

DEBS JOINS FIGHT TO FREE PRISONERS

Political Offenders Held No More Guilty Than He.

HARDING'S STAND RAPPED

Shutting of Door in Faces of Child Crusaders Cited—President's Words on Christ Recalled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—(Special.)—Eugene V. Debs will insist that he be returned to the penitentiary unless the political prisoners incarcerated are released. In a letter to Kate Richards O'Hare, leader of the "children's crusade," he declared the fathers of the children now appealing for executive clemency are no more guilty than he was and advised picketing of the White House and the department of justice until the crusaders get a hearing.

"I should never have believed that an American president would shut his door in the faces of sad, weary and bedraggled little children, who had made their way by charity across half the continent to plead the release of their unjustly imprisoned fathers," Debs wrote.

"In my interview with the president he talked about the spirit of Christ and I am wondering if he made manifest his conception of that spirit when he had the White House police forbid the little children of whom Christ said, 'Forbid them not, to come into his august presence.'"

"I advise the picketing of the White House and the department of justice, so called, by the little children until they secure a decent hearing at the hands of the nation's servants. If their fathers had been foreign spies and criminals instead of honest American citizens, they would have been released long ago. Not one of them committed an overt act or any other crime save that of belonging to a labor union and expressing an honest opinion and to hold them in prison as convicted felons when every other nation on earth releases its war prisoners, is nothing less than less than infamous and a foul and damning blot on the government of the United States."

Make It Issue, Is Advice. "If the fathers of those children deserve to be kept in prison with convicted murderers I have no right to be at large. They are no more guilty than I am, and I demand their release or upon my being returned to the penitentiary with them, where I belong if the expression of opinion is a crime."

"We shall make this the burning issue and upon that issue we shall arouse the American people and compel action in behalf of the martyrs free speech, whose pleading children the president had his police turn from the White House door. At Stewart's Daugherty's office it was stated that Mr. Debs' sentence had been served in full and that there is no legal way by which the department could return him to the penitentiary unless he commits a new offense."

Chief of Police Jenkins Is Halted as Speeder. Traffic Cop at Cornelius Cautions Officer to Go Slower. POLICE CHIEF JENKINS Sunday night got a wee bit of the sort of grief he has been handing out for a good many years.

Fact is, the chief got "pinched." And it wasn't one of those fake movie arrests, at that. It was the genuine thing, wherein the affable Portland police chief had to do a lot of tall talking before he could square himself.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

The funny clothes you used to wear back in the early '20s when you went to high school, and when the unseen ear was unheard of? High school girls of all classes were skits to their heels. It was nothing for a boy in the freshman class to go to school under a derby. The young woman who did not wear a pompadour, or at least a curl, wasn't in the swim, and collars and sleeves were high and long, respectively.

CAMP IS SET FOR JUNE

FEDERAL FUNDS MADE AVAILABLE EARLIER.

Coast Artillery Units to Train at Fort Worden and Infantry at Camp Lewis.

As the culmination of a four-months' fight by Adjutant-General White, seeking authority to hold the 1922 encampment of the Oregon national guard in June instead of July, announcement was made in Portland yesterday that a much larger militia bureau had approved the plan and that the camp would be held between June 15 and 25.

A special appropriation of $104,259.89 has been set aside by the militia bureau for pay, subsistence and transportation. The camp was fixed originally for July, due to the notification received in Oregon that no federal funds would be available for the purpose before July.

The camp was taken up with the ninth corps area commander and militia bureau, Colonel White pointing out that the June camp would draw a much larger attendance due to crop and fruit conditions and would immediately follow school vacations.

It was necessary to obtain a special dispensation from the secretary of war to get the funds required. Coast artillery units will train at Fort Worden on Puget sound, instead of Fort Stevens on the Columbia, as in 1921, and the infantry and other units at Camp Lewis.
