What a thrill the Stanford followers must have received when the Cards scored first on California Saturday. Probably it gave as much gratification as victory. The Bears finally triumphed, 42 to 7. The score might have been a whole lot worse.

Oregon, O. A. C., Stanford and California have completed their Pacific coast conference schedule. Washington and Washington State will play their final conference game in Seattle Thanksgiving day. Their clash may be Oregon and the Aggies over again. Washington has had a sorry season, but what they might do against their bitter enemies, Washington State, is a matter of conjecture. Certainly Welch has by far the better team and figures to win by plenty.

Penn State to Be Played.

Oregon and Washington have post-season contests. California is almost a certainty to play a post-season game, either at home, in Pasadena or San Diego. It is a known fact that Andy Smith is none too anxious to play at Pasadena New Year's day and would much rather tackle one of the big eastern elevens at an earlier date at Berkeley.

Washington will play Penn State in Seattle December 3, while Oregon journeys to Hawaii for a game Christmas day. It is likely Washington State, Oregon Agricultural college and Stanford will have had enough football at the completion of the conference schedule. At any rate the coast may see at least three east versus west struggles on this slope before the moleskins are packed in moth balls.

Harvard's 10-to-3 victory over Yale Saturday was contrary to expectations, although at several critical times this season Harvard has bucked up and played above form.

An instance of this was in its game with Penn State. Bezdek's crew was well along with their 21 points before Harvard began its rally that netted 21 points and tied the game.

However, after Harvard's loss to Princeton and Yale's victory over the Tigers, the Bulldog adherents could see nothing but a victory over the Crimson. Harvard's victory was another last-minute affair, all of its scoring being registered in the fourth quarter, when the game apparently was lost.

* * *

Despite the loss, Yale remains one of the best teams of the east this year. The windup of the season on the Atlantic slope finds Penn State, Cornell, Lafayette and Washington and Jefferson the only undefeated elevens. Penn State had the toughest schedule. The Navy and Yale lost one game each.

* * *

Lafayette closed with a brilliant 28-to-6 victory over the formidable Lehigh machine. Lehigh gave all of its opponents a hard battle this season, winning four and losing four.

* * *

Iowa romped through a clean-cut season in the Big Ten and capped the climax with a 14-to-0 victory over Northwestern. The latter team started off at a slow pace, but the last few weeks played good football.

Chicago came up from behind Saturday, scoring a 3-to-0 victory over Wisconsin, which was more or less of a surprise. Illinois sprung another suprise by trimming Ohio State, 7 to 0.

BEARS WIN FOOTBALL TROPHY

Champions Last Year Retain Title by Defeating Stanford.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—First claimant of the Pacific coast conference football championship trophy cup, offered by Edgar Schawbacher, Seattle, will be the University of California team, 1920 champions, which retained the title yesterday by defeating Stanford university, 42 to 7. California went through a hard schedule this year, for the second season in succession, without a defeat.

Washington State college and Stanford are tied for second place, with the northerners favored to break the deadlock when they meet the University of Washington at Seattle Thanksgiving day in the last conference game of the year.

There were no upsets in the conference yesterday, California's victory over Stanford and the tie game at Eugene between Oregon Agricultural college and the University of Oregon not being unexpected.

Early in the season it was thought the Oregon Aggies would defeat Oregon in their annual "big game" for the state title, but the Aggie team, which was rated high, dropped two games, while Oregon, which was considered weak, suddenly braced and held the strong Washington State college team to a tie.

Standings of the conference elevens follow:

	W.	L.	T.
California	4	0	0
Washington State	1	1	1
Stanford	1	1	1
Oregon Aggies	1	2	1
Oregon	0	1	2
Washington	0	2	1

IOWA BEST SCORING MACHINE

Eleven Champions of Western Conference and Middle West.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The University of Iowa football eleven, champions of the western conference and of the middle west, proved to be the best scoring machine in the big ten this season, but in defensive ability, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Chicago surpassed the title winners.

The Hawkeyes crossed their opponents' goal line in championship games for 143 points, one of the highest records made by a big ten team since Michigan's "point-a-minute" eleven years ago. Wisconsin was second in scoring, but the Badgers' total was only 89. Ohio State was third with 76, and Chicago fourth with 67.

On the defense, Ohio State kept its goal line safe in every game but one. Illinois alone crossed the Buckeye line for seven points. This touchdown and goal was the only one scored by Illinois in a big ten game and kept Ohio State out of a tie with Iowa for the championship.

American Fencing Team Wins.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—British swordsmen defeated the American fencing team 8 to 6 Saturday in the second of three matches in their tournament for the Thompson trophy. The first match was won by the Americans last night and the third and final bout will be held in New York Monday night.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND.

BUFF IS LITTLE KNOWN

TITLE IS WON BY DECAPITATING PETE HERMAN.

Two World's Records May Be Held Before Retirement From Ring. Flyweight Honors Captured.

Johnny Buff, the new bantam champ, is least known of any scrapper outside of Johnny Wilson, who has ever worn a crown. Of course the fans within the confines of New York and New Jersey know all about Johnny and have seen him battle for years. But the general mass of boxing followers know little of the Jersey skeeter, dubbed by his admirers "the mighty mite."

Although 31 years of age and a ringman for more than ten years, Buff did not spring into any prominence until the game was reopened in New York a year or so ago.

Buff fought his way into the hearts of the New York fans by bowling over Abe Attel Goldstein, a popular Gotham flyweight, in two rounds. Goldstein, who is handled by Willie Lewis, the ex-middleweight battler, who developed Carpentier, looked like championship timber until he ran into Buff. Then Johnny took Mickey Russell and several other well-known American flyweights into camp.

Buff won the American flyweight title by trimming Frankie Mason in a 20-round setto in New Orleans about a year ago. Indian Russell, another contender, lasted a couple of rounds and Buff had a clear claim. Running out of worthy opponents in the mite division, Buff stepped up a notch and began a vacuum cleaning process through the bantamweight ranks. He never faltered and capped the climax a few months ago by relieving Pete Herman of his worries as bantamweight champion. Buff bids fair to be one of the most popular titleholders of his class. He is a real fighter, a stiff puncher, and a very clever boxer as well. To date he had not side-stepped anyone and says that he will continue to meet all comers.

There has been considerable comment on the fact that Buff is 31 years old. It has been estimated that a man who has reached that age can hardly stand the gaff incident to ring battles with much younger gladiators.

But there are plenty of exceptions and the new champion has always led a clean life. He has never fallen for the white lights and prefers his own fireside. He has a wife and three children, and is known as a home body.

The fact that he celebrated his victory over Herman by rowing from the Jersey shore the day after the fight and fishing for crabs near the Statue of Liberty shows that he is not given to accentuating his victories in a hectic manner.

It is within the possibilities that Buff may hold two world's titles before he retires from the squared circle, a feat never accomplished by any other boxer. Dixon and McGovern held two titles each and Fitzsimmons three, but not at the same time. Buff at the present time holds the world's bantamweight championship and the American flyweight title.

PORTLAND HAS SEATTLE FANS WONDERING WHAT IS NEXT

Copping of Baseball Prexy, Business Manager and Threat to Grab Iron Duke Tough Stuff to Masticate.

BY ROYAL BROUGHAM.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Some fine morning the Seattle baseball fan expects to rub his eyes, stroll out on the boulevard and behold the L. C. Smith building removed from its moorings and flitted away to the city on the Willamette.

Portland has copped our baseball president. It grabbed off the Indians' business manager, and now threatens to kidnap the Iron Duke, the sturdy skipper of the Braves. Mr. Ball Fan is wondering what is going to be next.

Can a team which was trounced 72 to 3 come back ten days later and whip an eleven considered the second strongest on the coast? That's what the Sundodgers are trying to do, and there are a lot of youths here who will wager their good dough that Washington will win the Thanksgiving day struggle with Pullman.

Bagshaw's team looks like the champion in-and-out men of the conference. One week they make their supporters weep bitter tears and murder the college pastime. And the next they play real football. The team looked formidable in the pre-conference games, and then the Oregon Aggies smeared them under a big score. Baggy came back and fought the Stanford Cards off their feet, only to be man-handled by California a week later.

Ye Washington fan, realizing that his team is an in-and-out eleven, is like the bashful lover and the daisy. He takes the petals and picks them one by one, somewhat in this manner: "Montana, in; O. A. C., out; Stanford, in; California, out; Pullman, in; hurrah! It's our turn to win Thanksgiving!"

A football fan is a funny guy.

Being a main eventer in Seattle is a dangerous proposition. The boxers of this town are now suffering from an epidemic of tin ears, fractured jaws and sprained ankles. No less than three main eventers are on the Red Cross list, Eddie Pinkman, Travie Davis and Harry Eagles being the trio, not to mention Frankie Rodgers, George Wagner and a few others.

Clay Hite has billed an all-star card for the Tuesday show, although the stars are lacking in most of the scraps.

Gordon McKay, the Idaho middleweight, will meet Al Winters in the top bout. Archie Stoy, the lightweight from Aberdeen, boxes Joe Harrahan in the second affair with Kid Billings of Wisconsin meeting Al Biddle in the third fight. Three other contests round out the card.

A letter from Gil Doble the other day brings word that the "Grand Old Man" of Washington still has a soft spot in his heart for the west.

"The tall Scot admits that he likes it better out here, although he says not a thing about the possibility of coming back to this country. Doble knows that he can make more money in the east, which is probably why he will stay back on the Atlantic coast. But there are some drawbacks to his job at Cornell. The scholastic requirements are so strict that a football man has a difficult time making the grade and play football. Then, too, the competition is keener. Where Doble had only one or two real harg games here, he must play a stiffer schedule in the east, although this was not the case this year. Next season things will be different, and Cornell probably will hook up with Penn State.

A game between Bezdek and Doble would occasion as much interest out here as it would in the east. When these two great men of western football get together, who would know which team to bet on?

Al Demaree, the eminent cartoonist of the Seattle team, is exerting every effort to draw a salary as manager of the Seattle club. Demaree realizes that his pitching days are nearly o'er, and he wants to break into the managing department of the game in the worst way.

Al has gone so far as to get the permission of Muggsy McGraw to put the Seattle club on a working basis with the Giants if he gets the job. McGraw is a good friend of Demaree's, and always remembers his friends. Al is the man who recommended Bill Cunningham, and William has more than lived up to expectations.

Demaree is one of half a dozen men being considered for the job here, but Jim Boldt has dropped no hint as to whom he favors.

Athena Wallops Weston, 75-7.

ATHENA, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The Athena high school football team finished its schedule Saturday by walloping Weston high school 75 to 7. The game was played in a driving snowstorm with four inches covering the gridiron. The record made by Athena high is considered remarkable for a first-year team. Athena won five and lost three this season, scoring a total of 333 points to 86 for its opponents.

Transfer Bowlers Win Two.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The Johnson Transfer bowlers defeated the Arthaud realtors twice in their three-game match at the Academy alleys last night. Ted Johnson of the realtors, held high game and high total scores with 220 and 560, respectively. The Aberdeen World won three straight from the Anderson and Middleton Millmen in the Commercial league.

DEWEY WILL COACH DENTISTS' TOSSERS

North Pacific Wants Games With Other Colleges.

STRONG FIVE EXPECTED

Entire Last Year's Squad in School With Exception of Gooch, Who Played Center.

George (Ad) Dewey, formerly Franklin and Lincoln high school athletic coach, has been selected to handle basketball at North Pacific dental college. Dewey is also coaching the first team of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club. He formerly was Oregon Aggie football, track and basketball star. Since his graduation from college Dewey has been coaching athletic teams.

Last year North Pacific's baseball team played several college nines and among the dentists' victims was the University of Oregon nine. This year the dentists plan to put out a strong basketball quintet and are dickering with several colleges for games.

Coach Dewey will issue his first basketball call early this week. The entire last year's team, with the exception of Gooch, center, is back in school, Mullholland is expected to fill the vacancy. Mullholland played two years on the Creighton university five and has been showing up to advantage in practice.

The first inter-class basketball contest at the college was staged last week on the Christian Brothers' business college floor. The sophomores, last year's champions, defeated the freshmen, 29 to 0. The freshmen meet the juniors Wednesday. The winner will play the sophomores for the class championship Friday.

Manager Estes of the college basketball squad has scheduled a game with Arleta for the freshmen. The game will be played tonight on the Franklin high school floor.

The Young Men's Athletic club opened its season Friday with a victory over the Japanese students on the Neighborhood House floor, 45 to 6. The winners had the better team work and their shots at the basket were the more accurate. Spowak and Smokoon shot many baskets for the young men's five, while Captain Jacobson was a star on defense.

The summary:

Y. M. A. C. (45).		Jau'se Stud. (4).
Spowak (18)	F.	Sumida
Smokoon (16)	F.	Ryakawa
Green (6)	C.	Akyeshi (2)
S. Jacobson (3)	G.	Nakagawa
A. Jacobson (2)	G.	Uchida

The Vernon basketball hoopers won from the Woodstock quintet in the opening game of the season for both elevens, 51 to 16, last Friday. Vernon was the superior in guarding and shooting and after taking the lead in the first few minutes of play kept increasing as the contest progressed.

The summary:

Vernon (51)		Woodstock (16)
H. Rutquist	F.	Ray
Shaw	F.	Tubbs
Weiser	C.	Sharkey
Nudelman	G.	Ward
E. Rutquist	G.	Nuly

The Columbian club of the Y. M. C. A. is out for the 125-pound basketball championship of the city. Practice games have already been played which have brought out the fact that the club will have a fast team this year. Oliver, the latest addition to the team, is showing up well in these practice games, as also are Feike, Andrus and Wilkins.

* * *

The First Christian church, which has entered the Inter-Church Basketball league at the Y. M. C. A., will begin practice soon. There is much material out for places on the team. Many of the men have had experience with other teams.

Football Facts.

By Sol Metzger.

Q. Does the referee have authority to call the game after it has started, in case of heavy rain, wind or snow?

A. He may not call the game except with the mutual consent of the competing captains.

Q. How much time shall be allowed between periods?

A. There is one minute intermission between the first and second periods and the third and fourth periods, and 15 minutes between the second and third periods.

Q. May a coach consult with the players between the first and second periods or the third and fourth periods?

A. He may not, nor may the players leave the field.

Q. What happens if a team is late appearing on the field after the intermission following the second period?

A. If a team is two minutes late it shall forfeit its choice and be penalized 25 yards. There shall be no kick-off and the offended side shall have the choice of goal and elect whether to put the ball in play by scrimmage on its opponent's 35-yard line or whether the offending side shall put the ball in play by scrimmage on its own 15-yard line.

Q. Is it permissible for a layer to hold the ball for the kicker at kick-off.

A. There is no objection.

Salem 20, Silverton 0.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, Salem, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The Salem high school football team defeated the Silverton eleven on Sweetland field here Friday by a score of 20 to 0. The field was soggy and fumbles were numerous. The capital city gridsters pushed over two touchdowns in the first half, Adolph carrying the ball both times. Salem added their last marker in the fourth period when Purvine made a touchdown. Silverton could not make consistent yardage and never seriously threatened the Salem goal. The Salem high team will wind up the season here next Thursday when they meet Lincoln high school team of Portland.

Johnson May Fight Stoy.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Kid Johnson, young Olympia lightweight, may get a crack at Archie Stoy, Aberdeen veteran, on the next smoker here, tentatively billed for December 5, at the Aberdeen Athletic club, if the fans keep clamoring for such a fight, according to Promotor Randich. Johnson has fought several battles here with unusual success and many of the fans think he is entitled to a bout with Stoy to get an accurate idea of his ability. Others think Stoy swings too mean a left for the youngster and that a decisive defeat at the hands of the Aberdeen lightweight might mar his career.

Strucker's Brilliant Work Helps Defeat St. Mary's, 28 to 0.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Strucker, an enlisted man, outshone several ex-Annapolis stars at football today, his brilliant work being the major feature in Pacific fleet's defeat of St. Mary's college, 28 to 0.

All the scoring was in the first half, St. Mary's bracing after the intermission and adopting an aerial attack, which, however, they were unable to maintain against the defensive work of Bill Ingram, Strucker and others.

SWIMMERS MAY REVOLT

ORGANIZATION PLANS UNDER WAY IN CALIFORNIA.

Aquatic Followers Opposed to Way Sport Is Handled by Amateur Athletic Union.

BY WILLIAM UNMACK.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Around here there seems to be a movement among swimmers to form an organization of their own. It is no secret that the swimmers generally in central California are opposed to the handling of swimming as it has been done in that section by the local branch of the American Athletic Union.

To what lengths the swimmers are ready to go is uncertain of course. The Pacific association branch of the American Athletic Union is going to take exception to such an organization if it decides to dictate the whys and wherefores of amateur competition.

Some years ago a water polo association was formed by swimmers of central California and it worked admirably. The polo association joined the ranks of the American Athletic Union branch and is still functioning in polo and is still a member of the American Athletic Union and has control over water polo. Just why the union should not welcome a swimming association under the same conditions is not known.

There is no question but that a swimming association composed of, run by, governed by and promoted by men who know swimming and are swimming experts would be an admirable method for the advancement of the sport.

A break with the union is not wanted by the swimmers, but if the swimming association is formed there is every indication that it will be outlawed. With all the bath houses except one favoring the new organization it looks as though the swimmers have the best of the argument so far.

The Los Angeles Motor Boat Racing association has announced a winter regatta to open on Sunday, December 4, with races every Sunday thereafter for a month or more. Interest is being taken in the regatta by motor boat enthusiasts all along the Pacific coast and it is probable that some of the fastest hydroplanes and other speed boats will participate. Dustin Farnum, movie star, will enter his boats. Joe Fellows, probably the best known speed boat builder on the coast, will enter several of his boats bearing his name, while Frank Garbutt, ex-president of the Los Angeles Athletic club, will drive his own boat.

Two different Sundays will be used to decide the fastest boat. There will be three classes free for all, 800 cubic inch displacement and a special class with such speed burners as Hurricane, Fellows fourth, Rainbow third and Cad Hill.

These three classes will race over a mile straightaway, each boat to have three trials each day, the fastest mile made to win a special trophy and the championship of southern California.

HARVARD VICTORY UPSET

DEFEAT OF YALE GREAT GRIDIRON ACCOMPLISHMENT.

Owen, Halfback, and Buell, Quarter, Turn Tricks Leaving Blue on Short End, 10 to 3.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Harvard's victory over Yale in the finale of the football season's big three meetings will stand as one of the greatest accomplishments of the gridiron clans that have worn the crimson. Owen, halfback, assisted by Quarterback Buell, turned the tricks that left the Blue on the short end of a 10 to 3 score.

Captain Robertson of Dartmouth was in poor form yesterday and it was partly because of his poor punting that the Syracuse team was able to win 14 to 7. At Bethlehem, Pa., Lafayette triumphed over Lehigh, 28 to 6.

Brown concluded its session with a hard-earned 7 to 0 victory over Colgate.

BEARS LOSE FIVE LINESMEN

Graduate Route to Make Dent in California Eleven.

BERKELEY, Nov. 20.—Five linesmen of the University of California champion football team, from tackle to tackle, inclusive, graduate next spring and will not be back for the 1922 season, according to present plans. All the backs and ends will return to school.

The five men leaving are: Barnes, tackle; Cranmer, guard; Captain Latham, center; Clarke, guard, and McMillan, tackle. The regular team members expected to return are: Erb, quarter, captain-elect; Nisbet and Morrison, fullbacks; Toomey and Nichols halfbacks, and Muller, Berkey and Stephens, ends.

Three sub-linemen, Gallagher, center; Schuur, guard, and Beam, tackle, who have won their letters, will come back to man a portion of the broken line. Three second string backs, Witter, fullback and Dun and Bell, fullbacks, will return.

Chehalis Seconds Win.

PAL OF DEMPSEY IS VISITOR IN CITY

Cyclone Bill Lyons Picturesque Pug Figure.

AMUSING INCIDENT TOLD

Would-Be Fighter Has Kearns Guessing Until Champion Fells Him Like an Ox.

BY DICK SHARP.

Senator William C. (Cyclone Bill) Lyons of Denver is a Portland visitor for a few days.

Anyone who has ever heard of Jack Dempsey has heard of Lyons. Cyclone Bill is rated as one of the most picturesque figures in political and pugilistic affairs of America.

Lyons has been at the ringside of every important battle since John L. Sullivan whipped Paddy Ryan; Lyons has been sergeant-at-arms at every democratic national convention almost since the first day he voted. And Lyons numbers among his pals and most intimate friends every ring star in 40 years of ring history, and every political satellite since Grover Cleveland's reign.

Name Is Byword.

Lyons' name is a by-word among the fistic gentry. He has seen champions come and go and has a speaking acquaintance with every reigning title holder.

His best pal is Jack Dempsey. Lyons has been in Jack's company since the time Dempsey began to train for his fight with Jess Willard. A prized gift is a $1000 watch Dempsey gave him last Christmas. The timepiece is a wonder and contains 104 pennyweight of platinum. It combines a regular watch, a stop watch, registers minutes and split seconds. On the other end of his watch chain Lyons carries a valued timepiece given him by Freddie Welsh shortly after the latter's fight with Charley White in Denver.

Lyons on Way South.

Lyons left Dempsey in Spokane night before last and is headed for Tia Juana for the opening of the racing season in the Mexican city Thanksgiving day. Lyons was forced to journey from Castle Rock to Portland by automobile yesterday, owing to the tieup in transportation resulting from the rain and silver thaw.

Lyons served two terms as senator in the Colorado state legislature and has held many other elective offices in Colorado. He is a marshal, or a special policeman, in nearly 200 cities in America. His pockets and his trunk bulge with policing commissions and police badges. And Cyclone Bill is never without his two shootin' irons. Believe it or not, it is so.

Dempsey Coming December 12.

Lyons brought the word that Dempsey's theatrical tour will bring him to Portland the week of December 12. An amusing incident happened in Butte, Mont., where Dempsey played recently, he said. One night while Dempsey was preparing to go on a big fellow walked into the dressing room without any invitation and sat down. He did not make himself known or offer any comment until Dempsey was dressed in his ring togs. Suddenly the stranger came to life and asked for a chance to box Dempsey at the evening performance, giving as his reason that he wanted to gain some experience. Jack Kearns began to smell a rat. Perhaps it was another Jack Monroe and Jim Jeffries affair. At any rate, Kearns was not taking any chances and tried to stall the big fellow. However, he was obstinate and insisted. At last Kearns consented, but asked him to wait until the next evening. The next evening the would-be battler was on hand. He jumped into his gym togs and began to shadow box.

He stripped like a champion and stepped around nicely. Kearns gave him a close once over again and, still thinking of Jack Monroe, cautioned Dempsey to look out.

Fighters Take Stage.

They took the stage. The fighter's name was Dick Martens. He made a rush at Jack, swinging both hands. He meant business. Dempsey took a couple on the elbows, stepped back and let drive a right. It caught Martens flush on the chin and he was felled like an ox. Kearns motioned for the curtain and another good man had gone wrong. The moral is: When you are ambitious lay off a champion.

Lyons says that Kearns has nothing definite for Dempsey but is open to bids from any promoter in the world. He does not think that either Harry Wills or Tommy Gibbons would make a mouthful for Dempsey.

TY COBB IS FINED $150

Altercation Over Winter League Game Cause of Levy.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—Ty Cobb, famous outfielder, manager of the Detroit American league baseball club and manager of the San Francisco team of the California winter league, was fined $150 by Frank Chance, president of the California winter league, as the result of an altercation between Cobb and Umpire Phyle during yesterday's game between the San Francisco and Vernon clubs here, it became known tonight.

The game was forfeited to Vernon by Phyle, following Cobb's refusal to leave the field when ordered to do so.

Cobb was fined $50 for using abusive language and $100 for delaying the game, according to Chance.

The fine was said to have been the largest ever imposed on Cobb during his career as a professional baseball player.

Bowler Sets Record.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The middle west bowling association individual's record was broken by G. Becker of Milwaukee, who rolled 726 in the singles of the association's annual tournament here today. The former mid-west record was made in 1912 by August Smith of St. Louis. Becker's score today also is believed to have broken the world's singles record.

COLUMBIA CHANCES GOOD

CLAIM TO STATE TITLE IS STRENGTHENED.

Result of Washington High School Game With Everett Thanksgiving Is Awaited.

Columbia university's victory over the football eleven of Astoria high school Saturday gives the preppers as good a claim to the state title as any other high school in Oregon. Although Columbia did not play the beefy Washington high eleven, Portland public school champion, the best Fenstermacher's men could do against Astoria was to play it a scoreless tie. Unless Washington can either tie or defeat Everett (Wash) high school on Thanksgiving day, when the two schools meet at Everett, Columbia can claim the interscholastic championship of Oregon.

Fenstermacher, however, is not worrying about Columbia's claim to the championship. His team is in for a greater stake and with only three days left to practice, the Washington eleven is going through some stiff work. The second team has been using Everett's style of play against the regulars and Washington's tackles have received an extensive drill.

Wilson, Everett's star halfback, made most of his yardage against Columbia in the Columbia Everett game here recently on off tackle bucks. It will be up to Mautz and Liebe, who will play the tackles, to stop Wilson's assaults. Both Mautz and Liebe were named on the 1921 mythical all-star team, and Fenstermacher depends on them to do that which the Columbia tackles failed to accomplish.

Six of Washington's first eleven received all-star berths, Fenstermacher is depending on those six to carry his team to victory.

Captain Pete Brooks, all-star end, may not start the game, however, as he broke his thumb while scrimmaging last week. Brooks has done some wonderful work this year and as many Everett gains are made around end, Fenstermacher will have a hard task selecting a substitute for Brooks' berth.

Although the Forest Grove high school has won all the games it played this year, the school is not claiming the state championship. After seeing the Columbia-Everett contest Forest Grove's coach is willing to concede the championship to the preppers.

Forest Grove's latest victim was Hillsboro high school, which was defeated 20 to 0 Friday at Forest Grove. The winners used the straight style of football. Emmerson scored two of Forest Grove's touchdowns and Fannie one. Lamb kicked two of the three goals.

The football contest between the Arleta Amateur Athletic club and The Dalles American Legion eleven, scheduled for Sunday, was called off at the last hour because of a storm. Coach McKeown of Arleta will take 18 men with him to Astoria next Sunday. Astoria is claiming the independent championship of Oregon. Among Astoria's victims are St. Johns Bachelors eleven, Portland independent league champions.

Andrews Leads Cue Players.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Harry Andrews is in first place in the county pocket billiard championship tournament by virtue of a victory last night over Walter McGuire in the second round. The score was 75 to 42. Andrews' high run of 34 early in the game was too much of a handicap for McGuire to
