

WOMAN IDENTIFIES ROBBER ON STREET

Outlaw Is Jailed; Confession Written.

THREE CHARGES PLACED

Four Victims Lay Holdups to Ernest Jaene; Escapes Are Made on Bicycle.

Mrs. B. Fish was so cool and collected Thursday morning when she stood at the point of a revolver in her home at Forty-fifth avenue and One Hundred and Thirtieth street, Southeast, and surrendered $100 to the diminutive burglar who has been raiding homes in the Mt. Scott district that she recognized him across the street yesterday morning at Third and Morrison streets.

The man saw her at the same time and turned up Third street, walking swiftly to get away, but she rushed out to where Traffic Officer Larsen was standing and gave the alarm. The burglar ran as soon as he saw the officer in pursuit, but the chase lasted only for a block and he was brought to police headquarters and positively identified by Mrs. Fish. He refused to talk, except to deny his connection with the crime, until he was confronted with the victims of three other holdups. Then he confessed to them all and signed a written confession for the district attorney late last night.

Three Charges Placed.

He was then charged with robbery, assault with a dangerous weapon and attempted assault on a woman. A letter found in his pocket revealed his name as Ernest Jaene, a German. He was booked as 24 years of age and an acetylene welder by trade. In view of this the police consider him an important catch, as acetylene has to a large extent taken the place of explosives and safe jimmies in safe robberies, although there is no evidence that Jaene has actually robbed any safes.

Immediately following the capture Detectives Hyde and Collins set to work to connect him with the other Mount Scott holdups. Four victims appeared at police headquarters to look at Jaene. The detective went first to the address on the letter, 4716 Eighth-second street Southeast, where Mrs. Jennie Drahm lives. She acknowledged that Jaene had raided there three years ago.

Escape Made on Bicycle.

In a garage beside the house was the bicycle on which Jaene has been seen riding away from the house on several occasions.

Mrs. Drahm said the wheel had formerly belonged to her daughter, Jaene had taken it from the garage, put on a new front tire and used it to make his getaway from the place of his holdup.

In Jaene's room Detective Hyde found a revolver, a cap and a flashlight. These were shown to four of the holdup victims and were identified as being worn or used by the man who held them up.

Mrs. F. Schunkel, 45 years old, 4127 Seventeenth street, Southeast, who was held up Thursday morning and robbed of $50, told the detectives that the robber had attempted to assault her but ran when she heard people talking outside the house. She identified the cap, light and revolver, and yesterday afternoon signed a complaint charging Jaene with attempted assault and threatening with a dangerous weapon.

Gun Is Identified. Other robberies of which the detective think Jaene is guilty are that of Mrs. William Riley, 5104 Forty-first avenue Southeast, and Mrs. Nettie Kerr, 1938 East Eighth-third street.

The description given the police follows, closely the appearance of Jaene in every case, and the identification of the gun is positive because of the long barrel and worn spots on it. The gun was a .32 caliber on a .41 frame, a dangerous and powerful weapon and a type much favored by professional gunmen.

Detective Collins said there was little doubt that Mrs. Fish had made possible the capture of a dangerous criminal.

Portland Street Names

Salmon. CUTTIES that are known beyond their own borders are generally known for some distinguishing feature: Detroit for automobiles; Akron for tires; Kalamazoo for celery and gloves; and so on. Portland is associated in the minds of easterners with the Columbia river, and the Columbia is one and one with salmon, or at least it was before the highway took the spotlight from the fish. Consequently, outsiders and not a few Portlanders think Salmon street is named for one of the big products of the region, but they are wrong. It is not named for a fish but for a berry.

The street was originally a small draw, holding a tiny creek that flowed down to the Willamette. On both sides of the draw and the path that followed it, the big sage and windings salmon berries grew in profusion. The city was surveyed in 1846 by Robert V. Short and the street was marked on the original plat made in 1847. Mr. Short related the story of how the street got its name to George H. Himes, present curator of the Oregon Historical society.

So instead of being named for the salmon of the Columbia the street was named for the salmon berries which grew there before it became a street.
