

PAGEANT TO DEPICT COLUMBIA HISTORY

The Dalles Prepares to Accommodate Crowd of 7500.

INDIANS TO BE FEATURE

Entrance of Trail Blazers and Development of District Will Be Shown on Stage.

THE DALLES, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—On Friday, May 26, the second annual historical pageant depicting the development of the country drained by the Columbia and its reaches, will be presented in Queenst park at The Dalles by an organization made up of public spirited citizens interested in reproducing with exactness the legend and history of the past.

Last year it was estimated that more than 8000 persons viewed the pageant from the sides of the natural amphitheater in which it was staged. This year it is being enlarged on and polished off in the anticipation of a crowd of at least 7500, and perhaps more.

The legendary scenes will open about 4:30 in the afternoon and last until dusk. Indian mythology, as it describes the transformation of two chiefs, suitors for a woman's hand, into Mount Hood, and the resultant destruction of the Bridge of the Gods by Sah-ales Ty-ee, the great spirit, will be closely followed.

Gray's Entry to Be Depicted.

The historical scenes will open with the entry of Captain Robert Gray into the mouth of the Columbia river. Then, in smooth sequence, will follow the Lewis and Clark expedition; the arrival of Hudson bay trappers and Dr. John McLoughlin. The building of The Dalles, Methodist mission; the arrival of Daniel and Jason Lee in 1824; sermons preached from pupil rook, still standing as a marker for the original site of the first Indian mission, all will be mordantly portrayed with historical exactness in costumes of the times.

Then will come the Whitman party. The founding of St. Peter's mission and the arrival of Lieutenant John C. Fremont, "the pathfinder," in the spring of 1843, with the first wagon train to roll into The Dalles, completes the historical incidents of the pageant.

Indians to Be Feature.

By-plays of Indians, of whom there will be more than 100 from the Warm Springs reservation, dressed in their finest, will be one of the big features of the spectacle. Attacks by the Indians on parties of pioneers, war dances to the accompaniment of the rhythmic beating of tom-toms and Indian singing will be among the features.

The pageant was written by Mrs. Lulu D. Crandall, herself a pioneer of Wasco county. John Will will act as director. Miss Imogene Seaton will have charge of the legendary parts and Robert Murray will act as general field director.

Arrangements are being made to have the Columbia river highway, under construction between here and Mosier, open so that visitors may get through without trouble on the day of the pageant.

Arrangements will be made to care for visitors in private homes when hotel accommodations are unavailable.

No general charge of admission will be made, although reserved seats may be obtained at advantageous positions by those so desiring.

COUNTY ORDERED TO PAY

Court Affirms Part of Judgment Involving Road Condition.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 19.—(Special.)—A county may be held for damages for injuries resulting from an accident caused by a highway being rutted and the ruts filled with water, the supreme court held yesterday, in part affirming and in part reversing the lower court of Spokane county in the case of Phyllis Howe and Marjorie Howe, minor, by Ruth Howe, their guardian ad litem, and Ruth Howe, against Whitman county.

Harold B. Howe, husband of Ruth Howe and father of the minor children, was fatally hurt as a result of being thrown from an auto on the inland Empire highway in Whitman county. On the first cause of action, for pain and suffering of Howe between the date of the accident and his death, the jury allowed $5000 recovery. This portion of the award is affirmed.

On the second cause of action for Howe's death, the jury allowed $20,000. This portion of the judgment is reversed and dismissed.

LANE TO HAVE FLOAT

Representation in Portland Rose Festival Parade Decided on.

EUGENE, Or., May 19.—(Special.)—Lane county will be represented in one of the big parades of the Portland Rose Festival with a float depicting the scenic assets and hunting and fishing possibilities of this section of the state.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon of keepers of mountain resorts in Lane county a decision to enter such a float was reached and a committee as follows was named: E. C. Simmons, E. Eugene Chadwick, Harold Glasou, Arthur Hendershott, Alfred L. Park-
