PUREBREDS TO BE SOLD

CHEHALIS TO BE CENTER OF GREAT ANNUAL AUCTION.

Holsteins of Southwestern Area of Washington Are Offered by Well-Known Growers.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 7.—(Special.)—Stanley Butchart, secretary of the Washington State Holstein-Friesian association, who is looking after the final arrangements for the second annual Chehalis consignment sale of cattle to be held Friday at the southwest Washington fair grounds, stated today that unusual interest is manifested in the coming event.

Sixty-five animals are to be offered, the bulk of them females, there being but four males in the list of offerings. The most of the cattle are young animals and the breeding represents some of the best families of Holsteins to be found in the entire Pacific northwest. Fifteen head were born in 1920, ten in 1919, six in 1918 and none of them in the near-aged class. Many of the females are bred, some of them just fresh recently, and all-in-all the men who have the sale in charge consider this an exceptionally fine offering. The personnel of the sales committee, which includes some of the most prominent men in the state, and embraces such breeders as Alexander Todd, William Bishop, Alfred Ghormley, J. L. Smith, Ed Hoen and Stanley Butchart, is sufficient to insure the quality of the offerings. When prospective buyers are assured that a personal inspection of every animal to be sold was made by County Agent Fowler of Lewis county, and Chris Hendricksen, one of Lewis county's best-known and most successful breeders, to determine the quality and character of the cattle breeders wished to offer, and that nothing will be offered that was not approved by this local committee, the man who wants to buy is doubly assured of good cattle in which to invest his money.

The cattle consigned to the sale come from such well-known breeders as George W. Lawler of Tacoma, Thomas Bowen of Snohomish, Charles Eldridge of Chimacum, Thomas McGee of Chimacum, R. Yarr of Chimacum, A. C. Mills of Curtis, Charles Peterson of Chimacum, Hugh Nesbit of Chimacum, William Eldridge of Chimacum, H. C. Davis of Granger and Harry Hamilton of Forest. Many of the animals are already in the spacious dairy barn at the fair grounds and are being inspected by prospective bidders.

Thursday evening preceding the sale there will be a dinner in Chehalis for the Holstein breeders. The sale will open promptly at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with George A. Gue, the well-known auctioneer, in charge. A lunch will be served at noon. A fine pavilion in the new dairy barn has been arranged and every convenience possible will be afforded those who attend the sale which promises to be the biggest event of its kind ever held in the state of Washington.

TALKING MOVIES LIKELY UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS ANNOUNCES NEW INVENTION.

URBANA, Ill., Dec. 7.—A discovery which it "seems possible will make the movies of the future talk," was announced by the University of Illinois today. The basic patents of the invention are held by the institution.

"The scientific discovery is that of an extremely sensitive and reliable 'photo-electric' cell, made about two years ago in the physical laboratory of the university by Professor Jacob Kunz," said the announcement.

"The photo-electric cell is a device for turning flashes of light into electric pulses, and is so sensitive that it reacts to light from stars which cannot be seen with the naked eye. A second film is used on the same spindle as the moving picture film, on which are photographed various curves and openings corresponding to the words which are to accompany the pictures. A beam of light sent through this film falls upon the photo-electric cell. It is thus possible to get variations in an electric current by letting the beam of light from a speech photograph film fall upon such a cell. These variations act in a telephone to reproduce speech.

"Dr. Kunz' photo-electric cell in transforming light waves into electric pulses responds immediately to a light wave even after hours and days of use." it was said.

The selenium cell was used with some success by a Swedish scientist, but Dr. Kunz' cell is declared by the university announcement to be far more sensitive and promises to give the perfect "photo-phone" of the future.

LIONS' CLUB IS GROWING

Head of International Body to Be in Portland Tomorrow.

Ewen W. Cameron of Minneapolis, president of the international organization of Lions' clubs, will be in Portland tomorrow in the course of a tour of the country, and will speak at the luncheon of the recently organized Lions' club at the Benson hotel.

Mr. Cameron is to arrive from the Puget sound district at 7:20 A. M. and will meet local organizers and members here. His address at the luncheon will be on "Lionism."

The first meeting of the local club was held last Friday, when about 30 members were present. New members are being added daily, however, and a membership of more than 100 is expected, it was announced.

Arthur J. Copeland, field organizer, and T. M. Golden of Portland are working in behalf of the club. The organization is declared to be similar in character to the Rotary club, and like the Rotary club its membership is limited to representatives of various businesses.

Community Tree Planned.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 1.—(Special.)—Every child in Aberdeen will have some Christmas remembrance, if plans of the business women to enlist co-operation of the various organizations in the community Christmas tree succeed. Five hundred tickets for children who otherwise would have no Christmas will be distributed through the Salvation Army. The tree and programme will be held in Liberty auditorium Monday afternoon and evening following Christmas day in order not to conflict with the Christmas programmes in the various churches.
