DRAG-OUT GAME

Five Pitchers Participate in Gory Affair.

Vernon Throws In Jakie May to Stop Beaver Bombardment and Gets By by Skin of Teeth.

BY L. H. GREGORYvernon nosed out Portland in a knock-down and drag-out ball game yesterday in which each team used 12 players and kept a parade of pitchers marching to the box and back to the bench again. Five hurlers participated in the gory affair, two for Portland and three for Vernon. The final accre was 6 to 5 for the Tigers, but Bill Essick had to throw in Jakie May, his justly prized left-hander, to keep the Beavers from tying it in the ninth.
Jakie managed to get by but he did it just by the skin of his wisdom teeth. The Beavers had two hands on the paths and one run in with two out when Jakie fooled Poole into hitting an easy tapper to himself and nalled him at first.

Pitchers Start Battle.

The early part of the engagement
was a pitchers' battle in reverse order, between Slim Love for Vernon and Slim Ellison for Portland—two human laths trying to see which could do the most damage. Being

He filled the bases on a walk, a single and another walk, then proceeded to walk two more after two were down and forced in a pair of runs.

In the fifth the Tigere got to him swatting. Hawks opened with a homer over the right-field fence. Elliphore walked Hayt and after Smith.

But in the eighth the Tigers made what became their winning score when French eighth the Tigers made what became their winning score when French singled, stole second, took third on Smith's long fly and scored on a nice squeeze bunt by Hannah. The scor-ing might have continued indefi-nitely, for Doyle hit a double to left, but he neglected to touch first en route, so that ended him. Gresset Gets Walk.

Gresset Gets Walk,

Then came the lurid Beaver half of the ninth. Being two runs in arrears, Walberg was lifted and Cresset bent to bat for him. He walked, Doyle made Cox line out to Hugh High, but something in the way he did it seemed to nettle Essick. He stopped the game, removed Doyle and inserted Jakie May as granade flinger.

Jakie was afraid of Charley High, who had already hit four times in four up, so walked him. But he bore down then and whiffed Jim Thorpe. Two out and two on Sam Hale swung a ground ball direct at Sawyer, but it trickled through his legs for a hit and Gresset scored. High on a hit and Gresset scored. High on third. Hale on second, Jimmy Poole up with his big bat, one run to go.

The Beavers came within an eye-winker of tying the score in the seventh, and if they had done it the game might have ended otherwise. Sargent raced in from third on McCann's fity to Chadbourne. He beat the throw but oversild the plate, and fruck Hannah blocked him off and tagged him when he tried to get back. It was a mighty close decision, at that.

Pitcher Doyle of Vernon, lost a nice hit for his batting average by cutting first base in the eighth, it was a clean double out never having reached first, he not only was out when tagged by Sargent, but also lost credit for making a hit.
