

THREAT OF WAR MENACES IRISH

Troops to Enforce Ban on Proposed Republic.

STERN POLICY ADOPTED

Churchill Scores Republican Leaders in Speech in House of Commons.

DISORDER IN ISLAND CITED

Conditions Declared Reflection on Capacity of People for Government.

LONDON, May 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—British troops will prevent the establishment of a republic in Ireland, if such action should become necessary, Winston Spencer Churchill, foreign secretary, declared in the house of commons today during debate on the Irish situation.

"In the event a republic is set up," he said, "it is the intention of the British government to hold Dublin as one of the preliminary and essential steps of military operations."

Position Is Stated.

Mr. Churchill in the commons and Lord Chancellor Birkenhead in the house of lords, announced Great Britain's position as rigid adherence to the treaty, which the pact entered into between Eamon de Valera and Michael Collins is declared to have menaced.

The return of Mr. Collins to Dublin, with Arthur Griffith remaining in London together with announcement of a further postponement of the Dail Eireann's sessions, suggests the possibility of further negotiations after conversations between Collins and de Valera to see how far the points made at London can be met at Dublin.

Mr. Churchill's speech seems to have created general satisfaction, according to reports from Dublin and Belfast, while Messrs. Collins and Griffith adjudged it "a fair presentation of the facts."

Lord Birkenhead told the house of lords that the British government stands for the treaty with Ireland in letter and spirit and would not go an inch beyond it. Under no conceivable circumstances would the government consent to the republicans becoming ministers in the Irish government and should such a crisis arise the resources of Great Britain were by no means exhausted.

Dail Decision Tragic.

The government's policy corresponded with the wishes of the democrats of the two islands for whose political fortunes the government was the trustee. The Dail Eireann's action in January postponing the elections was a tragic decision, he declared, showing great weakness, political inexperience and lack of judgment on the part of the provisional government, while the Collins-de Valera agreement came as an additional shock.

The consequences of the agreement were very serious, Secretary Churchill said, and it seemed probable that the Irish people would not be able to give free expression to their views in the election of the government.

If Mr. de Valera or any others who might be chosen ministers in the new Irish government, under the terms of the treaty, refused to sign the declaration of allegiance to England prescribed in the treaty, the secretary continued, "the treaty was broken by that fact, and the imperial government resumed such liberty of action—whether in regard to the resumption of the powers which had been transferred, or the occupation of territory—as it might think appropriate and proportionate to the gravity of the breach."

Treaty to Be Observed.

The imperial government would not, in any circumstances, agree to deviate from the treaty, either in the strict letter or the honest spirit of the document, Mr. Churchill declared.

"It is almost certain," Mr. Churchill went on, "that the Irish people will not be able to say in an intelligent way whether they accept or reject the treaty offered by Great Britain. A certain number of labor or independent candidates may doubtless obtain election, but it is difficult to see how the parliament resulting from the election and the

BUILDING PERMITS $3,206,110 FOR MAY

1922 IS EXPECTED TO BREAK CITY'S STRUCTURAL RECORD.

Figures for Month Just Past Are Nearly Double Corresponding 1921 Amount.

That building activity in the city of Portland will hang up a new record mark this year became more apparent yesterday when the total volume of permits issued for the month of May reached well over the three million mark, exceeding the volume of permits for the preceding month by nearly a million and nearly doubling the figure for the same month last year.

The total of permits issued for the month ending yesterday was $3,206,110, compared with $2,299,205 for the month of April and $1,712,340 for the month of May last year.

Of the permits issued for the month just closed, 348 were for residences of an average cost of $346,040. This is an average of nearly $10,000 for each house, which is unusually high, and indicates activity in the construction of high-class homes.

Building permits for the first five months of the present year aggregated $12,070,600, compared with a total of $8,032,355 for the same period last year.

Back clearings for the month just closed also showed a gain over the corresponding month of last year and indicated that Portland's finances are getting back to a more normal basis. The clearings for the month just closed amounted to $128,209,541, compared with $114,723,334 for the month of May, 1921.

If the same ratio of increase is continued in June, the first half of this year should show as great a volume of clearings as the first half of 1921. Clearings for the first five months of the year amounted to $607,913,756, compared with $615,233,450 for the first five months of last year.

Postal receipts for the month of May showed an increase of 13.3 per cent compared with the corresponding month of last year. The heavy volume of election material accounted for some of this increase.

ALVIN YORK WINS DEED

Rotarians Clear Title to Farm of Argonne Hero.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 31.—Sergeant Alvin York at last feels secure, the deed to his 400-acre river bottom farm in Fentress county having been presented to him with the title clear by J. T. Sheeler of Jameson, one of the trustees of the fund started by the Nashville Rotary club with which the farm was purchased.

The first campaign for the fund left the title to the farm clouded with a mortgage and the Argonne hero recently won meeting considerably worried over meeting payments on the indebtedness. A second campaign was inaugurated by the Rotarians and the mortgage was paid. Presentation of the deed was held up pending incorporation in the document of an account of the sergeant's exploit in France.

MANIAC TRIES TO KILL

One Victim Attacked While Asleep, Near Death; Another Escapes.

BATONVILLE, Wash., May 31.—(Special.)—C. Romani is in the Eatonville hospital near death as the result of an attack by Pete Bini this morning at 5 o'clock.

Bini had acted queerly for some time, but was not supposed to be dangerous. This morning he became suddenly insane. The two men occupied the same room. Romani was asleep when attacked. He is still unconscious and has a fracture of the base of the skull.

Bini then attempted to kill G. Romani, by shooting him but the latter managed to get the gun away from the maniac. Bini then made for the woods in the direction of the mountain road.

Taft to Go to ENGLAND

Chief Justice Will Study English Judicial System.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—Chief Justice Taft will leave shortly for England, where, during a stay of several weeks, he will study the English judicial system, with a view to determining its characteristics, which lead to great expedition in the settlement of legal trials and issues. He notified President Harding of his intent today during a White House call.

Sir John A. Simon, head of the English bar, and formerly attorney-general of Great Britain, extended an invitation to the chief justice to visit England. It will be, it is said, the first visit by a chief justice of the United States for such a purpose. The visit will be entirely unofficial.

INSECTS HOLD UP TRAINS

Railroad Operation Interrupted by Crawling Caterpillars.

GROVELAND, Cal., May 21.—A plague of caterpillars threatens to interrupt operations of the Hetch Hetchy railroad. The insects crawl along the rails, covering them some times for distances of a mile and making them so slippery that the engines cannot pull the trains up the grades.

Many times the crews had to cut the engine from the train, run over the caterpillar-covered rails and then coat the rails with sand before the train could be pulled through.

CLUB DELEGATES KEYED FOR FIGHT

Scholarship Loan Fund Bone of Contention.

WOMEN READY FOR FRAY

Proposed Changes in Policy to Be Debated Soon.

ARBUCKLE FILMS TARGET

Resolutions Are Introduced Com- mending Mr. Hays for Bar- ring Fatty's Pictures.

LAKE LYTLE, Or., May 31.—(Special.)—This is not election year in the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs convention, but the excitement and thrill of a contest are here nevertheless. They are manifested in an undecurrent of feeling which will be given expression when the scholarship loan fund comes up for discussion tomorrow or Friday.

Both sides are holding back until the matter is before the convention, neither wishing to disclose any hints as to suggested changes in the method of controlling the fund. The discussion, when actually on the floor of the convention, is expected to enliven the whole session.

The clubwomen will vote tomorrow or Friday on resolutions, introduced today, commending the action of Will H. Hays in holding up the distribution of the Roscoe Arbuckle films.

"It is hoped that this will be made a permanent policy in regard to any films in which Arbuckle or any actor of like character takes part," continues the resolution.

Resolution Is Applauded.

From the applause which greeted the resolution introduced by Mrs. Alexander Thompson, chairman of the legislative department, the convention will go on record as "opposing the movement on foot to repeal by initiative enactment the state millage tax for higher education." Mrs. Thompson introduced another resolution favoring removal of all property qualifications from voters, and a third resolution indorsing a bill now before congress, which provides that the appointment of prohibition enforcement officers be taken out of politics and the employees be placed under civil service rules.

Another resolution would change the time of the convention session from spring to fall.

The club women are asked to indorse the Johnson immigration and naturalization bill, which gives women independent citizenship, in a resolution introduced by Miss Elizabeth K. Mathews of Oak Grove.

Olympia Reports 95 Degrees.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 31.—(Special.)—With a maximum temperature this afternoon of 95 degrees, 3 degrees higher than Tuesday, a new record was set.

HEAT REGISTERS 94; ALMOST CITY RECORD

SECOND HIGHEST MAY SCORE IN 35 YEARS HUNG UP.

Mercury Climbs to Torrid Height During Day Only to Tumble 14 Degrees by Night.

From a flying start acquired the first three days of the week, the heat wave yesterday swept forward in Portland to the second highest May temperature in the city's history. This was 94 degrees, registered by the official government thermometer at 3:15 P. M.

The only time the Portland weather bureau station ever had recorded a higher temperature for May was 95 years ago, on May 29, 1887, when 99 was reached.

It was a hot day from beginning to end, through which Portlanders sweated. To appreciate this, and also the fact that the torrid spell has been cumulative in its work, one need only note that the mercury at 5 A. M. yesterday was at 63, the maximum recorded last Friday afternoon. Here is how the maximums of succeeding days climbed: Saturday, 77; Sunday, 82; Monday, 83; Tuesday, 90; Wednesday, 94.

The heat wave was felt the more intensely because it arrived so unexpectedly, driving in on the tag-end of a lagging spring of subnormal temperatures. It lasted long enough to parch the neglected lawns and gardens.

Those who look at the bright side of things may take pride in Portland's thorough-going manner of competing with torrid zone regions—it was the third hottest city in the United States yesterday on the weather bureau maps. Roseburg ranked second, with a record of 100, and Phoenix, Ariz., held first place, at 102.

Relief came just as suddenly as had come the warm wave, the temperature taking a drop of 14 degrees between 6 and 7 o'clock last night. A haze of smoke and clouds covering the sky and a freshening breeze helped to rout the heat. The forecast promises cooler weather for today.

The Willamette river remained stationary yesterday at 17.4. The forecast is that it will drop a bit today and tomorrow, but probably will begin rising again Saturday.

The record of hourly temperatures yesterday was this:

5 A. M.	63	1 P. M.	93
6 A. M.	67	2 P. M.	93
7 A. M.	73	3 P. M.	94
8 A. M.	77	4 P. M.	94
9 A. M.	80	5 P. M.	95
10 A. M.	80	6 P. M.	95
11 A. M.	80	7 P. M.	95
12 M.	80	8 P. M.	95

MERCURY RECORD BROKEN

Yesterday Warmest Day in May for Last 30 Years in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 31.—(Special.)—This was the warmest day in May on record, the temperature being 95 this afternoon, according to records kept by A. A. Quarnberg, official weather observer. The air was quiet this forenoon, but the hot wind in the afternoon made all vegetation wilted and dried out gardens, flowers and lawns.

Mr. Quarnberg has been keeping the records for 30 years himself, but has other records going back farther than that.

City Council Refuses to Adopt Clock Retarding Plan.

Members of the city council yesterday unanimously joined Mayor Baker in the refusal to order a change of clocks to conform with the requests of those seeking daylight saving in Portland.

Mayor Baker announced that out of the total communications sent to his office on the subject, 1146 favored the plan and 4629 opposed it.

He recommended that no further consideration be given the subject and his recommendation was concurred in by all of the other members of the council.

PICKFORD DIVORCE DECREE SUSTAINED

SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA UPHOLDS DISTRICT JUDGE.

Movie Star Declared Freed Legally From Owen Moore Under Laws of State.

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mary Pickford's divorce from Owen Moore was sustained today by the Nevada supreme court. In an unanimous opinion and order written by E. A. Ducker, junior associate justice, the court late today held that Attorney-General Fowler had no authority to institute proceedings to have the divorce annulled and set aside.

The supreme court's decision was an affirmation of the order of District Judge Langan quashing service of summons in an action brought by the attorney-general to set aside the divorce decree.

Miss Pickford won a divorce from Owen Moore at Minden, Nev., March 30, 1920. Fowler's action to have the decree set aside was based on the contention that Miss Pickford had not lived in Nevada the period required by law. When the district court in which the divorce was granted held that the action had been regular in every particular Fowler appealed to the state supreme court, charging that the divorce was obtained through fraud and collusion on the part of Miss Pickford, and that the Minden court had no jurisdiction.

In an opinion of 15 typewritten pages, the supreme court today said in substance:

"Until the legislature acts and empowers the attorney-general or other officers to represent the state's interests in divorce suits, the duty must remain where it has always exclusively resided, in the court hearing the case."

The court held inapplicable section 4133 of the Nevada revised law reading: "Whenever the governor shall direct, or in the opinion of the attorney-general, to protect the interest of the state, it is necessary that a suit be commenced or defended in any court, it is hereby made the duty of the attorney-general to commence said action or make such defense; and such action may be instituted in any district court in the state or in any justice court of the proper county."

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—"I am very, very happy, more happy than I can express," said Mary Pickford when informed of the decision of the Nevada supreme court, upholding her divorce from Owen Moore, according to her counsel, Gavin McNab, who telephoned the news to her in Los Angeles.

Shots Without Warning.

The shooting took place on the Silverton highway about six miles from Salem and about one mile from the Bangert ranch house, which is located on a side road, west of the highway.

Mrs. Bangert, wife of the dead man, Clara Gruenfelder and Melvin Gruenfelder had elected to motor to Salem in Gruenfelder's car.

According to Gruenfelder, the party was nearing the highway when it met Bangert. Without comment he began to shoot. Gruenfelder speeded up the car and attempted to make a get-away, but as the machine swung into the highway it threw a tire and it was necessary for the occupants to abandon the automobile.

Auto Party Scatter.

Gruenfelder made his way a short distance down the lane on the other side of the highway, while the two women rushed into the near-by farmhouse of Chester P. Way.

Bangert, who apparently had no quarrel with Gruenfelder, followed close in the wake of the women, flourishing his pistol as he went. Entering the front door, the women locked it behind them, but Bangert, breaking through a window, gained entrance. Pursuing them into the back yard, he cornered them, and it was then that the little Gruenfelder girl, who had whirled and faced Bangert, dropped as a victim of his automatic.

Two Bullets Entered Her Body.

Two bullets entered her body, one through her right breast and the other through the center of her chest.

Bangert shoots himself.

Bangert, abandoning his pursuit of the women, returned to the highway, where for a moment he stood, undecided, weapon in hand. At this point Bert Smith, a deputy sheriff, who previously had been notified of the shooting by frightened residents of the community, arrived on a motorcycle. Bangert raised the automatic and leveled it at the officer. He said nothing. Smith sped past a short distance, dropped from his machine and covered his man.

Then, apparently concluding that resistance would prove futile, Bangert raised the automatic to his own left breast and fired.

A few minutes later he was removed to the hospital, where he lived for two hours. Only a portion of the time was he conscious, but during these intervals he appeared to be entirely rational, doctors said.

The bullet which cost Bangert his life entered his left breast and emerged immediately behind.

Crowd Gathers Upon Scene.

A motley group gathered on the highway at the scene of the shooting just before Bangert, near death, was removed to the hospital. Women were weeping and neighbor men who appeared little surprised that the tragedy had come, stood quietly whispering among themselves. And in this group Mrs. Chester Way and her mother, Mrs. G. C. Larson, proved a strange contrast. Although both had been faced by a man bent on murder when the neighbor women

John Bangert, Living Near Salem, Drives Occupants From Car in Attempted Dual Killing.

SALEM, Or., May 31.—(Special.)—John Bangert, 37 years old, a rancher who resided seven miles north of Salem, died at a local hospital at 9 o'clock tonight from a self-inflicted bullet wound in his left breast, and Clara Gruenfelder, 17, a sister-in-law, was in another hospital seriously wounded by a bullet fired by Bangert as the result of a domestic battle which came to a climax on the Silverton highway at 7 o'clock this evening.

Miss Gruenfelder, who, it was believed, was struck by a bullet probably intended for Bangert's wife, likely will recover, the attending physicians said late tonight.

Wife and Brother Accused.

"It's all your fault," Bangert declared when his wife was permitted to see him for a moment just before he died. "It's all right, though; I'm willing to die."

The dead man's brother, Charles Bangert of Dayton, O., against whom the gun-wielder also brought verbal indictments, was permitted to see his brother. Tonight Charles Bangert was in a state of nervousness nearing collapse.

On several occasions, it was said, Bangert had charged his wife with being unfaithful. Neighbors and Melvin Gruenfelder, the wounded girl's brother, admitted tonight that the reported domestic infidelity at the Bangert household long had been common knowledge among those residing in the vicinity.

Four-Year-Old Lad of Baker Has Head Dismembered.

BAKER, Or., May 31.—(Special.)—Gerald, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Comil Huys of South Baker, was instantly killed early tonight when the lad was run over by a freight car being switched on the Sumpter Valley railroad here.

Details of the accident are unknown, as no one was known to have seen the boy's death. The boy's head was dismembered. A coroner's inquest will be held tonight.

LIBERTY BONDS SELL FOR PAR OR BETTER

SEVERAL LOTS EMBRACING $1,000,000 SOLD.

Transactions in Government Securities Feature of Stock Market in New York.

NEW YORK, May 31.—For the first time since the date of issue, all Liberty bonds today sold at par or better. Heavy trading in Liberty bonds at highest prices and transactions embracing several lots of $1,000,000 were the outstanding features of the bond market.

Continued ease of money and investment through buying by individuals and corporations in anticipation of June interest and dividend disbursements, gave stimulus to the day's extensive purchases of these war floatations.

Maximum and minimum quotations of these bonds so far this year, afford interesting comparison. The high of 100.06 for the 3½s compares with a low of 94.48; the first 4s of 1922-47 sold as low as 98.19 and as high as 100.10; the second 4½s of 1927-42 ranged from 95.80 to 100; the third 4½s of 1923 from 98.32 to 100.04 and the coupon 4th 4½s, in which dealings often have been very large, rose from 92.72 to 100.04.

At the low quotations of last year most of these bonds were yielding from 5 to almost 6½ per cent. On the present basis of values the 3½s net exactly 3½ per cent, and the 4s and 4½s from 4 to 4½ per cent. In fine, predictions of treasury officials made early in the year that all of Uncle Sam's war floatations soon would reach par or better have been fulfilled.

ARSON CHARGED TO FOUR

Men Are Accused of Burning Barn on Place Near Shaniko.

THE DALLES, Or., May 31.—(Special.)—Four Shaniko men—Arthur Wallace, Fred Cooke, Otis Probst and Mel Emmon—were arrested today and brought to the local county jail by H. C. Bader, deputy sheriff, on charges of arson preferred before the justice of the peace at Shaniko by Mrs. Mary McKinley.

They are accused of burning a barn and other outbuildings on property owned near Shaniko and on a homestead some distance from that town. The men also are accused of attempting to fire the McKinley home.

FOREST FIRE SITUATION SUMMARIZED.

Town of Cedar Falls, Wash., partially destroyed. Several other towns, including North Bend, menaced. Property damage heavy.

Two camps of Seattle municipal light department destroyed. Water pipeline endangered.

Logging camps at Sillwater and Sellaek, Wash., destroyed. Small fires at Buckley and Enumclaw, Wash., raze houses and mill houses.

Fire between White Salmon and Underwood, Wash., placed under control.

Westport Lumber company's camp burned.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul makes up special train to fight fires.

Thirteen fires reported in vicinity of Vancouver, Wash.

Timber damage near Bend $50,000. Four hundred men fight blazes which cover 2000 acres.

Deputies Make Report.

Sheriff Huriburt sent his deputies into the Corbett section early yesterday afternoon to see what, if anything, they could do, and to check on the progress of the fires and keep him informed. They were instructed to render every possible assistance to ranchers and others who, earlier in the day, were imperilled. They reported late last night that the heavy pall of smoke which hung over Portland was from fires on the Washington side of the Columbia river and from the Corbett territory.

According to reports received at Corbett, the fire was started from slashings which got beyond control because of the high wind blowing on the summit of the mountain. Toward the west it swept at a rapid rate, sometimes more than a half mile in width, down two or more gulches. In many instances, however, residents had opportunity to save their furniture and other belongings before being forced to flee from the path of the flames.

Veteran's Home Saved.

By an act of providence, it seemed, was the little farm home of James Howard, 89-year-old civil war veteran, saved from destruction. His home, nestled by a little mountain stream at the very foot of a deep canyon.

Tuesday night the fire raged down both sides of the gully, the flames leaping high in the heavy timber and speeding toward this aged mountaineer and his feeble wife, who is almost totally blind. A party of fishermen who had been routed out by the forest fire stopped at the Howard home Tuesday night and proffered their assistance in taking the old couple out to safety.

"Now, I reckon I'll stay here," insisted the grizzled old mountaineer. "I'm 83 years old and I've lived here for 34 years, so I think I'll stay right here at my house."

Wife Taken to Safety.

The fishermen, however, prevailed upon Howard to let them take his feeble wife out to safety. She was bundled into the machine and carried to the Evans ranch near the cross roads where she is being cared for.

The fire burned right up almost to the door of the Howard home but a veering wind set the flames shooting off in another direction just as the fence about the farm was being burned to cinders. The old moun-
