

STORM DEATH TOLL IS INCREASED TO 60

Bodies of Many More Are Thought Swept to Sea.

CROWDS ARE HELPLESS

Terrific Gale Lasts Only Five Minutes, but Snuffs Out Many Lives—Morgues Are Full.

NEW YORK, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Morgues and undertaking establishments of the devastated area tonight held the bodies of more than a score of women and children—victims of yesterday's brief cyclonic thunderstorm.

Marine police, who continued throughout their work of grappling in Pelham bay and Long Island sound off City island, where the greatest toll was taken among Sunday excursionists and fishermen, predicted they would find at least a score more victims, enough to push the death toll past 60. Witnesses of the swift tragedy placed the number even higher.

At least 250 canoes, rowboats and small motorboats were bobbing about off the island, witnesses said, when the storm came screaming down on the resort at a velocity of 80 miles an hour or better.

All Scupper for Shelter. Occupants of the little craft, sensing their danger, scrambled for shelter. But scarcely had they got under way when they were engulfed in a blinding storm of rain and hail.

As quickly as it had come, the storm vanished. It had lasted less than five minutes. But scarcely a dozen of the 250 small craft had survived. Horror-stricken but helpless to aid the crowds on the beaches about the Casino pier scores of men and women clinging to wrecked and overturned craft in the choppy sound and bay. One by one they gave up the struggle, and dropped quietly off to be carried out toward the open sea by the tide.

Some of the bodies, the police said probably never will be recovered. The tide, turning, brought more than a score of them back today. Witnesses estimated there were between 60 and 750 persons in the ill-fated craft. It is estimated that United States life guards, members of nearby yacht clubs and sailors from the shore crowd, saved hundreds.

Among the first to put out were Jack Murray, J. C. Bower, Jack Malloy and Frank Warrington. In two small motorboats they saved more than a dozen men and women whom they found clinging to overturned canoes and rowboats. They were followed by others and soon more than 50 craft of all sorts were out, dragging to safety the survivors of the disaster. A score or more saved themselves by clinging to the sides of Cornelius Vanderbilt's schooner yacht Intrepid, while they were hauled in or picked up by the Intrepid. The water had been cleared by nightfall of all the living. But the search for the dead continued through the night. Guided by the searchlight of the Intrepid, the F. Hyland, a score of boats cruised about, occasionally finding bodies.

Meanwhile chaos reigned on shore, where darkness descended unbroken by the usual glare of electric lights. The island power plant had been put out of commission by the storm, as had the telephone and telegraph lines.

Police Station Besieged. Mothers, fathers and wives of the missing besieged the police station, where a temporary morgue had been set up, gazing fearfully at the faces of the dead. The bodies were laid out on tables, and the faces were covered by sheets. Others crowded the wreck-straw beach waiting for the rescue boats to come in with more bodies.

Police hurried to the island today, when they had first news of the tragedy through the morning newspapers. Police directed them to the second morgue, where the 34 bodies so far recovered had been removed.

The city in laid calamity, while the greatest, was not the only havoc wrought by the storm.

Pending investigation, a charge of homicide was lodged against Paul Simon, owner of the 75-foot Perla wheel at Clason Point park, in the Bronx, which was blown from its base and hurled its 60 occupants on the beach of Long Island sound in a tangle of steel wreckage. Seven were killed and 27 injured.

More than a score of isolated drownings, electrocutions by tumbling fallen wires and deaths beneath falling trees were reported from various parts of the area.

BERGDOLL SUSPECT HELD

CONNECTION WITH DRAFT DODGER NOT DETERMINED.

A. Gerald Paffenbarger Arrested After Inserting Ad to Collect Contributions.

After an all-day investigation yesterday police detectives were unable to determine whether A. Gerald Paffenbarger, reputed friend of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious draft dodger, is a "nut" or a man who might be wanted in other cities. They are holding him for further investigation.

Paffenbarger's arrest was made early yesterday afternoon. He had knocked out Detective Persinger and fled through the streets with a shower of bullets from the revolver of Detective Wescott following him. He was arrested by Patrolmen Ramsey and Craig.

The investigation started when Paffenbarger inserted the following classified advertisement in a Sunday newspaper:

PAFFENBARGER & BERGDOLL, SEND DONATIONS IN AMOUNTS OF $6 AND UP. A. Gerald Paffenbarger and Grover Cleveland Bergdoll. Please remit all donations to A. Gerald Paffenbarger, 4223 1/2 Washington street, room 222.

When the detectives reached the man's room at 62 1/2 Washington street early yesterday, Paffenbarger struck Persinger in the mouth just as he opened the door. Detective Wescott then joined the fray and chased Paffenbarger from the hotel and down the street.

At police headquarters Paffenbarger said he had solicited funds to finance a history of the Bergdoll affair. He said he was a close friend of the draft dodger and wanted to write the true history of the entire affair.

Police found numerous papers in the searchlight of John to them to be of doubtful value. These included numerous clippings of the William Desmond Taylor murder case at Los Angeles and other newspaper stories. He denied he knew Taylor or knew anything about the movie director's slaying.

The case was investigated by the department of justice authorities, who decided there was no federal charge which might be placed against the prisoner.

FORCES OF CHANG AND WU PEI-FU IN PURSUIT

President Li Assumes Office and Premiership Is Offered to Dr. Wu Ting Fang.

TIENSIN, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—After heavy fighting all day Sunday between Chinese forces of General Chang Tso Lin and Wu Pei-fu, the latter's forces of General Chang Tso Lin withdrew northward toward Shanhaiwan. The Chinese forces of Wu Pei-fu are pursuing them.

Notwithstanding Chang's overtures for an armistice last week and his reported acceptance of Wu's terms, the Chinese commander maintained a cautious attitude. Friday's attack found the Chinese line, extending from the Liaotung gulf coast to the hills, strongly supported by machine guns and artillery. Chang's request for an armistice is believed to have been a ruse to gain time for his reorganization of defeated and retreating troops.

Violent Attack Launched. This morning Chang's forces launched a violent drive against the right flank of the Chinese army, resting on the sea at the mouth of the Gulf of Liaotung. Wu's battle line held fast, however, and the Chinese attack was repulsed. Two companies of wounded were expected to arrive at Tiensin from the front tonight.

Coke's Rifles, a British Indian regiment, which left Friday for Shanhaiwan to protect foreign interests there, has been held up at Chwangang owing to the fresh outbreak of fighting.

General Wu has ordered his third division, the crack unit of his army, and considered the best trained, to be sent to the front today. The base at Tangu today for the front.

PEKIN, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Whether Dr. Wu Ting Fang, former minister to Washington and present foreign minister in the South China "government," will accept the premiership of the new central government was considered doubtful today.

President Offers Portfolio. Li Yuan Hung, who has assumed the presidency from which he was ousted in 1917, has proffered the chief position in the cabinet to Dr. Wu, but the latter's answer had not been received today.

Dr. Wang Kaiguo, also an administrator to the United States, and now ambassador to England, is slated for foreign minister.

It is expected the new cabinet will include an entirely new group of English-speaking ministers. General Feng Yu-Haiing, the Christian governor of Hunan province, has telegraphed President Li that sentiment is growing in favor of unity.

Parliament to Assemble. Parliament has been summoned to assemble here tomorrow, but is not expected to meet until the 20th. The effort to make Wu Ting Fang prime minister of the Peking government is designed to absorb the influence of the Canton government.

Li Yuan-Hung resumed his executive office at noon. Arriving from Washington, accompanied by Acting Premier Chow Tai-Chi, he drove through the streets guarded by soldiers and went to a private residence. Later the cabinet presented him with the seals of the Chinese republic.

The entire cabinet, including the acting ministers, resigned and the republic's future is being decided by his plan of reorganization.

OBTAIN TRIAL IS ON

Proof of Kennedy's Death Taken Up Opening Testimony.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 12.—Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain today listened to the opening testimony in her second trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, basis for charges she had before reaching here.

Coroner Hughes, who made an investigation, says the machine was running at a high rate of speed and falling to make the turn, ran off the pavement for a distance of 50 feet, then turned over and slid about 15 feet further. According to the coroner, the machine was driven by Mrs. Obenchain.

The financing of the road, although it is not finally adjusted, seems virtually assured. The sum of $110,000 necessary has been subscribed in the main by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, the Crown-Willamette and the Southern Pacific.

The railroad was originally asked for $25,000. The P. R. L. & P. will give $35,000, the Hawley $10,000 and the Crown Willamette $10,000. The arrangement to take up the balance is not yet completed. The funds will be raised informally, as the commission has no authority to make assessments. The city and county have no financial to take care of the road construction and the public service corporations have handled it in return for franchises and other concessions.

APARTMENT SAVES GIRLS' MONEY

"Hello, Letty! I hear that you and Katherine have given up life on a boarding house and have gone to housekeeping with one room and a kitchenette."

"I should say we have. Come on up for dinner some night. We'd both love to have you."

"Thanks, I will. I didn't know either of you two were cooks, though. Will you guarantee not to poison me or anything like that?"

"Not a chance of getting poisoned. We both are learning a heap and can get together a regular dinner now."

"Really, it is satisfactory, and you can save any money that way? If so, I might try it myself."

"Oh, yes; we are wild about it. Of course, rent is higher, but we have just what we want to eat and we are saving money. Both Katherine and I have bought us some attractive new clothes on what we are saving each month. I bought the loveliest party dress at Cherry's at 249 Morrison street. We found that we could make practically our own terms for a first payment and then we are each paying down a certain sum each month. We are so glad we learned about Cherry's. We count what we save by housekeeping by the new clothes we can buy."
