

BEAUTIFY PORTLAND, SAYS JOHN BARRETT

Growing City Must Not Lose Its Charm, Is Warning.

FUTURE IS HELD GREAT

Glowing Picture of Oregon Metropolis in Years to Come Is Drawn by Publicist.

A glowing picture of the Portland of the future—a metropolis renowned not alone for its material accomplishments...

Future Needs Considered. "The Portland of 1922 must bear in mind the Portland of 2,000,000, and must build with the realization that it is destined to be a great metropolis...

Beautiful City Possible. "There is no reason why Portland cannot become the most beautiful city in the world," he said.

Mr. Barrett dwells almost entirely upon the physical development of Portland. As former director of the Pan-American union and as minister to a number of South American and Asiatic countries, Mr. Barrett has had an opportunity to study at close hand almost every great city in the world...

Growth Held Marvellous. "Portland has experienced marvellous growth, both materially and artistically as well as socially and culturally," he said.

"I feel it especially, coming here as I did when the city had a population of but 20,000, and was laying the foundations for its present growth. Having that as a foundation, what I want to emphasize is the fact that the standpoint of one who has been around the world three times and who has been in every important city in the world, who is urging on the people of Portland is to do everything to make the city one of the most beautiful in the world, if not the most beautiful."

Opportunity Is Great. "There are only one or two cities in America that have the setting that Portland has, the opportunity for physical beauty, and it would be a crime to future generations if every effort was not made now, supplemental to what has already been done, to give it a beautiful environment that all the world will recognize."

"We see now in Europe, in South America and in the older cities of this country that the people are regretting that when they were younger and smaller they did not plan for the future. They are expending millions and billions now to remedy what it would have cost comparatively little to prevent."

"It is well to remember that the great American traveling public, and that great element which are seeking new homes are now looking for new cities which are beautiful, healthy, clean, well planned, and materially rich; that is, where they can make a home in a lovely environment while earning a living."

River Wonderful One. "Therefore, taking this wonderful river that flows through the heart of the city, taking the background of hills and the foreground of mountains, with all this environment, the Columbia river, the wonderful drives to nearby scenery, there ought to be made every effort towards carrying out a magnificent city plan. For there is going to be keen competition with the other coast cities in this respect."

"Everywhere I go I hear expressions about the potentialities of Portland, its great beauty, as well as its material and commercial possibilities. "But as an ex-resident and one who has always counted Portland as home, I want to say again, that the beautiful must be developed along with the material if Portland is to attain its full destiny as one of the great cities of the world."

Problems of Dressmaking by Madam Richet

PORTLAND, Or., May 20.—Dear Madam Richet: Will enclosed sample be all right for cape suit for girl of 16? The color is becoming to her complexion. For lining of cape would silk of same shade do, or what? Would you suggest hair in same shade? MRS. L. B.

MRS. L. B.—How nice of you to tell me that the column has been missed. It is a stimulus to bigger, better work to know that our efforts are really helpful and I am glad of the service to and for the readers herewith.

The enclosed is stunning for the young Miss, but I think the blouse and hat in a cream with a touch of orange would be far more attractive and not such a "splash" of color. Line the cape in "buff" crepe

Society News

DANCE parades, garden parties, motor trips and various entertainments that will occupy social attention for the next few weeks are but heralds of the gay and festive days that are to come when the Rose Festival of 1922 shall make its appearance.

Yesterday Miss Corneilia Cook was appointed chairman of the committee that will plan for the entries of flower bedecked autos in the floral parade of June 23. Miss Cook is one of the popular artists also one of the efficient society girls of Portland and is sure to inspire a great amount of interest among the social set who will enter their cars and compete for honors.

The rose show, too, will hold much of social interest and many a clever and artistic maid and matron will compete in the exhibition of decorated tea tables. This feature will inspire many of the young women who are just beginning to entertain, to attend and gather ideas for the functions they will plan during the season.

Yesterday Mrs. Robert Tucker entertained at a smart tea in Alexandra Court honoring her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harlan Tucker of California. The drawing room, reception room and the men's smoking room were all used for the occasion and were fragrant with the perfume of the choicest blossoms of the May time. The rooms banked in flowers and palms were fairly laden in appearance.

Mrs. Lloyd Robert Gray, Miss Mary Warrack, Mrs. Jay Russell Coffey and Mrs. John H. White presided at the tea table. Assisting about the rooms were several prominent maids and matrons.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wheelwright, Mrs. Thomas Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. George T. Gerlinger are among the many Portlanders who will motor to Eugene Sunday to attend the exercises and dedication of the Murray Warner art collection to be held on Monday at 2:30 o'clock in the women's building. The collection, which includes many priceless articles of oriental art, is the gift of Mrs. Warner to a memorial to her husband, the late Murray Warner. The university is fortunate in obtaining this gift. The university is not the first to be benefited by gifts from the Warner family. Nancy Foster hall was a gift of Mrs. Warner's grandmother to Chicago university. Smith dormitory at Harvard is the gift of a cousin. A grandmother gave Peterboro, N. H., a library, and her mother gave the same town a beautiful historical building.

Miss Grace Marvin of Culver City, Calif., who is associated with the Hal Roach studios, has come to Portland to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Edythe, to Fred Hickox at noon today.

Mrs. Yonji Takeda, wife of the Japanese consul, will arrive tonight on the Shasta limited from Japan. She will be established in her consular residence at Eighteenth and Irving streets, where, after a fortnight or so, Mrs. Takeda will be at home to callers. As she has come direct from her homeland, she will reserve the time to become acquainted in her new residence and then will be glad to welcome visitors.

Mrs. Homer V. Carpenter and Mrs. Homer D. Angell will entertain June 12 with a dinner party for 40 in the home of Mrs. Angell at 1230 S.W. Third. The gathering will precede the last dance of Portland Heights club for the season.

Brandt Wickersham, who has many friends here, was a visitor in Portland yesterday en route from San Francisco to the golf tournament at Vancouver, B. C.

Mrs. Charles Thomas (Ruth Martin) of Astoria is visiting Miss Isabelle Clark. Monday Mrs. Margaret Ayer Hayden gave an informal tea at the visitor.

Adrian McCallum has returned from Berkeley and is with his mother at Alexandra Court. They have as guests William Williams of Los Angeles and Robert Merrill of Berkeley, two college men who are on their way to the golf tournament at Vancouver.

de chine, or in the shade matching the blouse.

PRINCEVILLE, Or.—Dear Madam Richet: Would you kindly suggest a way to remodel a dress like enclosed sample. What shall I combine with it? It is made similar to enclosed sketch, only no seams in front of jacket. The skirt part of jacket is plain. Dress skirt narrow, 69 inches at hem. Never worn but few times. Would appreciate something for afternoon and evening wear. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall, 110 lbs. Hair brown, eyes blue. Color of color, bust 42, waist 29, hips 42.

CONSTANT READER. Or.—Your sample and type of your jacket are most promising and for the style in mind for the remodeling I will ask you to send me a dress in the summer. Inasmuch as you are blessed with the plenty of color why not have the collar, back and the edges of the cream satin with the tucked vest of the same? Use your jacket skirt for the lower vest and the front tabs, and use the cream satin for the vest. Where the tabs are placed a strip of the satin can be used in the same way as the bottom finish illustrations. This style of dress should be splendid type for you.

Dear Madam Richet: I am a girl 13 years old and have dark brown hair and eyes and medium complexion. What color would be most becoming to me? I have some brown taffeta to make into a dress. Would like some idea as to how to make it. Would like some idea as to how to make it look thin. Thanking you very much. MISS DAVIES.

MISS DAVIES.—The browns, hennas, greys and blues should become you. The basque type is being worn, but if you desire a line tending towards the more slender type of figure do not wear the basque style. Your brown taffeta will make up effectively after the model as shown in the Butterick's quarterly, summer number, page 22. No 2615. Do the hand work in a combination of colors as shown in the sketch. The fact that your blouse will be the same shade as the skirt will in no way detract from the general line, in fact it will have some advantages. Will be glad to be of further assistance, as I am greatly interested in the girls who are making or planning their own clothes.

NEWPORT, Or.—Dear Madam Richet: I want a wrap for this summer and early fall and cannot decide between a coat or a cape. Which would you advise? I should spend the summer here where it is quite cool. What kind of material would you suggest and could you also give a pattern? I am short and slight in stature and 28 years of age. Assuring you that your advice will be greatly appreciated. T. J.

T. J. Newport, Or.—The cape is such a comfortable and graceful garment and when the cooler days of fall are upon us it is always easy to

The Portland Menorah society will give its first annual ball Saturday night, May 27, at the B'nai B'rith building. This is the only dance the Menorah society is giving this year, and no expense is being spared to make it one of the best of the season. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Isaac Vidgoff, Samuel Holsky and William Weisner. Patrons and patronesses are: Rabbi and Mrs. Jonah B. Wise, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Louisson, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Blumatter, Dr. and Mrs. Laurence Seiling and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shemanski.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 23.—(Special.)—The engagement of Lettie Biddle and Kenneth Jones of Salem was announced at the Zeta meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at third floor Pythian building, 383 Yamhill street. Dancing and refreshments will be the diversions of the evening. All members and their friends are invited.

A five hundred card party will be given under the auspices of the Altruistic club of Orpha Temple No. 18, Pythian sisters, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, third floor Pythian building, 383 Yamhill street. Refreshments will be in aiding ill and needy families of Portland and vicinity. Prizes will be awarded for the winners at cards. The public is cordially invited.

Peninsula Park Lavender club will hold its quarterly birthday dinner tomorrow at 12:30 P. M. at the clubhouse.

Portland Shakespeare Study club will have a lawn party tonight at the home of Mrs. E. L. Trestrail of 1182 Moore street. Take Williams avenue or St. Johns car to Killingsworth avenue and walk one block west. Today being guest day, an interesting program has been arranged. Mrs. A. Stephens and Mrs. R. Silkiner will be assistant hostesses.

Central W. C. T. U. will meet this afternoon from 1 to 4 at the Y. W. A. A. on the sixth floor. Mrs. Mary Mallett, state president, will give a talk and Mrs. J. J. Clapsdahl will entertain with vocal selections. Mrs. C. W. Barzoo will take charge of the contributions for the hope chest for the children's farm home, consisting of sheets, pillow cases, comforts, table linen and other necessities. Friends are invited to attend.

Women's Activities The regular meeting of the executive board of the Portland Chamber of Commerce will be held in room 551 courthouse Friday afternoon, May 26, at 1:30 o'clock. This being the final meeting of the present official board it is an important one and every member is urged to be present at the appointed hour.

Following luncheon a study of the book of Judges was continued. Discussions were given by Mrs. G. E. Murphy, Mrs. Lillian Murdock, Mrs. H. Haselton, Mrs. R. M. Gray and Mrs. E. Brightie. Papers were read by Mrs. Bluford D. Sigler on "The Idea of God in the Book of Judges," and by Mrs. Haselton on "The Religious Life of the Hebrews After Their Initial Conquests in Canaan."

This was the final meeting before summer vacation. Officers for the ensuing term were elected. The annual picnic will be held sometime in June when all associate and honorary members will be invited.

An outline of next year's work, which will include a study of first and second Samuel and first and second Kings, Amos and Hosea, was given by Mesdames B. D. Sigler, Gage Haselton and W. K. Royal.

The American Legion auxiliary will hold a poppy sale, the memorial flower of the auxiliary, Monday May 22, to raise funds for the sick, aged and disabled ex-service men and their families. These flowers are being made by the boys in the government hospital.

The Oregon Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be "at home" in its friends at the new headquarters, 112-413 Stock Exchange building, Third and Yamhill streets, from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. tomorrow, celebrating the 32th anniversary of their organization.

The officers of Multnomah county W. C. T. U. will be in charge of the reception, with officers present and past being the honor guests. The regular affairs to which this organization has devoted itself will be taken up and the presence of all its members on this occasion will be appreciated.

Dr. McElveen has arranged a very unusual meeting for tomorrow night in the parlors of the First Congregational church. Herbert Powell Lee, who has for a number of months been specializing in what he calls golden rule economics, will speak on the program of the golden rule forum and William Simpson, who knows by experience much about the gift of healing, will speak upon "The Gift Neglected by the Church."

The women's association of the First Congregational church will hold its last working meeting of the season today. It will be an all-day meeting with luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Robert A. Reid is chairman of the luncheon committee. The association will hold another meeting next Wednesday, but that will be a play meeting, when the members of the association will congratulate the officers of a splendid year's work. Mrs. Eulah Mitchell Carroll is chairman of the committee on play for that day.

Ellet Parent-Teacher association will meet tomorrow at 2:30 P. M. in the assembly hall for the last meeting of the year. The school will hold open house and there will be a display of work from the various departments. There will be classes from 1 to 3 and from 7:30 to 8:30 P. M. W. P. Woodard will explain the proposed bond issue and the needs of the school. A program and selections from the Jefferson high school orchestra will be the closing features of the day. Patrons and friends of the school and association are invited.

Irvington Parent-Teacher association met Friday for the last session of this year. E. H. Whitney gave an address on the bond issue and Mrs. P. A. Penhaff gave vocal selections. Tea was served.

Household Problems by Lillian Tingle

HILLSDALE, Or., May 12.—Dear Miss Tingle: (1) Of late I have not been having very good success with my cakes. I follow directions but they do not come out every time in spite of everything I can do. My husband says that just before putting the cake in the oven he lifts up the pan and the cake will fall out. I have tried this hard on the table. She says that this breaks the air bubbles and thus prevents the cake from rising. What do you think? (2) My cakes are always lighter on one side and the William Weisner feature Bowersox, Hazel Flynn, Dr. Saari and Mr. and Mrs. Holt.

Of interest are the closing parties and annual dance revue of Christensen's dancing school to be held at Christensen's hall, Friday night the high school and juniors will participate and Saturday afternoon the closing party for the children's classes will be held.

OVER measuring sugar, or baking powder, or both, may be a cause of falling. The very fine granulated sugar packs close, and sometimes it is possible to get more than eight ounces into a cup, though when a recipe calls for "one cup" it means eight ounces, and other things are adjusted to this.

Nothing from the oven too soon is another frequent cause of falling. Too much shortening is another cause.

Your friend's method tends to prevent holes, but makes no difference to the falling of cakes. It is not quite a satisfactory method with all cake mixtures, though it may be good with the type of frosting you use.

Your oven evidently does not bake evenly. Do what you can to remedy this, first by trying to find the cause, if possible, and removing that, or if you do not succeed with this, see that you turn your cake (avoiding shaking it, of course) to secure even baking.

Also be sure your pan stands flat and evenly; some pans get warped by the heat.

Lining the cake pan with greased paper projecting one inch above the pan, will enable you to use a projecting sheet of paper over the top when you are trying to equalize the heat.

Generally the easiest way is to add a teaspoon of lemon juice or vinegar with the salt and 1 teaspoon of oil.

I never go shopping without my CheckBook. One so often encounters genuine bargains—opportunities to save quite a few dollars by paying cash—that's why I always have my check book tucked away in a corner of my hand-bag. Its presence there gives me a sense of confidence, too, even if I don't have occasion to use it.
