MINING MAN ACCUSED OF OBTAINING MONEY BY FALSE PRETENSES CHARGED.

W. H. W. Hamilton of Baker Said to Have Made Secret Profits in Dealings.

BAKER, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special).—W. H. W. Hamilton, mining engineer and prominent Baker man, was accused of obtaining money fraudulently from eastern capitalists to pay for certain mining claims located near Sumpter in an answer filed in the circuit court Monday by the Hamilton Mammoth Mines company to the complaint filed by Hamilton. William Smith is attorney for Mr. Hamilton, who is understood to be absent from the city.

It was alleged in the answer that Mr. Hamilton, while on an eastern visit, represented to interested persons that he had purchased the Bell Baker, Red Fox and Mammoth mining claims located near Sumpter at a cost of $75,000 in 1918, and that since the purchase he had paid to local banks, which were holding deeds in escrow, $40,000. The answer alleged that eastern capital was by fraud induced to pay Hamilton more than $22,000 to meet the balance of the purchase price and that from this sum, it was alleged, that Hamilton secretly resold back to the owners more than $15,000.

The answer, which in addition set forth the alleged relationship of Hamilton to the defendant corporation and also that I. L. Currier of Boston, who is now suing the corporation for money loaned, was and is a co-conspirator with Hamilton in the alleged fraud.

The prayer for relief showed seven causes, among them being the order to restrain Hamilton from disposing of bonds and stock which were said to total $443,000, and the further prayer that Hamilton be ordered to account for his alleged secret profits.

Leo B. Connolly, attorney of Boston, counsel for the Hamilton Mammoth Mines, Inc., arrived in Baker yesterday and last night said that he will immediately arrange for conference with the company's local attorney, William Smith, and arrange the details of starting suits on behalf of the company in the local courts.

SAFE CRACKERS FOILED

Efforts to Break into Depository of Auto Company Fails.

Unsuccessful in their efforts to break into the safe of the Billingsley Auto company, East Eighth street and Hawthorne avenue, early yesterday morning, yeggmen, believed to have been amateurs, both at safe-cracking and in the handling of the message, "To hell," on the inner door of the safe and left without obtaining any loot.

The yeggs had succeeded in working the combination of the outer door of the safe, but the inner door resisted their battering with sledge and other heavy instruments, and after penning their brief but meaning note, gave up.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special).—A new grand jury was drawn in the circuit court here today. The jury will serve until after the March term of court, when the grand jury will be Gooding, farmer, St. Paul; Frank Butsch, farmer, Mount Angel; C. P. Hoover, clerk, Seaside; Bert Seitzinger, farmer, Mill City; H. J. Beardesley, farmer, Chemawa; S. A. Minner, laborer, Salem, and J. S. Richie, retired, Scotts Mills.

Do you dare make pie for company?

YOU should know that good pie crust, every time, is not a matter of "luck." It comes from knowing the right kinds and proportions of shortening and flour, the amount of water to use, and the proper method of baking. Poor shortening, too little shortening, too much water, or too much handling makes pie crust tough; bread flour absorbs too much water; too cool an oven permits the filling to soak into the crust.

Good cooks prefer Crisco for pastry because it is the richest shortening that can be made; because it is a pure, wholesome, vegetable product; and because it is tasteless, thereby permitting the full, natural flavors of the pie filling to prevail, unspoiled by any greasy taste in the crust.

CRANBERRY TART

Spread a round of flaky paste over an inverted pie plate, prick the paste with a fork, here and there, over the sides as well as the top. Bake until done. Remove the paste from the plate, wash the plate and set the pastry inside. Turn a cooked filling into the pastry shell and set figures, cut from pastry and baked, above the filling.

COOKED CRANBERRY FILLING

2 level tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoonful salt (scant)
1 cupful sugar
1 cupful boiling water
3/4 cupful molasses
1 teaspoonful Crisco
2 cupfuls chopped cranberries

Sift together the cornstarch, salt and sugar, pour on the boiling water and stir until boiling; add the other ingredients and let simmer fifteen minutes.

FLAKE PASTRY

2 cupfuls flour
8 tablespoonfuls Crisco
1/4 teaspoonful salt

Just enough cold water to hold dough together

Sift flour and salt and cut half the Crisco into flour with knife, until it is finely divided. The finger tips may be used to finish blending material. Then add water sparingly, mixing it with knife through dry materials. Form with the hand into dough and roll out on a floured board to quarter inch thickness. Spread one-third of remaining Crisco on two-thirds of dough nearest you; fold twice, to make three layers, folding in first that part on which Crisco has not been spread. Turn dough, putting folded edges to the sides; roll out, spread and fold as before. Repeat once more. Use a light motion in handling rolling-pin, and roll from center outward. Should Crisco be too hard, it will not mix readily with flour, in which case the result will be a tough crust. Sufficient for two covered pies.

Household Problems

by Lillian Tingle

Madam Tingle—Would you please suggest a menu for an evening bridge party for about 30 women, mostly as to salad and dessert, as I expect to serve chicken in some way. Thanking you very much.
MRS. W. R. L.

You do not say what form of service you have in mind or how much help is available. Why not serve your chicken in the form of a substantial salad with chopped celery and with or without chopped olives and nuts?

Washington salad—Serve this with especially good hot rolls and coffee and follow with either ice cream or Bavarian cream with or without homemade French pastries (if you have the skill and the time) without ice cream. This type of lunch makes for ease and smoothness of service.

If you want a more elaborate meal you could serve a fruit cocktail or cups of bouillon before the chicken salad.

If you prefer to serve the chicken in some other form probably a simple fruit salad might follow it and you could then simplify the dessert; but the chicken salad plan would enable you to have everything ready in advance.

Following are recipes for devil's food and cheese fondu, contributed by correspondents which I hope may be the recipe desired by "Requirer."

Devil food—1/4 cup of brown sugar, 1 cup of chocolate, 1 cup of milk, 1 cup of melted butter, 1/2 cup of all in a double boiler and stir till creamy, let it cool and set into 1/2 cup of flour, 1/2 teaspoon of baking powder, 1/2 cup of milk, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla.

Using—the cup of powdered sugar, butter, etc. of an egg; 3/4 cup of milk. Boil ten minutes and beat till thick. Flavor with 1/2 teaspoonful vanilla.

Cheese Fondue (Mrs. M. R. S.)—Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk (or cream), 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, salt and pepper to taste. Melt the butter, stir in flour and mix well; add 1 cup milk (or cream), stir continuously until it cooks and becomes quite thick. Take from the fire. Add yolks of 3 eggs, mix thoroughly, then add 2 tablespoons grated cheese, salt and pepper to taste. Beat the whites of the eggs in a stiff dry froth, add carefully to the mixture. Turn into greased soufflé dishes (or small baking pan) and bake for 10 to 20 minutes.

Women's Activities

Short in three pieces; dress skirt 1 yard wide, four-inch hem at bottom a trifle soiled. Would like to have a dress that would be like the church one, but I don't go home to dinner with friends. I am 60 years old, 38-inch bust, yet I look like a black bird, but I do like black.

Mrs. H. M. W. Graham, Or.—If your jacket has no under seam you can have the long wanted type of blouse with a vest of tricotine and widen your sleeves with the portion of the jacket skirt which you will not need. The lower half of sleeve can be of the new material. When the skirt by having the front and back of tricotine, bringing the hand effect to the front and back of skirt. It will in shape resemble a T turned upside down. An all-over design, done in the black sateen, which should find place wherever the tricotine is used, will add greatly to the general line of your dress.

Berling, Or., Jan. 16.—Dear Madam Rachel: May I have your valued advice for a dress I wish to make for my 18-year-old daughter? The dress is 28-30 inches long and 24 inches wide. I think that what is enough material for front and back like insetted picture. What material and color, what I combine with it for skirt, sides, sleeves and collar? I do not change the neck to the boat line and dispose with vest, as it would be most becoming style for her? She is tall and slender with brown hair, brown-brown eyes and good color. What color embroidery shall I use? I also have a piece of the same material that is 28 inches long and 28 inches wide which I thought of using as a cape effect from shoulders in back and front that is superfluous.

Your column is of great interest and benefit, and any advice will be greatly appreciated by, sincerely yours, J. J.

Mrs. M. J. Borling, Or.—The type of dress is good and will seem more youthful if combined with jade green and white or the paprika shade of taffeta. There are many attractive foulards with which it could likewise be happily combined, I too, favor the boat-neck and less vest. This type of dress is hardly suited to the cape back and I would not advise using. Embroider the dress as per sketch, using the matching blue in furrows, and here and there a cluster of beads matching the waist, jade or paprika.

Portland, Jan. 17.—Dear Madam Rachel: I am making a dress of soft silk with overskirt and tuxedo front, and wonder if you might not help me a little.

What would be nice for a vest? I am tired of moccas and would like a grade about four or five inches wide. Would that be suitable? Should I get a giraffe form and dress suit over that? If not, what would you suggest? I am also planning a dress for afternoon wear and thought of Canton crepe in blue or black. Would you please suggest some way to make it?

I am rather stout, have blue eyes and dark hair and plenty of color. Height about 5 feet 6 inches. What other color could I wear? Thanking you very, very much and waiting an early reply.
REBECCA.

Rebecca.—The finely pleated net or batiste is always happily combined with a silk dress, the shades to be used depending upon the color of your material.

The wide form-covered giraffe ending in the long and ever-green line which is finished with a tasseled fringe, wooden beads, Chinese beads or metal spangles.

As Shelley wrote, "Oh, wind, if winter comes can spring be far behind?" seems in keeping regarding the black or blue Canton. Have the blue with spring not "far behind" and in the Pictorial Review for February you will find an excellent style of dress for one of your figure. The entire dress can be of the Canton crepe or the sleeves and front can be made of georgette in the same or contrasting color. Trim with the ball fringe or china beads.

The number of dress will be found 3822, the skirt to be as shown.

GRRESHAM, Or., Jan. 18.—Dear Madam Rachel: I enjoy reading your "problems of dressmaking" in The Oregonian. I have a black suit, coat something like picture, Railroad to Reinforce Structures Between Corvallis and Eugene.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 29.—(Special).—All the bridges on the west-side branch of the Southern Pacific railway between Corvallis and Eugene are to be reinforced at once, according to an announcement of railway men here. A work train is now stationed at

That's the first question a maid asks when you engage her. And you have learned that you can get a better maid if she does not have this trying work to do.
