CITYNEWSINBRIEF

EAST SIDE PROJECT PROGRESSES .-EAST SIDE PROJECT PROGRESSES.—
The petition for street improvement in the central east side has been so generally signed by resident propertyowners that the required percentage seems assured, though the difficulty of reaching non-residents is an obstacle to early completion of the total. The benefit of improved streets to the new Buckman school the total. The benefit of improve streets to the new Buckman school and to the Washington high school have influenced many persons in favor of the improvement. One eyesore is a guich that is crossed by a clay fill on East Thirteenth, between East Oak and East Stark streets, which leads to the entrance of Wash. which leads to the entrance of Washington high school. Under the plan this fill would be completed and paved. Work on the improvement cannot begin till next spring, but the committee in charge is trying to avoid delay, as the city's share of the cost must be included in the budget
next December in order to prevent another year's postponement,

KLAMATH MILL WORKERS WILL NOT ACCEPT 9 HOURS.

Chairman of State Board of Conciliation Returns Here Following Series of Hearings.

Employes of the lumber mills of Klamath Falls, who have been on strike since February 28, are determined that they will not accept the nine-hour day, according to William F. Woodward, chairman of the state Y. W. C. A. Work Enlarged.—In order to promote wider interest in the work of the Young Women's Christian association at St. Johns, the com-

the hearings between employers and employes.

Before an adjournment of the board was taken Wednesday afternoon the employers, who had contended that they could not make a profit on an eight-hour schedule, were called upon to produce their books for the last year in order that their statements might be substantiated. This they at first refused to do but later asked that they be allowed time to confer with the real owners of the mills. A meeting of the board will again be called after employers and employes have held meetings together, and the books of the companies have been produced.

John K. Flyan, a member of the board, went to Northern California following adjournment and started an investigation of mill conditions in that section before returning to Fortland. Otto Hartwig, the third member, remained in Klamath Falls to aitend a meeting of employers and employes.
