The love of a man for a maid is cleverly worked out, the production is combined with complications galore, frustrated villainy, virtue triumphant, plenty of laugh-making incidents and a happy ending, the whole garnished with a sprinkling of tender and humorous songs of the "Old Sod." The players are headed by Ethel Intropoli.

A few of his new songs include "I Used to Believe in the Fairies," "The Clerk of Her Little Brogram," "Sweet Girl of My Dreams," "In Dublin Fair City" and "When." AX USED ON LIQUOR KEG OWNER TRIES TO DESTROY EVIDENCE CONFISCATED. Sample of Moonshine Taken by Officer and Proprietor of Hog Ranch Ordered Into Court. A Zink, proprietor of a hog ranch on the Linnton road, is a foxy individual. Thus it was, when deputy sheriffs raided his home yesterday afternoon, confiscating a keg containing two gallons of moonshine, and left the keg in their automobile as they wandered down the road a mile or so in search of further victims, he seized the opportunity to destroy the evidence.

Removal of the barrel, which had been covered by a heavy automobile robe, he applied an ax with such good results that when the officers returned there were left only the broken staves and the odor of white milk lingering in the air. Like all impromptu plots, it had a flaw, however. Zink did not reckon with the wily Joe Beeman, "boozie hound" of many successful raids. In fact, Zink was ordered to appear in court today.

On the same trip Deputies Beeman, Guimer and Wolfe discovered a de-
