Judge for themselves whether it would be advisable to go through with the bout Friday.

Joe Weiling, who made the trip from New York to battle Harper, arrived in Portland yesterday morning. He did not take kindly to postponement of the bout, as he has other matches in prospect in the east and does not care to waste any time on the coast. Weiling is awaiting a telegram from his manager. Tommy Waish, who is in Chicago, before he will give his consent to the postponement.

The bout was originally postponed from Tuesday of this week to Friday on account of a recent ruling of the Portland. Recum games from Tuesday of this week to Friday of the Dout. raking the ground that such a series of matches would prove beneficial to women's tennis throughout the world, President Julian S. Myrick of the United States Lawn Tennis asseciation has sent a letter to M. Gallay, secretary of the International Laws. Tennis defeating, requesting Lawn Tennis federation, requesting that the matter be laid before the delegates attending the federation's next annual meeting. Mr. Myrick points out that when the matter was first considered it was suggested that the regulations governing the considered parallel more or less closely those for the Davis cup tournaments. He states now that discussion with representatives of other national associations has led to the opinion that representatives of other national associations has led to the opinion that it may be desirable ta make the rules more classic. Accordingly, a suggested plan of competition has been drawn up. This is set forth in the following five paragraphs:

1. Representatives of any nation or of any recognized semi-independent section of a nation (such as Canada or Australia, etc.) are eligible to compete.

2. The nation whose representative has won the traphy shall be the champion nation and shall have possession of the trophy while it is the champion nation.
