

COUNCILMAN RAPS UNION LEAGUE CLUB

Organization Is Un-American, Says Phillip Tindall.

PERSONNEL UNDER FIRE

Seattle Official Says Society Is Anti-Labor and in Favor of Japanese.

PHUGET SOUND BUREAU, Seattle, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—The Washington Union League club, recently organized in this city and planned for state-wide membership, has excited the wrath of City Councilman Tindall, who declared it was formed in favor of the Japanese and in hostility to organized labor. In a public statement Tindall gave the club the "un-American" and a good many other brands, sufficient to make clear his complete disapproval. R. A. Hallinger, formerly mayor of Seattle and secretary of the interior department during part of the Taft administration, is president of the Union League club. W. M. Garrett is the secretary. According to its constitution and by-laws, it is modeled along lines similar to clubs of the same name in eastern cities. Nothing is discoverable in the form of organization or in the membership application to sustain the pro-Japanese or anti-labor suggestion. Councilman Tindall said he arrived at this conclusion, to his own satisfaction, by the process of putting two and two together.

Tindall is an ex-service man, wounded in France and twice decorated. He returned to his home in this city just in time to file as a candidate for the council in 1920. He was last on the list of those nominated in the primaries but in the ensuing election he led the ticket with a huge plurality. From the beginning of his councilman service he has been an official and unofficial spokesman of the anti-Japanese element, and was active in procuring the anti-alien land law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

He bases his accusations against the Union League club on the open ground that Judge Hallinger is its president and that its constitution includes specifically Rev. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Seattle, Reginald E. Parsons, president of the Northwest Fruit Products company, and L. C. Gilman, vice-president of the Great Northern Railway company. There are many other members—about 200 in all, though the club is only about 90 days old, but these four are selected by Tindall for the purposes of his argument. Mr. Gilman, he pointed out, is an officer of the company that first induced the Nippon Yusen Kaisha to send its steamships to Puget Sound, thereby establishing the nucleus of oriental trade.

Japanese Labor Used.
The Great Northern, he said, has also used Japanese in construction work. He recalled that Judge Hallinger, Dr. Matthews and Mr. Parsons served as a committee representing the foreign trade bureau of the Seattle chamber of commerce, which tried to induce the legislature to modify or delay its anti-alien program last winter. On the point of hostility toward organized labor, Tindall cited Judge Hallinger's connection with the Associated Industries of Seattle. This is the substance of the proof offered by Tindall in support of his charges.

One interesting point that Mr. Tindall failed to make in respect of the Union League club is that its membership consists largely of what is known in the parlance of practical politicians as the "producers." In Seattle, as in other cities of the state, there are certain men who are subject to regular and constant appeal for contributions to campaign funds. It does not matter what the issue may be, who the candidates are nor what offices they seek, the so-called "finance committees" make practice of the same rounds and gather in what they can. It has been the sad experience of the "producers" here, as elsewhere, that once the campaign is over and the candidates elected, the advice of those who furnished the money is never solicited and seldom heeded when given.

Producers are Incensed.
The possibility of putting more punch in the power of the "producers" is not touched on in the constitution or by-laws of the Union League club any more than are the motives charged by Councilman Tindall. But any knowledge of the membership personnel is highly suggestive. Presently, the club is dominated by the record of past affiliations, the club includes a considerable number of members who have heretofore been rated as prominent "producers" for the democratic party.

YULE LUNCHEON IS HELD

Citizens' Club of Chehalis Has Interesting Get-Together.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—"Blood Clear" was the subject of the weekly noonday luncheon of the Citizens' club. N. B. Coffman was chairman for the day and in addition to delivering an address on the subject of good will and cheerfulness incident to the Christmas season, introduced Rev. S. S. Healy, who talked along similar lines. Mr. Healy recently accepted the Chehalis Presbyterian pastorate, coming here from Tacoma. T. J. O'Connor, secretary of the club, read an original poem appropriate to the occasion. Two new citizens were introduced to the club—L. C. Young, hardware merchant, and C. L. Woodman, newly elected field man and executive secretary of the Lewis county farm bureau. The club members listened to an appeal of C. A. Studebaker for support for the Leroy R. Ficus post, American Legion of Chehalis, which plans to put on an entertainment next Tuesday evening, followed by a dance. Financial support to the Legion boys was promised in a motion that was unanimously passed.

PAVING PROGRAMME BIG

Chehalis Lays Plans for Putting Several Streets in Order.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Chehalis will have the biggest street paving programme in several years in 1922, according to action taken by the city commission at its regular weekly meeting. It was decided to pave Cascade avenue to Ninth street, in the southern portion of the city, the distance being nearly a mile from the business center. Also, Ninth street will be paved to Market street intersection. The three blocks about the city's civic center will be paved and probably the paving will be extended up the hill in Cascade avenue to Adams avenue. This work, with the paving of 5000 feet on Market street to the width of 30 feet, with curbs, drainage and other features, will make improvements that will give employment to many men next season.

In addition to the standard lighting system proposed by the Chehalis city commission, property owners in Park street, between Chehalis and Market streets, asked that their holdings be included in the improvement. The lighting also will extend across West street to the Milwaukee station neighborhood.

BUILDING RECORD GOOD

New Construction in Aberdeen Is $500,000 for This Year.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Permits issued from the office of the city building inspector for 1921 totaled $500,000, which figure, it is believed, represents the total value, as permits usually are issued upon minimum estimated costs, and often less. The $125,000 of permits in process of construction, is not included in the estimate. With the amount included, the value of building in the city for the year will be nearly $500,000. The greatest volume of permits was in July, when the total was $125,000. A number of permits have been built during the year, and one apartment house, Rutherford court, costing $45,000. The expectation among architects is that the coming year will far surpass the one just closing.

NEW REGIME IN CENTRALIA

Mayor Barner and Two Commissioners Take Office.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Centralia's new city commission—Mayor Barner and Commissioners Keir and Dickerson—elected two weeks ago, took their offices Monday morning and assumed their duties. Mr. Keir will serve as commissioner of public works and Mr. Dickerson as commissioner of finance. The latter is beginning his third term on the commission. James Compton, a former member of the council, is Mayor Barner's choice for chief of police.

School Board Recall Launched.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Recall proceedings have been instituted against E. E. Pier, Hugh Corp and Orville Jacob, school directors of district No. 295, including the Forest and Newaukum valley neighborhoods, several miles southeast of Chehalis. Charles Gessell prominent farmer, is the moving spirit in the attempt to recall the board. Malfeasance in office is alleged. It is charged that money has been unlawfully spent improving a playground on land belonging to J. Groner and to which the district has no title. Mr. Pier was one of the legislative candidates last fall of the farmer-labor party and all the men involved are well known in the county.

Berry Growing to Be Discussed.

MONTESANO, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Berry raising and the use of fertilizers will be the chief topics of discussion at a farmers' meeting tomorrow evening at the Washington valley school house. J. W. Strubel and A. L. Fleming of the county berry growers' association and George Weyand, a director of the Pacific Northwest Fruit Marketing association, will give a larger acreage of berries in the Wahkiakum valley next year, and will give practical advice on planting and marketing. Robert Cowan, county agent, will talk on fertilizers and arrange for several demonstrations. W. C. Munaw and other agriculturists of the county will have a place on the programme.

Chehalis Garage Is Sold.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Sale of the big concrete garage block at the corner of Market, Park and Cascade streets for $27,500, by A. E. Judt to Patrick Manning, is announced. Mr. Manning is a contractor. Mr. Judt erected the building three years ago. He will use the money gained by this deal in further construction of business blocks in the main part of the city during the coming year.

Dry Law Violators Fined.

MONTESANO, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Milan Nitch was fined $200 and costs and Alexander Andrich was fined $100 and costs when they pleaded guilty to a liquor possession charge in Judge Lewis Higgins' court Saturday. Their arrest in Aberdeen two weeks ago followed a quarrel in which Andrich, in a fit of rage, burned the automobile the two men had been using jointly.

Prisoner Declines to Plead.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Bill Smith, charged with mayhem for the alleged hurling of a stone that put out the eye of R. L. White, at an Onalaska dance some weeks ago, declined to plead when arraigned yesterday before Judge Reynolds in the superior court. Smith will be tried in January. Lloyd Dysart being appointed by the court to defend him.

Larceny of Truck Charged.

MONTESANO, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Tony Cortis, alias Clarence McLain, was arrested in Tacoma Saturday and has been returned to Grays Harbor county to face a charge of larceny of a truck valued at $1250.

FARM LOANS INADEQUATE

NORTHWEST SENATORS DESIRE FREER FLOW OF MONEY.

Funds Tied Up in Spokane Bank Held Needed for Industry of Agriculturists.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—An appeal will be made to the president tomorrow by Senators McNary of Oregon and Gooding of Idaho to use his influence to secure a greater flow of money from the Spokane farm loan bank for farmers in the four states of the 12th district—Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. The recent announcement of D. G. O'Shea, president of the Spokane bank that $1,000,000 a month had been made available for the four states, is not satisfactory to Senator Gooding, who is chairman of the western farm bloc in the senate. Mr. Gooding says that $250,000 a month in each of the four northwest states is wholly inadequate to meet current needs, and he feels that is now being loaned in those states. Senator Stanfield, however, on the other hand disagrees with Senator Gooding, declaring that the amount suggested is much more than the northwest states are now receiving. A number of farmers are required to meet all legitimate needs.

CHRISTMAS AID PLANNED

Needy Families of Grays Harbor County to Receive Cheer.

MONTESANO, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Plans have been made to provide every needy family in Grays Harbor county with a Christmas basket of food and presents. Rev. Charles McDermond, charity commissioner, believes that none will be overlooked. In Aberdeen the relief work will be handled by the Pythian sisters, and a Christmas tree for the younger folk will be arranged by the Community Service girls. In Montesano, Mayor Jacka and Public Chief Thompson have been provided with lists of needy families and they will see that baskets are delivered. Dr. Haxmon, superintendent of the county sanatorium, will have the assistance of Elma citizens in caring for the poor among his patients.

UNION TILL IS ROBBED

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Between $400 and $500 belonging to the local carpenters' union was stolen from the cigar box till about 6 o'clock Sunday night when two thugs knocked Harry Gibson, secretary of the union, unconscious as he started to lock the till, 405 East Washkah street, for the night. The union has a co-operative marketing plan for foodstuffs and the money was the proceeds from these sales. Mr. Gibson said that the till apparently was deserted when he started to lock the rear door. Behind the other struck him over the head with a stick of wood. It is believed they then went to the front of the hall and took the money from the till. Other members of the union, returning to accompany Mr. Gibson home, found him apparently dead, where he had been killed. No description of the thugs was obtained.

RAIL CUT IS FOR MONTH

Reduction of Milwaukee Forces Affects Only December.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Orders from Chicago headquarters to cut down shop and clerical forces at various divisions and terminal points, including Tacoma, applies to December only and means the effecting of savings where possible for the current month only. Frank C. Dow, superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad at Tacoma, explained today. A dispatch from Chicago gave the impression that the reduction in forces would extend indefinitely.

Elks Prepare for Christmas.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—George R. Walker, chairman of the Christmas cheer committee of Chehalis lodge of Elks, has converted his office into a headquarters for Santa Claus. Candles, nuts and goodies of all kinds that will gladden the hearts of children all over the district embraced in the jurisdiction of the Chehalis lodge, extending into Pacific county on the west, Cowlitz on the south, and extreme eastern Lewis county, are on hand. Sub-committees in every part of the district have sent in the names of worthy little folk to whom, without the Elks, Christmas would be shy much of the happiness of childhood, and all these and others will be remembered at the week-end by the "Best People on Earth."

School Meeting December 27.

MONTESANO, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—There will be a meeting of school directors of Grays Harbor county at the county superintendent's office in Montesano December 27, to hear lectures by Mrs. Josephine Pres-
