

IDAHO LEADING TWO CONFERENCES

Washington State Games to Decide First Place.

HARD BATTLE IS CERTAIN

University of Washington and Oregon Aggies Will Fight for Second Honors.

Northwest Conference Basketball Standings table with columns for team, W, L, Pct.

WHITMAN COLLEGE, WALLA WALLA, WASH., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—With the University of Idaho Vandals now leading both the Northwest and Pacific Coast conference as a result of taking two games from the University of Washington last week at Moscow, play Friday and Saturday of this week between the Oregon Aggies and Washington will decide second place in both standings, while play between Idaho and Washington State next Monday and Tuesday will decide first place. Idaho must take both games to maintain her lead, and when these two teams mix there is no love.

Aggies to Meet Washington.

The Oregon Aggies meet Washington in Seattle Friday and Saturday in a two-game series that should be fast and close. The Aggies have been in good form throughout the season, and while they dropped two games to Washington last week at Moscow, they have since won two games at Corvallis, they lost by only one and four points. While the Aggies are playing the Huskies the Whitman Missionaries will journey to Moscow, where Whitman plays Idaho a return series of two games Friday and Saturday. Idaho then has two more games with Washington State, while O. A. C., Washington and Montana are through.

Oregon and Willamette have a two-game series with each other, which will settle the Northwest conference cellar championship.

The one regrettable feature of the season's play has been Idaho's not meeting the Oregon Aggies, while they play no games with Washington at Washington. However, Idaho's best dates to both colleges but the offers were declined.

Cougars Dash Hopes.

Washington State sprung the surprise last week-end by defeating the highly touted Washington 30 to 20, at Pullman, after having lost the first game, 41 to 22. Whatever hopes Washington still had of at least tying for the championship, after losing to Idaho, were dashed by their old rivals the Cougars, and in no uncertain manner, Washington also slipped into third place, while O. A. C. took second place by defeating Willamette in two games, 27 to 15 and 44 to 25.

Whitman is still in fourth place, despite her two losses to Idaho here this week, 23 to 19 and 25 to 23. In both games the Missionaries were crippled by the flu, only one regular starting in the contests. Captain Rich, N. Penrose, Knudson and Gursan, both forwards, a guard and a center, being on the sidelines. Chandler was the only regular. Her distinguished debut by holding Al Fox, Idaho forward, who is leading the Northwest conference in individual scoring records, to one field basket the first game and to two in the second.
