

FRANCE IS TO ASK FOR 35,000 TONS

Request Is to Be Made Today or Tomorrow.

OLD PROGRAMME BASIS

Building of Fleet of 450,000 Tons Abandoned Because of Outbreak of War.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—France will ask for an allotment of 35,000 tons of capital ships and a proportionate percentage in smaller classes when the question of the French and Italian navies is taken up, possibly tomorrow or Friday by the conference naval committee of 15.

This was disclosed authoritatively tonight by a spokesman of the French delegation.

The French basis takes the programme adopted by the French parliament in 1913 which had it been completed, would have given a fleet of 450,000 tons.

The war caused the programme to be abandoned. Present requirements of France, it will be represented, are for a fleet of 300,000 tons, including the defense in Europe covering two naval fronts, the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

Algeria Communication Cited. Communications with Algeria, it also is held by the French, would be of vital importance in war because of the necessity of transporting troops and supplies.

The French delegation has assumed, their spokesman said, that they will encounter a spirit of dictation respecting which they will be in a position to deal with Pacific naval proportions. There have been so preliminary studies by this conference, it was pointed out, of European problems, discussions having been confined to the far east.

Some suggestion has been made in French quarters that France's naval ratio was a subject of direct negotiation between France and Great Britain and it is considered possible that Premier Briand and Lloyd George may discuss the question at their meeting in London.

Italy's Needs Discussed. Senator Schenker, in talking of Italy's naval needs to newspaper men today, said the Italians will go into the committee with two principles.

The first is that the ratio shall be the same ratio as France; the second that the ratio be a low one, because we do not desire to build up a large one.

He alluded to the length of Italy's coast, her dependence on sea communications for a large part of her food and her inclosed position in the Mediterranean and said that France quite agreed to Italy's having the same ratio as the French.

FEDERAL AID IS SOUGHT

Douglas County Asks Government to Give Money for Roads.

ROSEBURG, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Federal aid in the sum of $200,000 is asked by Douglas county on the Drain-Reedport highway, an application having been forwarded today to George W. Cecil, district forester, in addition, co-operation in the sum of $15,000 is asked on the Loon lake road.

The Drain-Reedport highway taps

a portion of the Suislaw forest and the road will be of great benefit in opening up the coast section. The county has appropriated more than $500,000 for use on the various sections of this highway, which is being constructed as rapidly as possible.

Therefore the county has received no co-operation nor aid in building the highway with the exception of a small amount of market road money. If the government will assist by appropriating the sum asked, it is thought that sufficient funds will be on hand to complete the project. The county asks that the money be appropriated from the fund recently made available by congress for road work in or adjacent to national forests.

JAPANESE OFFER TO YIELD SHANTUNG

Momentous Decision Reached at Parley With Chinese.

SURRENDER HELD EPOCHAL

Monetary Consideration Involved Declared Trifling Compared With Sacrifice Made.

BY ADACHI KINOSUKE. (Copyright, 1921, by the Press Publishing Company, the New York World. All Rights Reserved.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—This has been a gala day for Japan all round. It has been announced by a high American spokesman that the naval ratio question is progressing toward a happy conclusion in no distant future, meaning that the behavior of Japan is not so bad as has been suspected in some quarters.

Then, at the Chinese-Japanese conversations over the Shantung questions today, which began at 3:15 o'clock and lasted until nearly 6 P. M., China and Japan have reached the something really significant, more especially from the Japanese point of view. I asked an authoritative spokesman of the Chinese delegation this question tonight:

"Have the negotiations over the Shantung railway, between you and the Japanese representatives, reached the point where Japan is willing to discuss it on the basis of selling it to China and China buying it from Japan? In other words, have China and Japan come to the point of settling the matter on the basis of monetary considerations?"

"That is my understanding," was the answer of the Chinese delegate.

Japanese Parties Reply. A short time afterward, I asked an authoritative spokesman of the Japanese delegation the question: "I have just been told by a gentleman of the Chinese delegation that the Shantung negotiations between you and the Japanese have reached the point that Japan is willing to sell the Shantung railway to China. May I know whether that is true?"

"The spokesman of the Japanese delegation objected to the word 'sell.' When I asked him, therefore, whether Japan was willing to settle the question on the basis of monetary considerations, the Japanese spokesman declined to answer the question on the ground that this was not the proper time to make any statements whatever on that particular point.

From the above it is not difficult to fill in the picture. What came to pass at the Japanese-Chinese conversations over Shantung is something really big and significant. It was the one great constructive thing, in fact, which has come to the fore in bringing the two great Asian lands into a truly neighborly understanding with each other. And in this Japan deserves an infinitely greater credit than appears on the one side or the other. What a really great sacrifice all this spells to Japan!

Japan Pays Tremendous Price. Look, for example, what a tremendous price she has paid for Shantung. She has been treated with a meaning as big as the future of the Japanese-Chinese policy, which, after all, is said, and done, is the highest political factor in the whole of the far east. For this attitude of Japan toward her neighbor means, if all things are considered, that the Japan of today is as utterly and revolutionarily different from the Japan of the so-called 20-demands "as the moon is a milk-turtle," as we say at home.

Here is the one outstanding refutation of all the myriads of denunciations and slanders which have been poured out of countless enemies of Japan, both among the sensational writers and the more sober-minded scholars and political authorities of China. For here is a fact—and a pretty big one, too—which no amount of words can possibly wipe out of existence. A few million words have been written in a few years past assuring the good and trusting American public that Japan was a nation which would get out of Shantung in all the blue moons of story books.

Wordy Nightmares Dispelled. And today, there comes along a little incident, operating on the same things and knocks all the wordy nightmares, castles of defamation sky-high. For after what has happened here in Washington, the Chinese and Japanese conversations over Shantung, the fashionable work of tarring and feathering every action of Japan in China, and the attitude as easy as it used to be, Japan should be congratulated to the utmost degree for her far-seeing statesmanship at this juncture in this matter, being her man. The loss of this magnitude must of necessity have its effects on her. It is his enemy to hunt anybody. It is really a heroic thing which the Japanese delegation and the government which it represents achieved today.

Militarists Are Dying Hard. There is, still, even to this day, no small elements in Japan in the fond embrace of that unholy dream sometimes known as "the continental policy" of Japan—the aggressive policy of the Japanese militarists which has been advertised the world over with such consummate skill—and the leaders of our country who are here must "face the music" over the new encouraging proportion at the conversations today.

TOKIO ACCEPTS NAVY RATIO Bulletin Announcing Decision Is Published at Capital.

TOKIO, Dec. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Acceptance of the naval ratio of the arms conference was announced in a bulletin today, ending weeks of speculation and arguments in the press and conferences in political circles. The announcement created general satisfaction and gave welcome relief from the tension under which various elements had been laboring.

There had been apparent for some time a desire by cabinet members to see an end to the negotiations and the completion of an agreement along the lines originally proposed at Washington, provided always that Japan's interests were safeguarded according to the official organ of the government, that "the blind persistence of claiming a 70 per cent ratio not only is inimical to the very spirit of limitation of armament but is detrimental to the eventual success of the conference."

DEER HUNTERS IN COURT

Six Corvallis Business Men Are Arraigned and Trial Set.

CORVALLIS, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—The six Corvallis business men charged with killing fawn deer were arraigned in Justice Minnifield's court today and the hearing set for early in January. A new aspect of the case developed when Corvallis business men started a suit for damages against the state warden asking an investigation by him personally before the matter is prosecuted further.

The petition states that the case is apt to be very expensive for Benton county before it is finished, and if it is lit enough to hurt anybody. It is sufficient evidence, they say, to want the state warden to use his influence to have it dismissed.

The growers voted for the establishment of the American Wonder, Burbank and Garnet Chile as standards for this county.

PORTLAND MAN GAINS 20 POUNDS

"I Feel Like a New Man," Says McGroskey, Telling of His Recovery by Tanlac.

"Before I was half through my first bottle of Tanlac I began to straighten right up, and now I've gained twenty pounds in weight and feel like a brand-new man," said E. P. McGroskey, a well-known business man of Portland, Oregon, living at 312 Fargo st.

"About five years ago my stomach went wrong and my appetite completely failed. Some things I ate would upset me for a week and at times I couldn't retain any thing. Sometimes when at work I was attacked by such sharp, cramping pains and I had to be taken home. I also had rheumatism so bad I kept going down hill until I actually lost thirty pounds."

"Some of the boys at the shipyards put me on to Tanlac. I had hardly started on it good when my appetite picked up and I began gaining weight and strength. I eat like a plowboy now and, the best part of it, I can eat just anything I want and never suffer a particle from indigestion."

Tanlac is sold in Portland by The Owl Drug Co. and all leading druggists—Adv.
