RAILS SHOWING DULLNESS

Expected Action of Railway to Bring About Annual Saving of $50,000,000.

BY MONITOR.

(Coppright, 1922, by the Public Ledge-Company, Fublished by Arrangemen.)

NEW YORK, May 22.—(Special)—Stocks moved in rather uncertain fashion today, with a moderate reduction in the volume of trading. There were times along in the afternoon when the market was postively duit. Features of exceptiona, activity and strength were formished only by specialties or scattered issues in certain groups. Among these were Allied Chemical, Crucible, Guif States and a few other industrials. Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, Lima Locomotive and North American company also were strong.

There was iurther activity in Chicago & Alion, but otherwise there was little feature to the rais. The fullness in the raiss seems rather surprising in view of the constructive character of the decision by the apathy of speculation toward the raiss by per cent as a reasonable return on aggregated action by the railway labor board in reducing the common labor scale, it is estimated, will bring about a saving of approximately $50,000,000 in railway operating and maintenance costs. In spite of the apathy of speculation toward the rails however, well-informed sentiment is builtish on this class of securities.

Recent activity in Republic Iron & Steel and Midvaic was explained by merger plans late in the afternoon. In the case of Republic this development apparently had been fairly well discounted.

The weekly review of the Iron Age was given a favorable interpretation in view of the comment to the effect that current buying is on a larger scale than had been expected and that demand in some directions is urgent. The statement regarding the small reserve stocks of automobile plants also created surprise.

the latter did not materially depress cash prices. The local trading basis was steady with contract grades bringing the May price. The seaboard reported an indifferent foreign demand with buyers apparently holding off on the belief that considerable of the wheat being delivered on May contracts will be consigned abroad. Charters were taken for 250,000 bushels to Buffalo. The present pressure of cash wheat can be regarded as a temporary factor, which might make for a strong situation next month hasmuch as the actual supply of grain is not increased, but rather is placed at points of ready distribution.

adequate buying caused weakness in oats futures. Unfavorable crop reports failed to revive interest on the buying side, be-cause of the slow demand for the large available stocks.

Dawes, vice-president of the Central Trust company of Chicago, and prother of General Charles Dawes, of "Hell and Maria" fame, who was in Portland yesterday, Mr. Dawes was here to look after local business inferests and left last night. "Business in improving rapidly and it is coming back to stay," he told Emery Olimstead, president of the Northwestern National bank. "The revival is more slow in the middle west aggicultural districts, due to the fact that wheat and corn prices in the past two years have not been good. Now the prospects for not only good crops but fair prices are much better and there is a vastly different feeling sweeping through the country. Everywhere there is optimism. I am agreeably surprised to find financial conditions improving throughout the northwest."
