly proving a help to me and again I am coming for help. Please tell me if the enclosed sample is too old for a 16-year-old girl. I have a pattern and can make the dress, but want your help about the selection. If this is too old what will be right? Thanking you, I am, MRS. H. NASH.

Mrs. H. Nash.—The enclosed does seem rather old, in fact a taupe is rarely worn "well," even by grown-ups. It takes a decided amount of inward dash to carry taupe on dark days without and "blue" days within. You do not mention whether the dress is to be worn for school or less studious occasions; however, I feel safe in suggesting a blue, bottle green or mahogany. Drape materials having the above-named shades over your shoulders and so select the most becoming.

WIFE SLAYER SENTENCED HENDERSON GETS 10 YEARS IN PRISON, $1000 FINE.

As Convicted Man Stands Up in Court, 10-Year-Old Son Clings Tightly to Father's Hand.

Joseph J. Henderson, convicted slayer of his ex-wife, Gertrude, was sentenced to ten years in the state penitentiary and fined $1000 by Circuit Judge Tucker yesterday. Though indicted for murder in the first degree, jury found Henderson guilty only of manslaughter.

As Henderson stood up in court while the judge was passing sentence, his 10-year-old son, Thayne, clung tightly to his hand. It was his testimony of the lad, who had been awarded to the father by the divorce court, that aided Henderson upon his trial. The youngster declared that a few minutes before the tragedy he had seen his mother grab a knife and his father take it from her hand.

Jaundiced, thin and weak, Henderson showed little more interest in the sentence than he had in the proceedings in court. His woe left eye, veiled by the lid during most of the trial, was focused on the face of Judge Tucker but betrayed no emotion.

The slaying of Gertrude Henderson was of an atrocious nature, the woman being stabbed four times in the back by her ex-husband, who wielded a butcher knife. Henderson fled following the murder and was surrounded in a chicken house behind his mother's home. As the officers closed in on him, he slashed a wrist with a razor and fired a revolver bullet through his right leg in an attempt at suicide. The killing occurred on August 8, Henderson pleaded insanity in defense.

Prosecution of Henderson was handled by Deputy District Attorney Mowry and Crumpacker, the defense by Barnett Goldstein.

BRUMFIELD IN GOOD TRIM Murderer's Toothache Gone and He Eats Hearty Breakfast.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Dr. Richard Melvin Brumfield, under death sentence for the murder of Donna Russell, tonight reported as being in the best physical condition of any time since he entered the penitentiary.

The nervous toothache which he suffered yesterday stopped today and he partook of a hearty breakfast. Mrs. Brumfield called at the prison this afternoon and was allowed to converse with her husband for half an hour. They both appeared cheerful.

The official said Mrs. Brumfield returned to Willamina tonight. Two former friends of Dr. Brumfield from Roseburg called at the prison today, but were not allowed to talk with the prisoner.

night editor of the Barometer, head of the art department of the Orange Owl, college joke magazine, and has gained some national distinction in cartooning, having had some of his work in Judge. Mr. Colwell was recently elected Alpha Kappa Psi, national honorary commerce fraternity. He is also on the Barometer staff as assistant night editor.

Highway Rocking to Start. TOLEDO, Or., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The construction outfit of a dozen teams of Contractor Young arrived in Toledo today, and will proceed at once with the completion of a half mile of rocking necessary to complete the Toledo-Newport section of the Corvallis-Newport highway, the other eight and one-half miles of this road already having been rocked by Truck. The Young outfit had previously been working on the highway above Eddyville. At the present time there remain but a few short stretches of grading to complete the road between Newport and the Benton county line. Work is continuing on a number of these throughout the winter and it is expected that by July 1, 1922, the entire road will be rocked.
