closed sample for waist. What could I trim with to brighten it some, as I have a color and not a very good complexion. Also have a navy blue serge suit, very old style, but little worn.

Your founard will combine with an oyster white Canton crepe and will make up into a very attractive dress. In the March Elite is shown a model which will give the line of your body to build. Use your foulard for the waist and a wider sash panel and the skirt will be the line of your body. I would have more closely fitted and edged with the frill of the foulard. Trim the tucks of the skirt in the same manner. This will make a stunning frock.

Trim your waist with the rope silk, which is the color of the gray and will give you the color you wish. A touch of black is, I think, a welcome touch.

The March Elite is on page 21, No. 1192D, an outline for the suit made into a dress. Remove the box pleats and arrange the skirt in a panel of box pleats follow the set on embroidered piece at the side. Use the black, tan and Harding blue "dub of paprika" here and there, using the rope silk or the souchaie braids. Set in a front if you must, but keep to the line.

VICTIM'S FUNERAL HELD
Death of F. M. Sherman, Lebanon, Attributed to Despondency.
LEBANON, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—The funeral of F. M. Sherman, who was killed at his home near this city Saturday afternoon, was held at 11 A. M. in the church of this city, this afternoon. No coroner's inquest was held over the death, as the circumstances warranting an official examination. Mr. Sherman had been dependent for several days on account of ill health. He had consulted a specialist several days ago regarding an infection of his throat, and it was pronounced possibly a cancer, and this had much depressed him. He had several times said that he regretted his condition of health.

Circumstances surrounding the shooting have dispelled the theory that he was shot at the table. He was evidently in or near the door when he was shot and fell out into the yard.

Lumberman May Seek Senate.
EUGENE, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—J. S. Maglady, lumberman of this city, who operates a mill at Row River, above Cottage Grove, has announced that he may be a candidate for the republican nomination for state senator from Lane county. He is expected to make a definite announcement within a few days. Mr. Maglady's name has been discussed for some time, the sentiment favoring him seeming to have originated in the southern part of the county, which has had no representative in this legislature for several years and where he has his business interests.

Hay for Sheep Short.
HEPPNER, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—Weather conditions continue unpropitious for the raising of sheep. The local hay stock is practically exhausted and some stockmen have been forced to ship in a supply from the outside. The lambing season is on and fresh grass is needed for the ewe bands. W. W. Stabler of Portland, who has been buying sheep here, sent out 12 cars of 2-year-old ewes this morning to the Chicago market. He paid from $5.50 to $6.75 a head.

New Traffic Officer Appointed.
ST. HELENS, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—Sheriff Wellington has appointed Walter Hadfield as county traffic officer to succeed I. H. Abbott, resigned, and he has assumed his duties. Officer Hadfield has been connected with the Portland traffic department and is a brother of H. G. Hadfield, traffic officer, who has been employed by this county for several months.

Six Rules for Making GOOD COFFEE
1. Keep your coffee air tight
It loses its strength and aroma when exposed to air. Keep it in an air-tight container.

2. Measure carefully
Experiment until you find just the proportions of coffee and water that suit your taste. Then stick to them! Guessing usually means a poor cup of coffee.

3. Use grounds only once
Don't leave the coffee grounds in the pot and re-steep for the next meal. Used coffee grounds are of no more value in making coffee than ashes in building a fire.

4. Use boiling water
Boil your water, but don't boil your coffee; don't let the water and the ground bean boil together after they are mixed.

5. Serve at once
Many a pot of perfect coffee has been ruined by letting it cool. If you must wait, keep the coffee piping hot, but never let it boil. Re-cooking injures the flavor.

6. Scour the coffee pot
It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry. Scour it even more carefully than other cooking utensils.

Problems of Dressmaking

Dear Madam: I have received help from you before, so I am coming to you again with my troubles. I have a sewing coat made from material like sample. It is made rather plain. The front is all in one piece, the back has a high-waist effect and the lower part has six medium-sized plaits. The sleeves are long and are finished with deep cuffs. The neck is finished with a small sailor collar. I hope to make a coat like this wear this spring and summer. Would be willing to buy some material to go with it. What kind of material would you suggest that would match it nicely? I am 21 years old five feet five inches tall, weigh 140 pounds. Have very much color, dark hair and eyes.

MRS. G.—I am always glad to have the readers of this column tell me that they will combine if necessary as it is truly difficult in some cases to produce the desired line with the amount of material on hand. And so, kind reader, in the March Elite there is awaiting your inspection a very "smart" wrap which, combined with a sport plaid, will make you a stunning coat. Use your material for the lower portion, the collar, cuffs and straps. Have loops and buttons of the blue. Hope this meets your fancy as it does mine.

OREGON CITY, Or., Feb. 22.—Dear Madam: I am enclosing a sample of gingham, rather an odd piece. Would like to see if you could give me any idea, but I think I could get some kind of a dress out of it. I could wear on pinks, etc., for the summer. I live in the country and could get much good out of it. What color and kind of material could you use with it? I have a pair of very old, brown hair wash 125, very slim, average height. Some say I don't look good in this color, on account of no color in my face.

Am also asking you to help me with a colored dress like sample. It is to be made over, for a girl of 14 rather short than tall. I have plenty of material, eyes, lots of color. I have plenty of material with set-in sleeves, box pleat on each shoulder, frays and back. It is for next fall school, but must make it now as I have no time to lose. I am in the home. What color can I use? Want something neat with some hand work.

EVERYDAY READER.—Your material will be effective if combined with a linen crash waist and made after the type of dress as shown in the Butterick Quarterly on page 20, dress 323, and the blouse as shown. I would have in the blue matching the shade in sample. Embroider the long tucks of the jumper in a blue rope wash silk and wear a girde of preparation of many delectable foods such as raisin bread, muffins, macaronis, pancakes, etc., for its nut-like flavor as well as for its remarkable health qualities.
