

EUROPEAN MARKET CONSIDERED GOOD

American Foodstuffs Said to Be in Demand.

WHEAT SUPPLY SHORT

Sugar Output Declared Only Keeping Pace With Increased Need for Native Use.

ROME, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Albert B. Dennis, formerly American commercial attaché at Rome, who is now traveling in Europe, has arrived here to attend a general meeting of the International Institute of Agriculture as American delegate.

"Despite the hard times and progressive decline in the currencies of central Europe," he said today, "there is no lessening in the purchases of overseas foodstuffs. Europe imported in eight months of the present year an excess of 49,000,000 bushels of wheat over the same period last year after an exceptionally fine native harvest. A good market for American wheat still is assured for at least a year, a cold late spring increasing consumption and postponing maturity of the next harvest."

"Russia formerly sold abroad more than 150,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, but now is an importing country. Overseas wheat will for some years continue necessary to fill this great vacuum of production."

Export Capacity Hurt.

"The sub-division of great estates among the peasants has seriously impaired the wheat exporting capacity of Roumania. Neither the acreage nor conditions does the growing wheat crop promise a harvest equalling that of last year; it seems that demand for imported wheat is bound to strengthen. Certainly there is nothing to warrant the belief that our foreign foodstuffs trade is likely to decline."

"Except for Poland, Czechoslovakia and Great Britain, progress in taking place in the way of expansion of European agricultural resources. In all European countries where beet root is grown successfully except England, Greece, Turkey and Norway, the recovery is unexpectedly slow. A year ago it was freely predicted that Germany, which before the war exported to England alone a million tons of sugar annually, would recover during the present season almost her former export strength. It now looks as though Germany would be able to supply only her own needs."

Labor Shortage Cause.

"Beet growing makes an excessive demand on labor and German rural labor has been enticed from the farm to the city by the high wages of big factories. Italy, with abundant farm labor this season, is cultivating the beet heavily, but the production is not likely to do more than keep pace with the rapidly increasing consumption. Therefore, there is no immediate danger of losing the European market for American refined sugar."

"Post-war consumption continued to rise, particularly in Italy. A big jump is expected in British consumption if the present rate of increase in port duties becomes effective. Europe is returning to almost normal livestock resources; therefore, the market for imported meats is depressed. America, however, is successful in pork products, namely, bacon and lard, and in other important markets doing more business than before the war."

DANCES OF ALL SORTS FEATURE MAYPOLE FROLIC OF YOUTHS AT MULTNOMAH CLUB

Three Hundred Girls in Simple Summery Frocks, in Hall Bedecked With Flowers and Greenery, Crown Their Little Queen and Participate in General Merry-Making.

BY LEONE CASS BAER.

"To everything there is a season, a time to dance."

So said the magnificent Solomon, and while history does not record it, he probably had just witnessed a May day frolic and had enjoyed it so keenly he thought he'd better make a note of it for posterity.

By so doing the erudite Nat Goodwin of his day indeed was the pioneer praise agent for the dance, unless we mention his pa, David, who, it is recorded, danced in the streets.

Mamas and papas and aunts and grandpas were at Multnomah club yesterday afternoon and watched the 300 young girl dancers crown their lovely little queen and frolic about the two huge Maypoles. Three hundred young folk, from wee toddlers who came as guests with sister Annie or Sue, to the big Sue herself, large enough and competent enough to do the dishes and maybe make a batch of biscuits. Not a lipstick, nor a powdered nose, nor a shaved eyebrow among the lot, and they had minded Mrs. Mauthe's admonition and came dressed in simple girlish summery frocks.

Pretty Dances Noted.

They danced all sorts of pretty steps, pointing their toes as forgetting to point them, two-stepping archly, waltzing with graceful long slides and trotting sedately through an old polka step occasionally. And when they had crowned their queen and marched in twos and fours and sixes to the throne as if she were her throne, they paired off with the 200 boys who had been waiting round, self-conscious and impatient like the boys who people Briggs' cartoons, and the festivities wound up in a glorious dance.

They showed a very fine training, exceptional time and a unified ensemble in their playing of numbers by Hayden, Ole Bull, Dvorak, Svendsen and, for encore, a quartet arrangement of "Twilight" (Katherine Gies). Their phrasing is clear-cut and there is no uncertainty in the reading of their scores. They have a good foundation for the study of one of the most advanced lines of musical thought, the literature for the stringed quartet. Their group seems to be formed of four very talented, clear-minded young musicians, each familiar with the technique of her individual instrument.

Save the Enamel of Your Teeth

The most valuable part of a tooth is its surface—the thin coating of enamel that is Nature's own protection against decay.

Are you scratching and cutting into the protective enamel of your teeth, tearing down with harsh and gritty tooth paste their only defense against decay? Every time you scratch your teeth, you remove part of the surface.

COLGATE'S CLEANS TEETH THE RIGHT WAY
"Washes" and Polishes—Doesn't Scratch or Scour

IT IS A DOUBLE ACTION DENTIFRICE:
(1) Loosens clinging particles.
(2) Washes them away.

Sensible in Theory. You can't beat common sense when backed by modern science. Healthy saliva is practically neutral, sometimes slightly alkaline. Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream is mildly alkaline, practically neutral, and cleanses without disturbing nature's balance. Avoid dentifrices that are strongly alkaline or appreciably acid. Colgate's helps to maintain the right mouth conditions.

Correct in Practice. Today scientific dentists know that harsh drugs and chemicals harm mouth tissues. Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream does not contain them. Authorities agree that a dentifrice should do only one thing—clean teeth thoroughly. Colgate's does this. No false claims are made that Colgate's possesses any other virtue, but it does possess this one in the highest degree, and in a higher degree than any other kind of dentifrice.

Colgate's cleans teeth thoroughly—no dentifrice does more. A LARGE tube costs 25c—why pay more?

That Tired Feeling

Is Just As Much a Warning as "Stop, Look and Listen."

It indicates run-down conditions and means that you must purify your blood, renew your strength, and your "power of resistance, or be in great danger of serious sickness, the grip, flu, fevers, contagious and infectious diseases.

Do not make light of it. It is serious. Give it attention at once. Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. He knows this good old family medicine is just the thing to take in spring for that tired feeling, loss of appetite, debility. It is an all-the-year-round medicine, wonderfully effective in the treatment of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism and run-down after disease conditions.
