

RULE FOR CLERKS' OVERTIME IS FIXED

Rail Board Grants Extra Pay After 9 Hours.

SCHEDULE EFFECTIVE FEB. 1

Road Members in Minority Report Oppose Action.

OLD AGREEMENT IS NULL

National Pact of Federal Control Is Supplanted—'Split Tricks' Authorized.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Although opposed by the three railroad members of the railroad labor board, provision for time and a half pay after nine hours of work was retained in rules governing railway clerks, issued today by the board, which also authorized an eight-hour day within a spread of 12 hours. The new rules became effective February 1.

The railroad members issued a dissenting opinion, declaring that punitive overtime within 10 hours was "unjust, unfair, unreasonable and an economic condition."

The new rules supplant the national agreement of federal control, which has been in effect pending negotiations of the new agreement.

Limit Put on Overtime.

Abolition of period overtime payments until after the ninth hour of work and authorization of "split tricks" instead of compelling overtime payments or two shifts for intermittent work over a span of more than eight hours were important changes.

Through elimination of time and one-half pay for the ninth hour of work, the railroads are expected to save thousands of dollars, although no estimate of the amount is available. The principle, however, as were collective bargaining and union recognition. The new rules cover all points in clerical working agreements not covered by rules negotiated between individual roads and their employees.

Time and one-half pay now applies only to the tenth hour of work or thereafter, and to hours worked if held on duty more than two hours when called for extra work. Sunday and holiday pay will be paid at straight time, except where the railroad agrees to do otherwise.

Small Stations to Reopen.

Reopening of many small railway stations, improvement of service to small towns and on suburban lines is expected to follow the adoption of the new rule as to intermittent work. It will now be possible for the railroads to place responsible employees at the smaller stations at all train hours without the expense which they claim now is prohibitive, and which has resulted in the closing of many stations and the handing of extra work over to caretakers and janitors at some hours of the day.

The new rule announced by the board provides that where actual service is intermittent, eight hours actual time on duty within a spread of 12 hours shall constitute a day's work. When employees actually work more than eight hours within the span or when held longer than 12 hours to perform their work, they are to be paid time and one-half for the extra time.

Old System Is Killed.

Under the old national agreement, an employe receives overtime pay after expiration of eight hours of work at the time he first went on duty, although he may have had several hours of idleness due to the fact that there was no train service nor any other duties to perform.

Changes that employes actually performed or performed other work for themselves in such intervals have been one of the outstanding features of the criticism leveled at railroad conditions under federal control. Where all the work at a station due to the arrival and departure of trains only in the morning and evening comes within a spread of 12 hours, such an employe under the new rule would work in the morning, be released in the middle of the day without pay and report in the afternoon for the remainder of the day's work. Under the old rule he was paid overtime for the evening work or two shifts employed, which later was generally done.

The new rule will also allow the railroads at larger terminals where the arrival and departure of trains is bunched, to employ baggagemen, train announcers, gatemen, train and engine crew callers and employes in similar positions on split tricks instead of having to maintain two shifts.

Sick Leave Up to Each Side.

The new code leaves the matter of sick leave and vacations for employes up to the men and the managements entirely. Under the national agreement there was no rule securing these advantages for the employes, previous practice being continued.

The board extended the time allowed for investigation of complaints of employes claiming to have been unjustly dismissed from service from seven days to ten days. Under the new rules, meal period worked shall be considered on Page 2, Column 2.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The decapitated bodies of Mrs. Margaret Tierney, 36, and her 3-year-old son, Ralph, today were found in their home, brutally murdered with a hatchet, which was found nearby. The room had been tightly closed and the gas turned on, but the coroner said there was no doubt that both were dead long before the murder was committed. Tierney late tonight went to police headquarters and surrendered. Police said he confessed he killed Mrs. Tierney and baby Ralph. He said, according to the police, that he spent his last 80 cents for the hatchet with which the two were killed, and that his reasons were jealousy, inability to support his family and jealousy of Mrs. Tierney.

William Brennan, landlord of the building in which the Tierneys lived, told the police Tierney several times had threatened Mrs. Tierney. San Francisco police have been asked to look up relations of Tierney at 10 Vicksburg street.

BEND, Or., Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lawrence Miles of this city was slugged on her way home last night by an unidentified man who fled when the woman's screams seemed likely to attract attention. Bleeding from a cut under the right eye, Mrs. Miles was able to make her way to her home, only a block away. Her husband called the police and a surgeon to relieve the cuts.

The description Mrs. Miles was able to give was vague and no arrests were made. She had heard the man's footsteps for some time, she said, and as he neared she slackened her pace and stepped to one side, thinking he desired to pass. Instead he struck viciously, knocking her prostrate on the snow.

CHEST CAMPAIGN FORCES TO MASS

General Smith to Devote One Week to Drills.

STRATEGY TO BE PLANNED

White Temple Will Be Scene of Big Kick-Off Rally.

FLYING SQUADRON READY

Preliminary Campaign for Large Subscriptions Will Precede Opening Next Monday.

VOLUNTEER WORKERS NEEDED

Before the Community Chest campaign committee can function efficiently, a great number of cards used in handling detail work must be sorted and a staff to do this is lacking. General Robert E. Smith yesterday issued a call for help and he urges that all who can spare some time to this task report to Mr. Gleason in the registration department of the county clerk's office at the courthouse this morning at 9 o'clock. Even a few hours' work will be appreciated and both men and women can be used to advantage.

With just one week to go before he asks his brigadiers and colonels, "Are you ready?" General Robert E. Smith, commander in chief of the community chest campaign, is ironing out the few remaining wrinkles in his war maps and developing strategy.

Brigadiers, colonels and captains right now feel they are trained to the point where they can go out and win. Two brigadier-generals, in particular, are ready to go. They want to "hit it" in action and "clean up" their sectors quickly, feeling they have had enough drilling. General Smith has sent out the curt order, "Steady," to these officers.

He is going to drill them some more—all this week in fact—and when "Forward" is sounded, nothing will be left to chance—there will be no loose ends whipping around to trip the campaign up and throw it by the heels.

"It was that drunken road that whipped Napoleon," General Smith was heard muttering the other night. "It was a small and insignificant thing, but it proved fatal because it was unexpected. What we need is preparation and then some more of the same."

FIRST CHEST DOLLAR HAS BIT OF HISTORY

COIN REMINDER OF WOMAN'S FORGETFULNESS.

Bit of Silver for Year Concealed in Secret Drawer of Desk and Just Discovered.

The first dollar to fill the Community Chest has been turned in. That leaves only $798,776 to be collected.

It would make a pretty story if this lonesome dollar were a widow's mite, contributed hopefully with the thought that it would inspire thousands of others to give for the aid of Portland's unfortunate.

The truth must be told. This dollar is a monument to woman's forgetfulness, for it was given in last year's drive and was turned in last week by a worker who brought it to Mrs. C. B. Simmons, head of the residence division, and it will be credited to this year's campaign.

The woman worker of last year found the dollar after it had lain hidden in a desk drawer since the last drive. She brought it to headquarters at once and told the story of how a secret drawer in her desk had tricked her.

This is an artistic bit of furniture of a far-off French period. A distinctive feature of the desk is its secret drawer that once it is hinted, held court jewels and court secrets. The drawer opens only a little way when a certain place on the desk, known only to its owner, is pressed. Then one reaches in, exploring with one's fingers, to find what the mysterious recess contains.

The desk owner cleaned it out the other day, and in the secret drawer was the lonesome dollar.

The women's division for the coming Community Chest drive will hold a big "get-together" luncheon and rally Wednesday noon in the Arcadian grill of Multnomah hotel. All colonels, captains and lieutenants will be in attendance. It is estimated that close to 2000 women will be there.

$275,000 BONDS FOUND

Securities in Detroit Thought Part of Los Angeles Mail Loot.

The bonds were found, it was said, in a house, the occupants of which were not aware of their nature or value, the securities having been left in a package for safekeeping.

No arrests had been made here and none was likely to be made, it was said. Search for the bonds was carried on by postal inspectors and police who worked on information from Los Angeles.

MOTHER OF 4 KILLED IN FALL ON SIDEWALK

WOMAN, STARTING TO CHURCH, SLIPS NEAR HOME.

Death of Mrs. Guifo May Have Been Due to Shock; Evidence of Skull Fracture Not Found.

Mrs. Mary Guifo, aged 30, and mother of four small children, was accidentally killed yesterday morning when she slipped and fell on the sidewalk in front of her home, 1164 East Twelfth street North. She was dead when her husband hurried from the house and lifted her from the walk.

Mrs. Guifo was just starting to church with one of her children when her feet slipped from under her on the damp cement walk which led from the house to the street.

The body was removed to the morgue, where it was announced there probably would be no inquest. Whether the unfortunate woman suffered a skull fracture or some other injury will not be known until a post-mortem examination is held. There was no evidence of a fractured skull, it was said at the coroner's office, and death may have been due to shock.

WOMAN KILLED IN FALL

Mrs. F. A. Sherwood of Berkeley, Cal., Drops 19 Stories.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Mrs. F. A. Sherwood of Berkeley, Cal., was killed today when she plunged from the window of her room on the nineteenth floor of the hotel Commodore, her body striking on the roof of a court where scores of persons were at tea. She had been a patron at the hotel since early in January, 1920, but little was known of her there. She was about 55 years old and was said to be the mother of several children.

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 22.—Friends and children of Mrs. F. A. Sherwood, reported killed in New York, expressed the belief tonight that she died an accidental death. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Philip Valentine of Oakland, Cal.; Katherine Sherwood, attending the University of California; Agnes Sherwood, attending Wellesley college, and a son, Raymond Sherwood, attending high school in Oakland.

The Sacred Congregation convened this morning when the cardinals were informed of the pope's death. With the exception of Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, they gathered in the pontiff's private apartments. Gasparri, in due and solemn form, escorted by the Swiss guard in full dress and accompanied by the prelates and acolytes of the reverend apostolic chamber, entered the apartments a few minutes later. He will administer the holy see during the interregnum.

Death Officially Announced.

Cardinal Gasparri, surrounded by the cardinals, then proceeded to verify the death of Benedict, extending over the lifeless form a silver wand and crying out: "Giacomo! Giacomo! Giacomo!"

He opened the certificate of death and declared: "Dominus papa noster mortuus est," thus announcing officially the pope's death.

On leaving the pontifical chambers, Cardinal Gasparri, still escorted by the Swiss guard, descended to the first floor, where the sacred congregation convened, commencing its deliberations at 10 o'clock.

The official and semi-official Vatican organs gave 6 o'clock as the time of the pope's death and the Rome newspapers did likewise.

Last Moments Described.

Cardinal Pizzardo, in describing the last moments, said to the Associated Press correspondent who was the only American newspaper representative admitted to the ante-chamber: "When the end was near I was called from my chamber and hurried quickly to the pontiff's bedroom. That was a few minutes before 6 o'clock. I saw the holy father breathe his last. As the other prelates knelt beside the silent and lifeless form, I asked that I might tell the news to the press. I thereupon hurried to the ante-chamber, where several newspaper men were waiting events, and announced that the pope had died."

Bells Toll Pope's Passing.

The cardinal was asked at what hour death had occurred and he replied: "Exactly at this minute."

At this moment the ponderous bells of St. Peter's began tolling six times, one by one, the bells in Rome's 400 churches joined in the horologic symphony that marked the passing of the pope.

The end came after an anxious night of intense agony and suffering, the pontiff now in the lapsing into delirium. Shortly before midnight he took a little nourishment, which seemed momentarily to revive his spirits, but within an hour he began to sink rapidly. At 1:15 o'clock Dr. Battistini told the Associated Press correspondent the end was approaching, that already his hands and nose felt cold.

Breathing Becomes Hard.

From that period the pope neared the end. Breathing became an agonizing task, as the pontiff, who had resisted the severe lung and throat congestion, was too weak to overcome the overwhelming attack. His eyes were half closed as he lapsed into unconsciousness, while the terrible mastery which pneumonia had won over the holy father's dogged resistance now began its rapid extinction of his slender hold on life.

Late Pope Is Arrayed in Full Canonicals.

DEATH IS DESCRIBED

Cardinal Gasparri Declares End Came After Night of Intense Agony and Suffering.

ROME, Jan. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Arrayed in full canonicals, with golden mitre, gloves and ring, the body of Benedict XV today lay in state in the throne room, on the floor immediately below the apartment in which he died.

For many hours today to the room where he had made his fight for life, came a stream of officials, the representatives of foreign nations, high prelates and others. Then, late in the afternoon, in gorgeous procession composed of palatine guards, gentlemen, the Swiss guard, secret chamberlains and honorary chamberlains, the body was solemnly transported down the royal staircase, through Clementine hall, into the throne room, where it was placed on a raised catafalque, before which the whole diplomatic corps paid devout reverence.

Abolition Is Given.

The Sacristian Zampini gave absolute, and the cardinals sprinkled holy water, while the penitentiaries chanted prayers, answered by the kneeling onlookers. Immediately attending Wellesley colleges, and a son, Raymond Sherwood, attending high school in Oakland.

GOLD REDISTRIBUTION FAVORED BY AMERICA

HIGH PREMIUM ON U. S. EXCHANGE REGRETTED.

United States Feels That Surplus Stocks Should Be Invested in Foreign Channels.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—The United States feels it to be to its own interest that the surplus stocks of gold in the country should be redistributed and utilized in investment in foreign channels, according to a statement on the effect of exchange of inter-American commerce made public tonight by the United States section of the Inter-American high commission.

The statement expressed the views of the American section on the international gold situation for the information of the Latin-American sections of the commission.

The American section in its statement discussed the exchange situation from the European standpoint as well as from the inter-American and United States standpoint. In this country the statement declared that the situation is unfortunate because the high premium on American exchange has attracted the gold flow of the world, resulting in overstocking and a surplus earning of interest and serving no useful purpose.

Man Lives in Times of Every President Except Washington.

BUREKA, Kan., Jan. 22.—George A. Gordon, who has lived in the lifetime of every president of the United States except Washington, was 101 years old today.

"But," he asserted, "there are some present day systems of which I do not approve. I refer to style of women's dress—short skirts, low necked dresses; also the bobbed hair fad. Perhaps more than anything else I deplore the growing lack of observance of the Sabbath."

Mr. Gordon lost two sons in the civil war. Mrs. Hyacinth B. Hart of Seattle, Wash., is one of his six living daughters.

TREATY HELD MISTREATED

Pact Declared Ignored by One Party, Mutilated by Another. France Must Depend on Self.

France gladly bares her budget figures for the benefit of Senator McCormick and his associates in the United States senate. Only 9 per cent of her expenditures go to the military and more than 30 per cent go to pay interest on money borrowed to reconstruct the devastated districts and pay the claims of war widows, orphans and invalids—all of which Germany was condemned to pay, but has not paid.

Mr. Tardieu, right-hand man of Clemenceau, who has held a cabinet post since the war, declared that the treaty of Versailles was a "mistake" which he would like to see corrected. He said that the treaty was a "mistake" which he would like to see corrected.
