Another source of trouble, according to Mr. Notice, was the fact that Dr. Anderson and some of the other members of the expedition were in the impression there were two distinct expeditions and that Dr. Anderson was in charge of the southern branch, while Mr. Notice's understanding appeared to be that Stefansson was in complete charge of the whole expedition.

After the Karluk was lost in the Arctic ocean in the early winter of 1912, Stefansson went to the Anderson ship, the Alaska, which was then at Detachment Point, to obtain supplies and assistance for making a sled trip across the Beaufort sea.

While no definite announcement has yet been made, it was understood that sufficient berry acreage had been signed to warrant the operation of a station.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER Now Can Do All Her Household Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her. Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other remedies, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone before my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." Mrs. J. E. Peterson, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.
