BY HARRY M. GRAYSON.

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—(Special.)—Jimmy Middleton is the most superstitious player in the Pacific Coast league from now on.

It was the 13th inning at Washington park this afternoon when Billy McCabe ruined Middleton's splendid pitching performance. The Beavers and Angels breezed into the last half of the 13th inning deadlocked—1 to 1. The ex-New York Giant and Detroit American ridded himself of McAuley and Twombley and it appeared certain that the clubs would start a 14th round, but Middleton issued his seventh base on balls to Art Griggs and then came the blowoff. McCabe, smarting under what looked like a hitless day, gave two pitched balls the once over and then drove an outcurve high and wide over the retreating head of Charley High in center field.

Homer Is Credited.

Griggs raced all the way around from first with the winning run. On Umpire Jack Carroll's ruling, McCabe is credited with a home run. Thus the score is recorded: Los Angeles 3, Portland 1.

There was some difference of opinion between officials over Carroll's ruling on McCabe being credited with a home run. It all depends on the interpretation of the scoring rules. Carroll, calling balls and strikes, was in charge of today's battle. He was the sole judge of runs scored.

Jimmy Middleton, a good-sized right-hander, will long remember his first Pacific Coast league baseball game. His was a tough game to lose for he unfurled a foxy exhibition of pitching.

Eighth Unlucky Inning.

But two hits had been made off Middleton up to the eighth, which round, next to that heartbreaking 13th, was the roughest Middleton experienced. Tom Daly registered the first of his two hits, a single through Kenworthy's position. John L. Sullivan batted for pitcher George Lyons. Sullivan walked and Ponder ran for him. Daly and Ponder advanced when Griggs grounded to Gressett. McAuley's sharp single to center permitted Daly to leg it across the rubber with the run that was destined to send the ballgame into extra innings.

Southpaw Claude Thomas, who took up the pitching burden where Lyons left off, was very effective. The score:

OAKS COME FROM BEHIND

Sacs Lose Lead and Game When Canfield Goes Wild; Score 10-8.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 6.—With Sacramento leading, 7 to 3, Canfield hit a temporary streak of wildness in the seventh inning of the Moreing field combat today. This brought "Specs" Shea to the hill with the bags loaded. Shea walked Cooper, forcing Krause over. The next two batters were casualties. Brubaker opened the following inning with a single and before the dust settled Kunz was on the hill, three boots had been chalked up, three hits for six bags had been recorded and five runs went into the Oaks' run alley. Kunz was touched for a trip and a run by Lafayette in the ninth.

Meanwhile the Senators started a belated rally in the home half of the final period. It failed to cover the margin, however, and the game went to Del Howard's crew for three straight, score 10 to 8. The score:

15 ENTRIES IN FOR CHASE

POINT-TO-POINT SPORT EVENT ON TOMORROW'S CALENDAR.

Seven Women to Compete in Annual Race of Portland Hunt Club at Garden Home.

Fifteen entries, seven of them women riders, have been listed for the annual point-to-point steeplechase of the Portland Hunt club to be run near Garden Home tomorrow afternoon. The event originally was scheduled for March 25, but was postponed on account of a week of rain, which made the turf too soft for fast going.

Members who have been out in the vicinity of the club the last few days report that favorable weather has allowed the fields and roads a chance to dry and that they are in excellent condition, the approaches to the obstacles being firm and dry for the jumping and the creek banks in fit shape for the take-offs and landings of the water jumps. Unless it should rain heavily today or tomorrow the participants are looking forward to a race that will be as fast if not faster than any event in last winter's schedule.

Fair weather will mean that probably half a dozen more riders, fastidious as to the ground they put their horses over, will sign up for the steeplechase and be in with the rest at the start. These are owners of exceptionally good mounts, who do not care to run the risk of injury to them by falls and slippery going to stiff jumps.

League Head Is Named.

Harry Fischer of the Multnomah club has been elected president of the Sunset Industrial baseball league formed under the auspices of Portland Community Service. The teams of the league will get under way this week with practice games. The Doernbecher nine will play Marshall Wells at East Twelfth and Davis streets Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, while Woodard, Clarke has scheduled a game between the wholesale and retail departments on the same diamond for Sunday morning. The Peninsula Lumber company team has asked admission into the Saturday league, which probably will have to be expanded into an eight-team circuit.

CITY AMATEURS TO FIGHT

CHAMPIONSHIPS TO GIVE FANS PLENTY OF ACTION.

B'nai B'rith Club, Where Bouts Will Be Staged, Is Out to Clean Up on All Other Entries.

Fight fans will see plenty of action when the best local amateurs square off to fight for the medals that make them the city champion for a year, according to the present outlook. Monday and Tuesday night of next week the city championships will be staged at the B'nai B'rith club.

Multnomah club took most of the honors at the recent Pacific coast championships, but according to reports the boys who battle for the B'nai B'rith club are out to bring home the majority of medals in the city meet. Fourteen mitt slingers have signed to compete under the colors of B'nai B'rith.

Fred Rennick, boxing instructor of B'nai B'rith, has been working the boys hard to get them in condition. Three diminutive battlers will enter the 105-pound class. They are Solly Gordon, Joe Sovsnosky and Julius Rovech. Meyer Brown and Joe Morgan will box at 115 pounds for the club. Solly Rozencrantz and Babe Mozorosky are the 120-pound entries with the possibility of Sol Bloomberg entering.

Peanuts Pander will battle at 125 pounds, while Joe Blank and Meyer Richenstein will enter the 130-pound class. Fred Distell is a new boy who will fight at 135 pounds. Distell has shown a world of class in his workouts and should make a place. Jim Head, at 145 pounds, and Ed Lillis, 158 pounds, are the balance of the B'nai B'rith entries. Lillis is a rugged fellow and stands up to battle toe-to-toe. He has not been boxing in any of the recent smokers, but is now ready to step out.

Multnomah club sent in the names of 12 of its best boxers. On the list are Bud Stengel, Joe McLoughlin, Johnny Schaecher, Jim Flynn and Don Woodward.

Entries also were received from the Sellwood Community club and the Bachelors' club. These are two of the young clubs with ambitious battlers.

The wrestling entries continue to grow. The Turn Verein and the Bachelors' club have entered several of their best. The Y. M. C. A. has a strong wrestling team and it is probable that it will enter several contenders.

COLLEGIANS, ARLETA TO PLAY

Mount Angel to Open Season Here on Easter Sunday.

MOUNT ANGEL COLLEGE, St. Benedict, Or., April 6.—(Special.)—The Mount Angel college baseball season will open when the local team meets the Arleta Athletic club in Portland in a double-header Easter Sunday at the Vaughn-street park.

In response to a call last week by Coach O'Neill, 33 candidates turned out. This is the largest squad that ever turned out for the first team in baseball at Mount Angel college. Owing to the weather conditions, little outdoor work has been done, but for the last few days some field work has been accomplished.

According to Coach O'Neill the prospects are very bright. The pitching staff is especially strong.

PACIFIC WILL PLAY TODAY

Baseball Season Begins With Game Against Linfield College.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, April 6.—(Special.)—The baseball season will start here tomorrow with a game against Linfield college. It is the first of a series of nine games which will be played with Oregon university, Whitman college, Willamette and North Pacific Dental college.

With three men out for every position and five pitchers working daily on the mound, the prospects are that the team will be the best that has ever represented the college. The veteran pitchers—Hoar and Sheely—will contest with Balcolm of North Bend, Amburn of Portland and Huson of Cornelius for a chance at hurling. Fowler, a veteran of three years, has the best chance to receive.

Bad weather has kept outside practice out of the question until the last three days, but Coach Frank is optimistic and hopes to start the season with a victory before tackling Oregon next week.

DENTISTS TO PLAY AGGIES

Team Leaves This Morning for Corvallis—First Game Today.

Manager Miller, Captain Quessenberry and ex-Captain Terry will leave for Corvallis this morning with 17 North Pacific College baseball players to play Oregon Agricultural college. The opening game will be played this afternoon and a second game Saturday. Following the series the team plays the opening game of the season against the Salem Senators in Salem Sunday.

A brass band and big delegation of rooters will accompany the team. Those making the trip are: Terry, Quessenberry, Estes, Rogoway, Smith, Narrance, Hedberg, Salzer, Buttler, McLaughlin, Holcher, Merrill, Baird, Halverson, Razler, Douglas, Erickson, Ledingham.

GREGG AS CUNNING AS PITCHER AS EVER

Sensation of 1910 Stages Successful Comeback.

SEALS HELD TO SIX HITS

Inexcusable Blunder by Connolly of Seattle Costs Veteran Hurler Game, 4 to 5.

BY L. H. GREGORY.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—(Special.)—The same Vean Gregg who, pitching for Portland in 1910, flashed into the baseball firmament, a sensational young left-hander, today, 13 years later, hurled a remarkable comeback game in his first appearance on a league diamond in three seasons. He lost, 4 to 5, San Francisco defeating Seattle in 10 innings, but the defeat was no fault of his. In nine innings he yielded only six hits, three of these including a homer, being in the first before he was really warmed up.

An inexcusable blunder by Connolly, the Seattle second baseman, in the sixth inning, cost Gregg his ball game. With Kelly on second for the Seals and two down, Rhyne hit an easy bounder to Connolly. The latter had all the time in the world, so instead of throwing the ball to first he foolishly lobbed it. The toss was poor and eluded Murphy, Kelly scoring from second.

Game Tossed Away.

That was a hard way to have a game tossed away for him after the kind of ball he was pitching, but it gave Gregg the chance to show that he still has the indomitable heart of the old 1910 days. From then until the tenth only one hit was made off him. It was a legitimate single against the right field fence that poor handling permitted to go for a triple. With two out and Kelly, a right-handed batter, at bat, Gregg struck him out on curve balls.

The third strike was a curve that broke two feet at least and hit the dirt behind the plate. Kelly struck at it and even Catcher Spencer missed it, but recovered in time to tag Kelly out.

In the tenth, score 4 to 4, Lee singled, Kilduff sacrificed and then Kamm, who had struck out twice, hit on a line to center and it was all over. But Gregg looked great in defeat.

Speed Is Blinding.

He had everything today that any great pitcher has and his fast one had the old blinding speed and his curve the old sharp break that made him so sensational a prospect back in 1910, and for years afterward a big league star. As a comeback the game was a success, for though he lost, Gregg demonstrated to the satisfaction of every doubter that he still has the stuff and can go the route.

When he pitches against Portland, his old club and town, at the Vaughn street grounds, the park will hardly be big enough to hold the folks who will want to see him work. He still retains his 1910 specialty of fanning 'em in the pinches. Five Seals whiffed that way today.

Praises Are Sung.

San Francisco, the hardest town in the world to convince of the merit of anyone not a home-town product, was convinced by Gregg's performance. All the sports writers are singing his praises tonight. One of them calls him "the best-looking pitcher this league has seen in five years," while another declares he has more than Grover Alexander showed here a week ago.

That's how good Vean Gregg looks.

San Francisco temporarily solved its shortstop problem today by shifting Ellison to first and using a young fellow named Rhyne at short. Nevertheless, short still appears to be the tunnel through the infield, though Rhyne did well this afternoon.

Seattle Club Hustling.

The Seattle club seems to be hustling for McCredie. Cueto has crowded Tex Wisterzil off third base and fielded and batted sensationally today. But the liveliest player on the club is old Frank Schulte, the famous "wildfire" of Frank Chance and Chicago Cub days. He fields, he hits, he runs bases, he even looks like a young player, despite his nearly 40 years. See if he doesn't fit the description when the Suds and Portland meet for what is sure to be a raw-meat series in Portland later in the month.

BILL CASE IN COURT APRIL 12

Calls for Oral Argument Same Day as Opening of Majors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—By strange coincidence the calendar of the supreme court, it developed today, calls for oral argument of a case vital to organized baseball April 12, the day designated as the inauguration of the major league season.

The proceedings which at that time will come up for argument were instituted by the Baltimore club of the defunct Federal league, which alleged it had been damaged to the extent of $300,000 by the failure of the Federal league, due to the activity of the major leagues.

TACOMA TO CUT SQUAD

ABOUT 25 WILL BE CARRIED FOR PRESENT.

"Spec" Woods, Infielder, Obtained From Portland, Captain Raymond Announces.

TACOMA, Wash., April 6.—(Special.)—"Spec" Woods, Portland Beaver recruit, who starred in the Regina infield last season and batted more than .300, is the latest addition to the Tacoma Bengals, Skipper Raymond announced today, following receipt of a signed contract from the ex-Western Canada star.

Raymond has already started slashing the roster, cutting it down to about 25, and declaring that still more pruning will take place if he lands a couple of stars for whom he is angling.

Here are the men who have been ordered to report for training April 14:

Pitchers—Smith, Seattle star; Ray Richards, Paul Shepherd, Plummer, Scott, Wolfram, Tuma, Tait, Hovey, Robske, J. Fitch.

Catchers—Carl Stevens and Russ Whitmore.

Infielders—Art Murphy, Babe Thomas, Southwestern Washington league sensation; Kierstad, Paton, Chorlton and Taylor, Seattle fielder.

Outfielders—Engle, Genin, Gingiardi and Snyder.

Ellison, pitcher; Wahlberg, pitcher; Connolly, second baseman, and Wolfer, outfielder, will probably come from the Portland Coast team later, when they cut down.

VOLLEY DEFI IS ACCEPTED

Y. M. C. A. TO DEFEND LAURELS AGAINST WINGED M.

Two Teams Named and First Meet of Title Series to Be Held Next Wednesday.

The challenge of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club to a series of volleyball tournaments during the next few weeks has been accepted by the Young Men's Christian association's business men's department, and two teams were named yesterday by L. C. Cunningham, head of the volleyball activities. The first meet will be next Wednesday night.

Cunningham has chosen the following teams to defend the Y. M. C. A. laurels: No. 1, Banner R. Brooke, Jerry Owen, W. B. Shively, H. E. Randall, L. M. Padgett, E. A. Southwick and Oscar Heintz; No. 2, A. Peterson, C. L. Reynolds, Charles E. Couche, A. L. Fields, W. Lester, E. J. Munnell and I. C. Cunningham.

Y. M. C. A. referees chosen are Thomas H. Gawley and A. C. Lomar. The two teams practiced yesterday afternoon; they seemed evenly matched. Strict adherence to the new volleyball rules which prohibit any holding of the ball, or following and directing its flight, resulted in a "referee's game" in the three games played, with far more points being scored by referee's decisions than on points cleanly made.

A final practice will be held by the "Y" teams on Monday. The first tournament will be held Wednesday night on the "Y" courts, the second on the Multnomah courts and the third in the "Y." Each team of the "Y" will play each Multnomah club team for the best two out of three games.

Personnel of the Multnomah teams has not been announced.

O. A. C. PLANS PAPER CHASE

Professor Potter Announces Event for Next Month.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, April 6.—(Special.)—A mounted paper chase, similar to one held last spring is being arranged for next month by Professor E. L. Potter, who offered the silver bridle prize last year. It is hoped by those interested in riding that the chase will become an annual affair.

Professor Potter is chief of the animal husbandry department, and the Withycombe club, made up of seniors in that department, is co-operating with him to the extent of arranging their annual hayrack ride and picnic on the same date in order to witness the race from a hillside vantage point.

Interclass Letters Awarded.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, April 6.—(Special.)—With the final games in the interclass baseball and basketball tournaments played Tuesday night, letters have been awarded to both the baseball and basketball class teams. The junior class won the basketball championship, while the freshmen were champions in the baseball series. Thirteen women students from Spokane won letters.

Cougar Wrestlers Elect.
