

DOCTOR IS CONVICTED OF SELLING LIQUOR

Jury Only 15 Minutes in Joseph Murphy Case.

POISON PUT IN WHISKY

Bootlegger Who Used Denatured Alcohol Is Expected to Get Heavy Sentence.

A federal court jury required only 15 minutes yesterday afternoon to arrive at a verdict of guilty in the case of Dr. Joseph Murphy, who maintained offices in the Raleigh building and sold alleged whisky which, according to the witness for the government, was a devil's brew of mixed poisons, including denatured alcohol.

Murphy's whisky, as the testimony showed, was not even to be dignified by the name of moonshine. Instead, it was made of grain and denatured alcohol, caramel coloring, glycerine and other things and labeled as old Peblestorf. Bogus revenue stamps were said to have been used on the corks to lend semblance to the fiction that it was real pre-war stuff.

Torgensen Star Witness. Leonard Torgensen was the star witness for the government. He said he bought a bottle of the supposed whisky. He testified to seeing Dr. Murphy mix up some of the concoction and, when he ran short of ingredients, Torgensen was asked to go to a local drug store and buy some denatured alcohol, which he did. He testified he saw Dr. Murphy pour this stuff into the mixture.

That Murphy should sell such poison for whisky struck Torgensen as a crime and he reported the matter to the police. Officers raided the office of Murphy and found labels and various ingredients said to have been used in making Murphy's own brand.

Allan Bynon, assistant United States attorney, prosecuted Murphy. In his argument to the jury he called attention to the fact that John Murphy, the defendant's brother, was counsel for him and that the energy displayed in the defense might reasonably be attributed to that relationship.

Cross-Examination Rigid.

Torgensen, witness for the government, was subjected to a rigid cross-examination that continued for three hours. He testified it was his only appearance in a liquor case as informant, that he acted voluntarily in the interests of public safety. He is a veteran of the war, working at his trade, that of electric welder, in this city.

Murphy will appear in court this morning for sentence. It is expected Attorney Bynon will ask for a maximum penalty and former convictions for violation of the liquor laws will be brought up against him. It is said he has been in the state courts frequently and by reason of that fact his latest offense is aggravated. He was formerly an office partner of Dr. Charles Liscum, recently sentenced to two years' imprisonment at the McNeil island penitentiary for selling narcotics.

WHITE PLATFORM OUT

ADJUTANT-GENERAL ENTERS GOVERNOR RACE FORMALLY.

Reduction of State Costs, Merging of Departments and Simple Government Main Planks. SALEM, Or., April 11.—(Special)—George H. White formally entered the republican contest as a candidate for governor of Oregon today by announcing his platform, which outlines his principles in five planks.

Reduction of the cost of state government was made the leading issue of the platform. Mr. White proposed a sharp cut of $1,000,000 from the present state cost sheet. He also proposed consolidation and concentration of all the state's commissions, boards and scattered functions into administrative departments, not more than ten in number, and including the public service commission. He would hold them all directly accountable to the governor, who in turn is responsible to the people.

Achievement of ten purposes outlined herein is the basis upon which I present my name to the men and women of Oregon as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of the state.

Immediate definite, equitable and certain plan for retiring the state's present overwhelming bonded indebtedness. Oppose submitting any further proposals for bond issues or appropriations at special elections.

Immediate insistence upon a showdown on the Japanese issue in Oregon. A white man cannot compete with a Japanese coolie and we have got to halt the invidious invasion of our lands and industries without further delay.

My mission as governor will be to stimulate progress in Oregon and promote the good name of popular government in our state. This end my earnest support will be given to the relief of our agricultural interests, which must find encouragement through co-operative marketing and marketing.

WHY? Study the photographs taken of normal and abnormal spine. Note in the abnormal spine the contraction or settling of series of vertebrae, due to the thinning or shrinking of the cartilage between.

LOOK AT THE RESULT. The nerves which conduct vital energy to all organs of the body are impinged or pinched between the vertebrae at the place where they leave the spinal canal and cord. The organs supplied by the affected nerves can no longer function correctly, their supply of vital nerve energy is obstructed, they become INACTIVE, PARALYZED, DISEASED.
