

'MARSE' HENRY NOW RESTS IN KENTUCKY

Final Honors Paid to Memory of Editor.

FUNERAL SERVICES SIMPLE

'Not Again Shall His Life Be Found,' Says Clergyman—'He Leaves No Successor.'

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 4.—'Marse' Henry Watterson came home to Kentucky today to rest for all time. A great assemblage of Louisville citizens and men of national prominence who knew him in life came to honor his memory.

The casket, placed on a catafalque directly in front of the pulpit, was flanked on one side with scores of floral offerings from many parts of the country. The folds of an American flag, which stood to the right and rear, were stirred by the breeze from the open doors.

Grouched near the pulpit were members of the Watterson family, the active pallbearers, some of whom had been associated with Mr. Watterson in his newspaper work for 50 years.

Mr. Watterson dedicated his biography, 'James W. Brown of the Editor and Publisher, New York,' attended as the representative of the president and governing committee of the press congress of the world.

Jim Wilson, for years Mr. Watterson's devoted negro servant, griet-erics, sat with the family.

The services were in line with that simplicity which had marked the life of Mr. Watterson. A ritualistic reading, a hymn, a prayer, an anthem by the choir and an eulogy were the outward tributes.

'He leaves no successor,' Rev. Dr. E. L. Powell, pastor of the church, said, 'for only Ulysses can wield the bow of Ulysses.'

'Not again,' he continued, 'shall his like be found. Others who have lived and wrought on a great stage have acknowledged their indebtedness to the glowing inspiration they received through discipline or association with this great man, and his influence long will abide, while others of the younger generation who have felt his electric touch will carry forward his work.'

The burial service was read by the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Craik of Christ church cathedral at Cave Hill cemetery, where the casket was lowered into a stone vault.

A plain block of granite above it, from its eminence on a hill, overlooks the city where the late editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal spent some of the most active years of his life.

CORVALLIS IS BUILDING

Room in Business District Is Expected This Summer.

CORVALLIS, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Corvallis will experience another building boom this summer. This time in the business district. A two-story brick structure 150x150 feet will be built on the corner of Third and Madison streets.

Smith Bros., hardware dealers; Alex Rennie, capitalist, and John F. Allen, druggist, are putting up the new business block, which will have offices overhead and be occupied by the hardware company and the Allen drug store.

Across the street plans are being made for the erection of two store buildings, while two blocks further south on Third street the Highway garage is completing a 59x100-foot addition. On Fourth and Madison the Whiteside Bros. will erect a new theater 75x100 feet, the foundation for which is already laid.

MAY QUEENS NOMINATED

Final Election at Pacific University to Be Tomorrow.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Primary elections for queen of the annual May festival on May 19 resulted in the nomination of Miss Edith Weaver and Miss Lucille Robinson, both seniors and residents of Forest Grove. The final election to decide the winner will be held next Thursday.

Miss Weaver, a Red Cross nurse, served in France during the war. She is retiring president of the Phi Kappa Phi literary society. Miss Robinson is now president of Kappa Delta society. Both are prominent and popular in the social circles of the school and the closest race in years is predicted.

TRAIN SLAUGHTERS SHEEP

Shasta Limited Ploughs Through Band, Killing 50 Animals.

HARRISBURG, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—The southbound Shasta limited Monday evening ploughed through a band of sheep belonging to Mike Hannich near Alford station, killing about 50. The train was struck by dead sheep for nearly a quarter of a mile. The train was delayed over an hour.

Mr. Hannich recently lost heavily in a fire which destroyed a big barn on the farm he is renting.

E. D. CUSICK ENTERS RACE

Republican Nomination as Senator From Fourth District Sought.

SALEM, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—E. D. Cusick, Albany banker, tonight filed with the secretary of state his declaration of candidacy for the republican nomination for the fourth senatorial district. The district comprises Lane and Linn counties.

Mr. Cusick's slogan reads: 'For sane retrenchment in the state's expenditures and activities.'

WHITTLESEY SERVICE SET

Phiomath College Professor to Be Buried in Portland.

PHILOMATH, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Rev. Charles T. Whittlesey, professor of ancient languages in Phiomath college, who died Sunday at the Corvallis General hospital, was

MOONSHINER IS INSANE

EXAMINATION MADE AFTER BREAKDOWN IN COURT.

Theodore Aramatas, However, Is Found Guilty by Jury—Sentence Delayed by Judge.

Theodore Aramatas, native of Greece and drafted soldier in the late war, was found insane by an examining board yesterday after having broken down completely on the witness stand in the court of Circuit Judge Evans, where he was being tried on an appeal from a six months' sentence and $500 fine, for bootlegging.

He cried, howled, shuddered, buried his face in his hands and whimpered when James E. Craik, his attorney, called him 'Frank' in the course of a re-direct examination. Later investigation showed that the mention of a Red Cross nurse or the name 'Frank,' by which he was known in the army, would send him into hysterics.

It was not shell-shock. The nearest to the battle front that Aramatas got was a barracks in Camp Meade, Md. Since his discharge he was confined for a while in the Morningstar hospital in this city and is said to have about $800 in government compensation awaiting him, for which he has steadfastly refused to make application.

Despite his behavior on the witness stand the jury returned a verdict of guilty in his case.

Judge Evans refused to sentence the man until after a mental examination had been made. Bruce Cameron, special agent, arranged for it late yesterday and Dr. A. E. Tamieste pronounced the man unquestionably insane. He was not ordered committed to Salem, pending an investigation of his case, which may lead to his being sent to the government hospital at Steilacoom, near Tacoma, Wash.

Police Chief Is Scored

Discrimination in Handling Traffic Offense Cases Charged.

SALEM, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Moffitt, at a meeting of the city council here today, was severely scored by members of the council for alleged discrimination in handling persons charged with violating traffic laws. Alderman Vanderport openly accused the chief of policy of dismissing some men of prominence while others less prominent were haled into court and fined.

Criticism also was leveled at the chief for importing traffic officers when, as one councilman said, 'many ex-service men are walking the streets for want of employment.'

Deer Killers Fined.

GRANTS PASS, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Unaccompanied by an officer, C. Fleming and Edward Billings hiked to this city from the lower Rogue river, about 80 miles from Grants Pass, to plead guilty to a charge of killing deer out of season. They were assessed $50 each by James Holman, justice of the peace. The men were apprehended last December by Dr. George G. Bancroft, game warden, and only recently made their minds to come here and plead guilty.

Syndicate to Open Mine.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—A mining district, which for lack of capital, never became prominent, is expected to receive a boom by Curry county this year when a San Francisco syndicate starts development of the T. J. Brown mine at Agnes, near the junction of the Rogue and Illinois rivers. The San Francisco syndicate intends expending $150,000 on the mine before they start to take out the gold.

Traffic Halted by Rock Blast.

TILLAMOOK, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Quite a little inconvenience has been caused to travel the last few days by a big blast of rock at the Farmer grade, where the Nestucca river has been eating away the road at the side of the mountain. One ton of dynamite was used in 30 holes and 3000 yards of rock were removed by the explosion, covering up the road bed. Through travel was resumed today.

Horse-Beater Is Jailed.

ALBANY, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—Because he beat a balky horse so unmercifully that he knocked out one of the animal's eyes, Thomas Miller, proprietor of a motion picture theater at Brownsville, drew a jail sentence as well as a fine when he pleaded guilty in the justice court here today to a charge of cruelty to animals. Justice Oliver fined him $50 and sentenced him to serve ten days in the county jail.

Sawmill Resumes Operations.

ALBANY, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—The sawmill of the Albany Lumber company, which has been idle for more than a year because of conditions in the lumber market, resumed operations yesterday with a full crew. Logging operations preparatory to the opening of this plant have been under way for a month or more. It is planned to operate the mill regularly in the future.

University Opens Spring Term.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, April 4.—(Special.)—Classes started today upon the opening of the spring term. Students flocked back to Eugene yesterday to register in the university, and it is thought that the enrollment will be smaller because of financial conditions and scholastic standards. All the machinery of the university was put into action today, and regular work begins tomorrow.

LYLOYD GEORGE HELD TO DODGE PROBLEMS

American Viewpoint on Big World Issues Not Met.

REPARATIONS ISSUE KEY

Genoa Conference Without Move to Settle German Status and Reduce Expenses Useless.

BY MARK SULLIVAN. (Copyright by the New York Evening Post, Inc. Published by Arrangement.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—(Special.)—The difference between the American point of view about what needs to be done in Europe and the Lloyd George point of view is brought out clearly in the latter's speech.

We think the foundation stone—the one thing without which no durable structure can be built—is fixing the German reparations. Lloyd George admits that he has promised France not to bring up this question.

We think the next thing is the reduction of large armies, which waste the substance of the nations supporting them and keep people in a state of fear and worry. Lloyd George admits that this also is to be omitted.

Budgets to Be Considered.

As to a third thing, the balancing of budgets by the European countries, which in plain words means spending less than their income, as every private citizen must do, Lloyd George says that it is to be taken up. We agree that this is one of the essentials but we think it is contingent on the other two matters.

This episode in the house of commons has done nothing new, has taken no forward step, has indicated no fixed policy and doesn't give the world any reassurance. All that happened is what has happened every previous time when Lloyd George found himself in a crisis.

Indorsement Proves Nothing.

He showed himself more witty in badinage, more quick in repartee, more humorous in poking fun at his newspaper critics, more dramatic in making his hearers shudder at unknown terrors and altogether more plausible and charming than any other living public man.

Concrete Proposals Lacking.

You can't help comparing that performance with the plain speaking of the concrete proposals, the insistence on fixed principles that caused Mr. Hughes' speech at the opening of the Washington conference to lead to the one great forward step the world has taken since the war began.

There are fundamental principles involved in this European situation and no dependable step forward can be regarded as having been made until there has been a showdown on these principles. May be the time has not yet come for that. It may be that Lloyd George is still the needed man, the opportunist whose virtue is that he keeps the ship afloat during the storm and is cheerfully willing to head it in any direction, no matter where, until after the storm is over.

Disturbing Hint Is Given.

One of the suggestions in Lloyd George's speech has a disturbing hint. He says exchange must be stabilized, and so it must, but exchange only can be stabilized by the adoption and practice of sound economic methods by the various governments of the world. To try to stabilize exchange in any other way is like trying to 'fix' the thermometer. Allied to this was Lloyd George's suggestion about 'revolution of currency.'

Undoubtedly, as to several countries, something like this is bound to come. But when this subject is thrown into the pot at Genoa look out for a good deal of wild talk about cheap gold, and cheap silver, and fiat money, and all the other short cuts for creating wealth through some other means than work.

America Is 'Fat Boy.'

There is serious danger of unsound proposals from the Genoa conference, and all such suggestions are likely to sink toward the United States as the 'fat boy.' No observer of the present course of the world can fail to take account of the fact that the air is increasingly filled with suggestions about some new basis for money and currency.

CHINESE GETS LIFE TERM

HARRY CHIN PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE.

SECOND-DEGREE CRIME ADMITTED BY ORIENTAL ACCUSED OF KILLING JOHN STEVENS.

Seattle, April 4.—Harry Chin, slayer of John Stevens, white man, in the course of an attempted long murder, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree before Presiding Judge Tuckey yesterday afternoon, waited time for passing sentence and was ordered imprisoned for life in the state penitentiary.

Chin is a member of the Suesy Sing tong and one of the gunmen who tried to kill Ing Sung, young Hop Sing tongman, at the height of the local tong war of last fall. The intended victim was wounded in the leg, but flying bullets instantly killed John Stevens, a passerby. Chin and a man supposed to have been Lee Kim, jointly indicted for the murder, fled from the scene, but Chin was recognized by a bystander, who escaped the fusillade of lead, and the police were informed of his identity. With Lee Kim, he was arrested at a Thurman-street house, eleven, the night before a planned dash for Seattle.

Stevens came to Portland from Boise, Idaho, was a waiter and had no known relatives in this section. The shooting occurred at Second and Burnside streets November 20, 1921.

Chin was glad to agree to a second-degree plea, for the evidence against his client was strong and there was a possibility that he might be hanged. Stanley Myers, district attorney, agreed to the compromise to save the expense and uncertainty of a trial. Lee Kim will stand trial.

Growers Elect Directors.

MEDFORD, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—W. B. Biddle, C. C. Cate, A. H. Davy and P. J. Scherer have just been selected by the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association and the Oregon Growers' Packing corporation to represent this district on the state board of directors of the concerns and act also as directors for the Rogue river valley district. Their nomination is the primary election, which was confirmed at the final election when the entire state membership casts its vote. The mail primary ballots were opened here last night.

TAX DEADLINE IS HERE

INTEREST IS TO BE CHARGED BEGINNING TOMORROW.

Checks in Mail to Be Honored if Postmarked Before Midnight. First Half Is Due.

Nine o'clock tonight is the deadline for payment of first installments on 1923 taxes at the courthouse, without an interest charge. Checks in the mail will be honored if postmarked before midnight, but the office of Sheriff Hurlburt, tax collector, will close down at 9 o'clock.

Persons who have not obtained their tax statements personally or by mailed request may get them at the counter when they go to pay taxes today. Payments are made in the tax division of the sheriff's office, on the ground floor of the county courthouse on Salmon street between Fourth and Fifth.

Because of the last minute rush of payments, no estimate is possible of the amount of money taken in Monday and yesterday though it is known to be more than $2,000,000. It was figured last Saturday that it would be necessary to take in $4,500,000 before tonight if one-half the tax roll was to be collected.

Taxes unpaid today begin to draw interest on first installments at the rate of 1 per cent a month. Second installments become delinquent on October 5 and a flat penalty of 5 per cent goes on all unpaid taxes November 5.

Judge's Assailant Fined

Ex-Policeman Pays $200 for Knocking Out Municipal Jurist.

CORVALLIS, Or., April 4.—(Special.)—The case of H. O. Hamlin was brought up this afternoon in circuit court. Mr. Hamlin had been charged with assaulting Municipal Judge Connor with a deadly weapon. The charge was changed to one of simple assault and Hamlin pleaded guilty. Judge Skipworth fined him $200.

We don't see how Lloyd George is to be able to do anything more than to knock out the municipal jurist in which some forceful language was used. Hamlin was alleged to have struck the judge over the head with an iron instrument used for fastening papers with clips. Mr. Connor was knocked unconscious.

Vagrant Gets 15 Days.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 4.—(Special.)—George Kelly was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail today on a charge of vagrancy. He was placed in the city jail yesterday and later, Fred Rafferty, patrolman, took another prisoner in and missed Kelly. Henry Buech, chief of police, went around behind the jail and was there just in time to catch Kelly as he dropped to the ground, minus his shoes. He had escaped from the jail by prying off some boards. The city jail is used only for prisoners who are not supposed to be dangerous. The city prisoners usually are sent to the county jail to serve their sentences.
