

GOLFING EXHIBITION IS ON TOMORROW

Fear That Course Will Be in Bad Shape Expressed.

GROUND IS FROZEN NOW

Jim Barnes and Jock Hutchison to Decide Whether to Play Match or Continue Journey.

BY GEORGE COWNE. If this cold snap hangs on, fur coats, ear muffs, foot warmers and even snowshoes will be the uniform of the day at the Portland Golf club tomorrow when Jim Barnes and Jock Hutchison play Rudolph Wilhelm and John Junor.

No immediate relief is promised from the cold weather, but a good old Chinook is supposed to be blowing somewhere out in the Pacific ocean. The chinook, which according to latest reports is headed this way, might terminate in a snow storm. As far as the Portland Golf club is concerned that wouldn't improve the situation any.

Players to Decide. Regardless of the weather, everything will be left to Barnes and Hutchison, who arrive as late as whether the match will be played. C. C. Wintermute, chairman of the house committee at the Portland club, who has been chairman in the campaign to bring the two champions here, says that if the visitors want to play they will be accommodated, even if they have to wear snowshoes or skis to traverse the course.

Even Matches Played. In Vancouver and Victoria, the pair of champions broke even in matches against the stalwart Canadian professionals. At Vancouver they defeated Dave Black and Alex Duthie, 3 up and 4. Black, who holds the Canadian open championship, teamed up with Phil Taylor at Victoria and they succeeded in turning the tables against the champions, 2 up and 1.

Corvallis Grid Fans Declare That They Expected to Meet Bears Every Second Season.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Corvallis, Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Oregon Aggie football supporters are disappointed because it does not provide for a game with the University of California. It had been generally understood that the Beavers would play California every other year. In 1920 the Bears played at Corvallis; in the season just ended no game was arranged, but in 1922 O. A. C. should play California at Berkeley.

GOOD BIG GOLFER BETTER THAN GOOD LITTLE GOLFER

Same Old Rule That Applies in Pugilism, Football and Other Sports Also True in a Measure of Golf, Says Hutchison.

LITTLE MAN HANDICAPPED BECAUSE HE CAN'T GET SAME DISTANCE AS BIG MAN.

BY JOCK HUTCHISON

Only American to Win British Open Championship. IS A LITTLE man handicapped in golf, or, better, perhaps, put it this way: "Has the bantam over in a golf match an advantage over a smaller opponent?"

Small Man Must Be Accurate.

The names of the foregoing golfers mentioned in the lightweight and bantam classes should be plenty of encouragement to the little man. There is no necessity for a man to feel that his game is hopeless because he is small.

Reserve Force Great Asset.

The large man carries a reserve that would count in his favor over a stretch of games. Luck might break decidedly against him, but his reserve force would find him getting greater distances out of the rough than a weaker opponent.

Other Golfers who Have made enviable reputations on the links and who are no larger than myself include Jerry Travers, Chick Evans, Willie Hunter, H. H. Hilton, Laurie Jenkins, W. J. Travis, George McLean, Johnnie McDermott, Leo Diegel, Eddie Loos and Mike Brady.

Penn State's Star Quarterback Does Not Take "Pipe" Courses.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 20.—Prevalent opinion seems to be that college athletes are usually poor students and that they are customarily enrolled in the so-called "snop" courses at their respective institutions. A glance at the list of seniors who played on the Penn State eleven this fall will prove that opinion false, so far as the Nittany Lions are concerned.

WHITMAN ATHLETES WARNED

Men Barred From Playing on Outside Teams Next Year.

WHITMAN COLLEGE Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—No Whitman athletes are to be permitted to play on any amateur or professional teams next year, according to a positive ruling by Coach Borleske.

Portland Fighters in Bend.

BEND, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—To train for their respective bouts with Speck Woods, Allie Taylor and Duffy Knorr, three Portland boxers, Willie Ritchie, arrived in Bend this morning. The Bend boxing commission smoker in which they will feature is set for next Monday.

THE FOURTH OF JULY OF 1896 When there was to have been a fireworks display where St. Vincent's hospital now stands, but it rained so hard the fireworks weren't shown until four or five days afterwards.

When patent medicines containing from 20 to 60 per cent alcohol were used as "bitters" by many pillars of the church and other good people, who in their denunciations of strong drink as a beverage were often intemperate?

When Lane Goodell, commander of the department of Oregon, American Legion, attended his first school wearing a blue velvet suit, on which account the other little kids called him "Blue," which name still sticks?

When the fire whistle was in the engine room of the Burnside bridge draw and how the teams were secured when passing under it while a fire alarm was sounding?

The great wind storm of January 9, 1880, compared with which the recent blow was merely a gentle squib?

When the Chinese laundries did all our washing and ironing, even to skirts and dresses five yards wide and starched so stiff they would stand alone, all for $3 a month?

The jam of people on the Stark-street ferry boat on Decoration day, all en route by foot to Lone Fir cemetery?

The little French laundry at Third and Salmon streets and Babe Dan-grueger, who delivered the laundry—in his little red wagon?

BREAST STROKE FOR SWIMMERS DEcriED

Expert Says Obsolete Style Should Be Discarded.

WEST POINT MAKES PLEA

Military Academy Asks to Have Old Way of Getting Through Water Revived.

BY NORMAN ROSS. CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Swimmers of West Point want a breast stroke race added to the programme of events for the eastern conference, claiming that this style needs to be made popular because it is the only one which enables the soldier to swim with full equipment, and is necessary in saving life.

Both of these claims are incorrect. In the first place no one could swim with full equipment as equipment now runs, then again the scissor kick gives more power than the frog kick, and is easier to learn. For five saving the easiest style is that of the single overarm, which is much faster and can be used over greater distances.

If efficiency is sought, which seems to be the West Pointer's argument, it would be better to introduce a style which is not hampered by equipment regulations. The scissor kick affords more driving power and causes less resistance than the frog kick. The frog kick is prescribed for breast-stroke races. Men are disqualified every day for unorthodox movements, all of which tend to give more speed to the stroke. Why the idea of these races, to see how slowly one can swim? It does not seem logical to prohibit anything in a race which tends to the contestant gain his goal faster.
