

EPISCOPAL MINISTER ATTACKS NEW RULE

Revision of Prayer Book Is Scored in Pamphlet.

ROMAN LEANING FEARED

Rubric on Reservation of Blessed Sacrament Declared Basis for Adoration Later.

NEW YORK, April 14.—(Special.)—The revision of the book of common prayer of the Protestant Episcopal church is now being assailed as regards the reservation of the blessed sacrament, and a pamphlet calling it "aggressive, an unwarranted invasion of doctrine, and a dangerous alteration of the doctrinal atmosphere of this church," has been circulated from room 1808, at No. 247 Madison avenue, New York.

This attack was backed by the prayer book papers' joint committee, a private organization, and not in any way connected with the joint commission which was authorized by the general convention to report at its coming meeting in Portland, Or., in September, on the question of enrichment of the ritual and ceremonial of the church.

The pamphlet which today was being privately circulated among the clergy and those whose names have been certified as delegates to the general convention was written by the Rev. George C. Foley, of the faculty of the divinity school of Philadelphia. All through the pamphlet the underlying idea seems to be that shown by the writer in his comment of page 2, touching the proposed changes from "Whit Sunday" to "Pentecost," that it "seems to be a foolish and needless imitation of Rome."

The rubric, which has been made the object of nearly all the assault of the writer is as follows: "But note, that, subject to the regulations of the ordinary, the priest may reserve the sacrament of the consecrated bread and wine, as may be required for the communion of the sick."

"Now it will be remembered," wrote Dr. Foley, "that even in the prayer book of 1549 of Edward VI, reservation was made in the same way on which the consecration took place in the church. And this is all that the recent innovation in England has ventured to suggest."

Attitude Is Criticized. "I think that the attitude of minds which regard even the first prayer book as too conservative of pre-reformation customs, is no novel in this church that it may fairly be described as aggressive. It is also a prohibitive invasion of the sphere of doctrine."

"It is clearly contrary to Christ's purpose in the institution of the sacrament. That purpose was for communion and not for devotion to it or in the presence of it. Again, it is contrary to primitive usage and was introduced as a novelty after the first millennium of our era; which is altogether too late for any claim for catholicity or authority."

A. Coan was toastmaster and told how Lee Hong, as president of the Far-Eastern Trading company, imported many shipments of oriental products through this port, and how Mr. Lee was loyal to Portland even during times when his company could have done business on a cheaper basis by using other coast ports.

On the list of speakers were Herbert B. Augur, of Jefferson high school; Lai Woo, a graduate of the university of Oregon; Herbert Gordon, and Judge William A. Gatena. George Graham, assistant district attorney, sang a solo and there was music by Lazar's orchestra, a permanent feature of the cafe.
