

REMOVAL OF INVALID VETERANS OPPOSED

Order Affecting Tubercular Patients Here Protested.

EFFECT ON MEN FEARED

Transfer to New Federal Hospital at Walla Walla Is Declared Unwise at Present.

Oregon officials, ex-service men and others interested in the welfare of invalid ex-soldiers of this state were aroused yesterday over an order received from Seattle by the veterans bureau here to transfer the 22 tubercular patients being cared for at the Pierce sanatorium to the new government hospital at Walla Walla, and steps were taken in several quarters in the effort to have the ruling revoked.

The patients, practically all Oregon ex-service men, and many of them with families living in Portland, also are much upset by the order, it was stated, and it was feared that much of the good that has been accomplished for the men by the treatment here might be rapidly undone by removing them to eastern Washington.

Appeals Sent to Washington. Telegrams from a number of sources were sent to Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States veterans' bureau, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., asking that the order be revoked, and hope is expressed that such action may be taken by that official.

Representative McArthur's message was as follows: "Orders have been received transferring tubercular patients from Pierce sanatorium to veterans' hospital at Walla Walla. These orders are signed by L. C. C. Coffey, assistant tenth district. Citizens generally are thoroughly aroused over the action, meaning that Oregon patients should not be removed from state."

Removal of the men from Portland, where they have become settled and are accustomed, to a city strange to them, is feared will result in physical injury to the men physically, besides being unnecessarily hard for them, was the declaration of an expert when asked yesterday regarding the matter.

The order as received here provides for immediate action regarding the removal of the men, but hope is expressed by those interested in the men's welfare that a message reaching the order, or at least holding up action until investigation can be made, may be received before the men can be moved.

DOCTOR SUES AL BARNES

Bill for Caring for Injured Performer Declared Not Paid in Full.

Dr. Otis P. Akin, physician and surgeon of this city, has a good reason for this. Thus it is when show-bills are being presented to the Al G. Barnes circus because of a claim about Portland, he delved into his account file.

Buried among the 1919 records he found a bill which led to suit being filed in the circuit court yesterday against Bessie Hargy, singer and horseback rider, and Al G. Barnes, circus manager.

3 OF PARTY ARRESTED

Two Men at Roseburg Accused of Mann Act Violation.

ROSEBURG, Or., May 9.—(Special).—Les Conroy, aged 24, and Jack Kennedy, aged 25, were arrested today at Roseburg and charged with bringing Ruth and Norma Gray, aged 16 and 14 years respectively, from Los Angeles to Roseburg in violation of the Mann white slave act.

Conroy and Kennedy, with the two girls, arrived in Roseburg by automobile last night. It was alleged, they were out of money and the girls went out on the street to try to sell a bracelet to buy food and gasoline to proceed to Portland. They received a gift of $9 cents with which they bought food. Having no place to sleep, they drove the car onto a side street and slept in it. This morning the girls were endeavoring to sell a necker when the juvenile officer discovered them and began an investigation.

Japanese Held on Drug Charge.

AKERDEN, Wash., May 9.—(Special).—Accused of possession of narcotics and illegal entry into the United States by deserting his ship, Yohetatsu Jiro, was held on a charge of the steamer Seine Maru, was under arrest here today and was held pending a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner McKay. He was arrested by a local lodging house by federal officers who found about 25 grams of cocaine in his possession.

MISS YONA GUTHRIE was a bride yesterday. At noon, her marriage to Howard Charlton took place in the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Guthrie. Rev. Harold Leonard Bowman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated in the presence of the immediate relatives of the couple. The bride wore a gown of white lace with white hat trimmed with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of gardenia and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Sidney Ellis, Jr., of Los Angeles, attended her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Ellis wore a gown of rose chiffon, with hat in tones of rose. She carried Opuntia roses. Eugene Oppenheimer attended Mr. Charlton.

The rooms were decorated in pink blossoms and the luncheon table was centered with pink snap dragons and fruit blossoms. Members of the bridal party and the family were present at the luncheon and later Mr. and Mrs. Charlton left for a wedding trip. They will visit Mrs. L. Weaver, a sister of the bride, in San Francisco. Mrs. Weaver is just returned from a trip to Honolulu and was unable to reach Portland for the ceremony, but will entertain the couple in California. On returning Mr. and Mrs. Charlton will reside in Portland.

Mrs. Charlton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Charlton and is popular in business and social circles. His bride is one of the attractive society girls of Portland. Several social honors are being planned for Mrs. and Mrs. Charlton after they return from the wedding trip.

Mrs. Jarvis Webb will be honor guest today at a tea to be given by her sister, Mrs. Wilson Coffey, at the R. C. Coffey residence. Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Merle Campbell will receive the guests. About 125 guests have been invited to the tea table.

The next subscription dance planned by the younger society girls will be held Thursday in Portland Heights clubhouse.

Miss Louise Linticum will entertain a few friends at luncheon next Friday.

you will feel quite a bit of the season which blooms in color and perfect combination. Match the blue, when dyed, should you desire more fullness at the blouse line and close your back opening with two rows of hem-stitching.

Dear Madam Richey: Have a green silk dress like sample made like above—long sleeves, kimono style. Intend to shorten them, waist line is normal. The neck is perfect and seems quite impossible. Will you please suggest a way to make the dress over at least in some respects?

Am a little more than five feet, blonde complexion, but not a real light one, weigh about 110 pounds.

Should like a crepe frock to wear afternoon at home, I want something a little more dressy than an apron—which color should I select, orange or rose?

I have a practically new outing suit and khaki coat and trousers. Could the trousers be made over into knickerbockers that are to be worn this spring?

My mother has selected pattern No. 3588, page 27, March Delineator, to make up a reindeer wool jersey dress. How should it be trimmed and what color? She is rather small, about five feet in height, weight about 115 pounds, dark brown hair, slightly gray in front. Please suggest a color.

Will greatly appreciate any suggestions you may offer to my problem.

CONSTANT READER. There is not a great deal that offers a change for your green with stripe, but as a basic line to work upon I have selected No. 2310, page 13, Butterick's summer quarterly. Have the collar and the vestee of the batiste and the ash of black taffeta, the ends to be made into the cascade ripple on the left side only. Cut the sleeves to a becoming length and wear the batiste cuffs as a finish.

Would not care for the orange on one of your coloring. Why not do a fuchsia or a geranium? And if you do like the suggestion I would rather suggest that you copy the beautiful frock as pictured in the Butterick quarterly for summer, page 5, dress 2722. Use the black beads, preferably the jet. Such a gown will be charming for the house and as a theater garment in the fall.

For the wash crepe see the model as pictured on page 41, No. 3689. A blue or pink edged in the white would be dainty. Make the flowers of the crepe, using the green, pink and yellow.

The trousers of your outing suit will not cut over with any great success, as the line is quite different. There will still be worn the type you have and I would wear them as they are.

Have your mother trim her jersey dress with the black and the fuchsia worsted, as they will add to the otherwise rather dull shade.

Household Problems by Lilian Tinglo

THE DALLIES, Or., April 11.—Dear Miss Tinglo: Am writing you in regard to candy recipe for boys. I have another for nought using candied cherries. I have a recipe for boys' and girls' one for molasses loaf.

Dear Mr. F. D., who writes from Ellensburg, Wash., about molasses loaf. I will say that I always beat the whites of eggs and I do not use cream. I would not spill a fresh or their sliding at all and three tablespoons sugar should be added, as if I do not use cream, I use the very best bit, even if it is kept as long as three days, and will never wear out. This is the best recipe for your help and many recipes. MRS. E. M.

THANKS for your suggestions. Following is the only recipe I happen to have called "Mexican Kisses." I believe quite a wide variety of candies are sold under this name. If it is not what you want, write again, as some reader may help you.

Mexican kisses—Two cups sugar, one-half cup water, one-half teaspoon cream of tartar, one cup fresh grated coconut, two teaspoons vanilla. Cook the soft ball or to 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Let cool, then add the flavoring and coconut, beat until creamy. Drop on wax paper from tip of spoon. Wrap in squares of paraffine paper if not eaten at once.

I judge you want a soft, plain nougat without honey or gelatine. Put on the glucose sugar and water, boil to the beginning of the "hard ball." Combine with the stiff beaten egg whites. Flavoring as desired, one-half cup each finely chopped candied pineapple and cherries and roughly broken walnuts, or less if plain candy is wanted.
