

OLD AUTOS TO GET $100 FOR PARADING

Show Plan Is Announced by Association Secretary.

MOTOR DEALERS ARRIVE

Vanguard of Visitors to Exhibition to Be Held Here Next Week Report in City.

Portland owners of automobiles which are such wrecks that they are on the point of being consigned to the garbage can or the ash heap may find a better use for the cars, judging from an announcement made by the Portland Automobile Dealers' association last night that the association would distribute $100 in cash prizes to the best, or perhaps it should be worst, entries in the old-timer parade Tuesday noon. The parade will be one of the big features of the annual automobile show, which opens Monday at the municipal auditorium, and will continue throughout the week.

"We want all the oldest and most battered cars in Portland, which nevertheless are capable of running on their own power, out for that parade," announced Ralph J. Staudt, secretary of the dealers' association, following the meeting of the board of directors yesterday at which the $100 was voted for cash prizes.

Age Big Factor. "The directors of the automobile association will name judges to inspect the different cars entered and to pin on the winning ribbons. Just what factors will be taken into account in judging the winners have not been determined. However, the actual age of the car, the number of miles it has gone, when these figures are known, its appearance, and how generally decrepit and ready to fall to pieces it is will all be considered."

Entrants to the parade are asked to form in line on Third street in front of the municipal auditorium between 11:30 and 12 o'clock on Tuesday. After the line is formed the cars will parade through the business district and return to the auditorium, where they will be inspected by the judges and the cash prizes given out. Leaders in the motor field from outside of Portland are already beginning to arrive for the big event, and when the doors open Monday morning a considerable number of dealers and others in the automobile industry from all over Oregon, from Puget sound points and from California are expected to be here.

Auto Editor Arrives. Among the arrivals yesterday was George M. Schell, president and managing editor of Motor West, a prominent Pacific coast motor publication issued at Los Angeles. Mr. Schell is here to personally direct a large booth which the publication will have at the accessories exhibit in the balcony.

A delegation of Seattle dealers and accessory men are due in Portland today, according to a telephone message received by Mr. Staehl yesterday from Kenneth McAlpin, president of the Automobile Dealers' association of Seattle, who is heading the party. McAlpin said that the Seattleites would make the trip by automobile and that they would stop at Centralia, Chehalis and other points along the way to confer with automobile dealers and urge them to attend the Portland event. Several members of the Seattle party are accessory dealers who are bringing down equipment for displays at the show.

Exhibits Are Shown. Attendants at the recent city ball and at other functions in the municipal auditorium this week, were given an opportunity to glimpse a small part of the decorative scheme being installed for the auto show. A number of the panels already were in place, and attracted favorable comment. What has been seen to date is not even a good introduction to the completed project, however, according to the dealers, who declared that from the standpoint of beauty and coloring the decorations this year will exceed anything thus far provided at the auditorium. All the decorative panels have now been completed and are being installed. The entire decoration of the building will be finished Sunday, so that cars may be installed in the building and all preliminary work brought to a close before the show opens Monday morning.

Fines Pay Sheriff's Expenses. ST. HELENS, Or., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—If the moonshiners and bootleggers had all paid their fines in cash instead of serving time in jail, entire operating expense of the office of Sheriff Wellington for 1921 would have more than been paid. During the year the sheriff and his deputies arrested 53 persons for violation of the prohibition laws and there were but three acquittals. The total of fines imposed amounted to $3879, and of this amount $7120 was paid in cash and $2710 served out in jail sentences. The operating expense of the sheriff's office was $2845 and the total fines and fees collected and turned over to the treasurer amounted to approximately $16,000.

Library Project Launched. CENTRALIA, Wash., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—A project to establish a public library in Le Ell was launched at a meeting held there Tuesday night, at which a voluntary subscription netted a neat sum as the foundation for a library fund. A committee, of which Mrs. Alfred Perks is chairman, was appointed to canvass the situation and report at a meeting on January 31.
