

BITTER PILLED PILL PREPARED FOR REDS

New Note Treats Russia as if Nation Were Beggar.

REFUSAL TO SIGN LIKELY

In Ultimatum Capitalistic Europe Demands That Soviets Renounce All Past Acts.

BY ARNO DOSCH FLEUROT. (Copyright by The New York World. Published by Arrangement.) (GENOA, April 30.—Special Cable.) A new phase for title to property, a new formula under which property can be held privately in all that needs to be invented before Europe presents Russia with its ultimatum.

Baron DeCartier, representing Belgium, and the leading figure in the committee of financiers which is working this out, today told me an agreement had been reached, although it had been difficult to get all to accept it.

As the British are going slow on this point, which is supposed to be the most lenient to the soviets and is such as to give foreign owners rights to restitution and indemnity, it is evident these financiers are preparing a big pill for Russia to swallow, probably bigger than she will swallow.

Total Renunciation Demanded. The ultimatum capitalistic Europe tells the soviets they must renounce everything they have done in the last four and a half years and put the western European owner in as good a position as ever.

For this it offers no loan, but only financial backing to private enterprises which will enter to rebuild and likewise exploit Russia.

In this document so beautifully written it can hardly be called less than an ultimatum that the soviets will "put in their places" at the conference. The whole tone of the ultimatum is going to be that of a note written for people in a beggar's position to sign.

The document is so beautifully written and approved by the British has a tone quite other than the opening words of the conference. The Russo-German treaty made this clear. This is a way of telling the Russian delegation it must pay through the nose for slipping the treaty over on the conference.

French Want Harsh Terms. The British draft of the clause in the coming ultimatum bearing on foreign titles in Russia—considered lenient—would be sufficient to satisfy almost anyone. But it is not yet stiff enough for the French, who want to insure a perfect title as business nations understand the term.

The British assume the soviets recognize their liability to meet their obligations by their government or its predecessors to foreign nationals. They assume the soviets accept the Cannes resolution.

In cases where a former owner cannot regain possession of his property the shall be given an option of resuming, in the form of a concession, the use of the property in Russia on terms not less favorable than the rights previously enjoyed.

Where this is not possible the British foresee compensation in similar property, the nature and amount being agreed between the soviets and the claimant, or in bonds.

No Vagueness Wanted. The French are not at all with the vagueness of the last clauses and want to give the Russians no room for equivocation.

The British will also demand that the soviets agree to pay for damage to property caused by an act of negligence of the soviets. This means that thousands of factories which stand empty or have deteriorated through lack of use must be paid for.

The British also demand that the term "previous foreign owner" shall include Russian companies in which foreigners controlled and owned a "substantial interest," or where the foreigner invested money in Russia through Russian holder.

Add together these interests and the foreigner, backed by Russian empires, would control Russia financially, which is evidently what the document is expected to bring about. But even these terms are not considered sufficiently hard and will be harder before they are presented to the soviets.

(Continued From First Page.) of the soul open and the vision clear. Between the soul and God the clouds of sin gather to blot the sight and dim the vision. How shall they be removed? Only religion can help man to find the answer.

"People should go to church because there the highest standards of life are held up. All men agree that Christ is the ideal man. And yet, apart from the church, how would they know anything about him. What but the church has preserved the records of his life and propagated the content and power of his teaching."

Is there on record anywhere another body of men which has pledged itself to proclaim his message and live by its precepts? And what is the story of that progress? Is it not that men and women have met together to learn what that teaching is and to worship him in order that they might find inspiration to do their duty as their enlightened consciences have disclosed? John Stuart Mill gave it as the verdict of his life-long thought that the highest aspiration a man might rise to would be so to shape his life that at the end he might have the approval of Jesus Christ.

The sermon was followed by another hymn, "O Savior, Precious Savior" and two anthems, "This is the Day" (Maudslayi) and "O Lord, How Majestic" (Barby). The services were ended with "Sevenfold Amen" (Stainer), sung by the choir.

SON OF FAMOUS TENOR ROUGHING IT AS DECKHAND.

ENRICO CARUSO, JR.

A deckhand, attired in a dingy blue suit, a sailor's jersey and smoking a big black pipe, was standing on the deck of the liner Providence when the ship docked in Philadelphia last Tuesday. A newspaper photographer who had a "tip" that Enrico Caruso Jr. was on board the liner approached the deckhand and asked him if he knew the son of the famous tenor. Without paying any attention to a promise to point out Caruso he walked away and the photographer followed. Chasing him into the saloon the newspaper man cornered him and he then admitted he was the son of Enrico.

"I am just going to Europe on a pleasure trip," he confessed, good-naturedly, now that he was caught. "I do not intend to study music, for my voice is really no good, although the girls here try to tell me that it is." Caruso is 18 years old. He has been attending school in the middle west.

lon solos by John Silvester, and nine new Victor records from those released May 1.

The orchestra numbers include a violin solo, "Sometime" (Frime) to be played by Louis Shurliff, and four other selections, "Glow Worm" (Lincke), "My Mammy Knows" (Jerome), "Just a Little Love Song" (Cooper), and "Wimmin" (Fisher).

The regular evening concert to be played by the Metropolitan trio consists of ten numbers, all of which have many themselves favorites among regular radio fans. Charlotte Kramer, pianist of the trio, arranged the list with the object in view of choosing numbers which the listeners are most fond of.

The selections to be played are "Liebeskammer" (Liszt), "Don't Leave Me This Way" (arranged by deWegen), "At Dawning" (Cadmán), "Smiling" (arranged by Powell), "Serenade" (Widor) (arranged by a Smile), "Light" (Huerter), "Blue Danube Blues" (Kern) (A Perfect Day (Jacob-Bond), and "I Want My Mammy" (Breau).

GOMPERS AGAINST SOVIET RECOGNITION

U. S. Indorsement Held Betrayal of Civilization.

LENINE CALLED BANDIT

Labor Head Asserts Predatory International Finance Thinks It Sees Loot in Russia.

CHICAGO, April 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today issued a statement declaring that recognition by the United States of the "bolshhevik tyranny" in Russia would be a "needless and base betrayal of civilization."

Declaring that American public life was being flooded with propaganda, and that "predatory international finance has its appetite up and believes it sees loot in Russia," he asserted that nothing "would be more straight with disaster to humanity than American recognition of the bolshhevik power in any form."

Lenine, Mr. Gompers denounced as a "bandit merchant" ready to "take what he can get in exchange for the heritage of a people rendered helpless by him and his." A fund of millions of dollars, he asserted, was being used in the United States for bolshhevik propaganda out of which "bribes have been offered in places where the American people can ill afford betrayal."

President Gompers' statement in part follows: "Developments at Genoa cannot escape the notice of thinking Americans, though the full significance of what is happening there seems generally lost in most of our newspapers."

"I can think of nothing that would be more fraught with disaster to humanity than American recognition of the bolshhevik power in any form—whether by entering into another 'economic conference at which American would sit cheek by jowl with soviets, or in any other manner."

Bankers Are Accused. "In making these assertions, I am mindful of the amazing propaganda with which American public life is being flooded. I am mindful of the intrigue which is everywhere about us, and above all I am mindful of the newly adopted policy of the American-Anglo-German banking group, which perhaps constitutes the most dangerous element in the whole chain of predatory international finance."

"I know of nothing more farcical than the attitude of European statesmen and financiers toward the Russian muddle. Essentially it is their purpose, as laid down at Genoa, to place Russia in economic vassalage and give political recognition in exchange for concessions. They know immediate trade is not to be had, but they know that eventually they can get at the gold, the coal, the oil, the timber and future products of the soil."

"Russia herself is on the bargain counter, behind which stands Lenine as a bandit merchant, to take what he can get and what will serve his purpose in exchange for the heritage of a people rendered helpless by him and his America, let us hope, will continue to stand for Russian economic independence, as well as political freedom."

ALLIES APPROACH CRISIS

LLOYD GEORGE PLANS MOVE FOR GENERAL CONFAB.

Determination of France to Act Independently to Enforce Reparations Alarms.

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG. (Copyright by The New York World. Published by Arrangement.) LONDON, April 30.—(Special cable.)—In high political quarters here this evening it was intimated that Premier Lloyd George soon will make an important move in connection with his suggestion for a meeting of all the signatories of the Versailles treaty.

Official London, however, is still very much in the dark as to when he will press his suggestion. It is believed he will be willing to have the meeting in Paris, if Premier Poincare declines to come to Genoa.

In some quarters it is suggested the British premier is only awaiting developments at Genoa before urging the meeting, at which the whole question of reparations and allied debts can be opened up.

The French have made no reply to the proposal yet. They say Mr. Lloyd George only made an informal suggestion to Louis Barthou, and that until it is made in a formal written document it needs no formal reply.

It is thought here the premier hopes at a meeting of the Versailles signatories to reach some agreement with France which will head off single-handed action by France against Germany if the latter does not meet the reparations payment on May 31.

If France refuses and does take drastic action, it is regarded as certain that the Anglo-French entente will be smashed.
