

GUARD FROM CAMP PASSES IN REVIEW

Citizen Soldiers of Oregon Imposing in Parade.

BRONZED TROOPS SNAPPY

Intensive Training at Camp Lewis Reflected by Dash and Vigor That Bring Men Ovation.

Bronzed and full of vigor from their two weeks of intensive training at Camp Lewis, more than 1800 of Oregon's citizen soldiers paraded the downtown districts yesterday afternoon, following their arrival home. The men were reviewed by Mayor Baker and city and county officials, heads of various veterans' organizations and military officers in the reviewing stand at the old postoffice building and were cheered by thousands of spectators on the sidewalks.

The encampment was the most successful in the history of the Oregon national guard, according to Adjutant-General White, and the men bore witness to this by the snappy manner in which they conducted themselves in the parade.

Many Units Participate. The parade was led by the guardsmen's band and included the 162d infantry, first air cavalry, 187th infantry, men of Battery A, field artillery; Company A, engineers, and the 167th field hospital corps. The 300 men of the coast artillery corps, which trained at Fort Worden, were unable to participate in the demonstration owing to the fact that they passed through the city last night. There were also about 40 men who were left behind at Camp Lewis to turn in equipment and take care of the other matters incident to the conclusion of the camp.

Towns represented in the parade included, besides Portland, Woodburn, Salem, Silverton, McMinnville, Dallas, Lebanon, Corvallis, Ashland, Marshfield, Medford, Hood River, Cottage Grove, Gresham, Albany, Eugene, Roseburg, Toledo and Newport.

Men Disband at Armory.

The men gathered at the union station on their arrival in the afternoon and from there began the parade about 3 o'clock. They passed down Sixth to Morrison to Fourth, to Jefferson, to Fifth to Young, to Broadway, to Flinders, and to the armory at Tenth and Couch, where the units disbanded. Adjutant-General White, who was promoted during the encampment to the rank of a brigadier-general, led the troops to the reviewing stand, when he took his place with the party of reviewers.

Regular Officers in Review.

Besides the mayor, those in the reviewing stand included city and county commissioners, officers of the Grand Army of the Republic, Women's Relief corps, Spanish war veterans, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Veterans' association, Canadian war veterans, Indian war veterans; Brigadier-General R. M. Blatchford, United States navy; Commander L. M. McNair, United States navy, of the visiting destroyer squadron; Lieutenant R. E. Kerr, recruiting officer, United States navy; Colonel G. W. Stevens, United States army, and other army and navy officers.

General White said that the officers and men participating in the encampment had made an unusual record of achievements during the two weeks' training.

Intensive Work Beneficial. He said that the time was put in with hard, intensive work, was than amusement, and much had been accomplished in the development of the men.

"We emphasized the fact that the encampment was not only to develop soldiers for the defense of the country, but also for the development of character," he said. "As a result every man who participated is a better man for the two weeks he spent at the camp."

OLD COUPLE SEPARATED

Double Knot Falls to Hold Better Than Single One.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 29.—(Special.)—Aber Brewer, 77 years old and a civil war veteran, was married May 26, 1918, in Kansas City, Mo., his wife being Nellie E. Brewer. They came to Vancouver and for some reason thought they were not legally married, so were married again.

But the double knot did not seem to hold any better than a single one and the old soldier brought suit for divorce. His wife filed a counter-complaint and today obtained a decree of divorce and title to some property they had owned.

Short Hay Crop Possible.

TILLAMOOK, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—The unusual dry weather for June is causing some alarm among the dairymen, especially those who are raising hay. Should the county be without rain for the next two months it will greatly reduce the amount of milk produced in the county.

BLAZE DISASTROUS ONE

FOREST FIRE RAGING SOUTH OF LAKE CHELAN.

Men Returning From Scene Tell of Narrow Escapes and Strenuous Efforts to Check Blaze.

WENATCHEE, Wash., June 29.—A disastrous forest fire is raging between Little Big creek and Twenty-five-mile creek, south of Lake Chelan, covering an area of 2000 acres, according to word received here today from State Fire Warden Schaller. Men have been drafted from Chelan and Manson and it may be necessary to draw on Wenatchee for some assistance. It was declared.

A fresh crew is being held in readiness at Twenty-five-mile creek, while fighters on the job are making a desperate effort to hold the fire on the ridge in check. Six men who returned last evening to Chelan told of exciting tales of narrow escapes and strenuous work to return to their comrades, long hours without sleep and a shortage of food.

The men had been working in a canyon when the fire climbed to the tree-tops, sweeping up the mountain side and surrounding them. They took refuge behind a ledge of rock, while the fire swept over their heads. Blinded by smoke and the rocks' falling, they were unable to get to the top of the mountain until it was safe to make an exit.

The fire is believed to be a continuation of the one occurring last week, which burned over 200 acres. It is said the blaze started from a campfire.

Editor Goodsell of the Chelan leader telephoned the Daily World at 11 o'clock this morning that the forest fire is the worst in the lake region for years.

Goodsell said that E. A. Smith's 15-acre fruit crop was ruined by the heat and the fire was threatening to reach the trees. The fire was expected to reach E. Hallie's ranch also.

SNOW BLOCKS PASS ROAD

Route Over Summit of Cascades Still Choked by Drifts.

EUGENE, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—The Willamette pass road over the summit of the Cascades is blocked by snow and a few inches of drifts could open the remaining drifts in a few hours, according to Nelson F. Macduff, supervisor of the Cascade national forest. M. E. Harlow, county commissioner; Frank Jenkins, editor of the Morning Register; and M. E. Sweet, local auto-mechanic, who were near the summit Tuesday, returning to Eugene yesterday.

The first snow was encountered on the summit of the mountain and the drifts were small. Between the summit and Summit lake there were several drifts, some of them 4 and 5 feet deep. The snow is melting rapidly, they said, and the pass probably will be open in less than two weeks.

TILLAMOOK TO JUBILATE

Two-Days' Celebration of Fourth of July Planned.

TILLAMOOK, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—Tillamook city is preparing for a lively July 4 celebration, which will commence on the afternoon of July 3 with a baseball game between Brighton and Bear at the fairgrounds, a boxing contest at the city hall in the evening and a street carnival. Judge Evans of Portland will be the orator for July 4 at a street parade, and the Knights of Pythias band will furnish music. The patriotic exercises will be at the courthouse square, F. A. Beltz reading the Declaration of Independence. The ball game in the afternoon will be between the Wheeler and Tillamook league teams. A log-rolling contest will be in Hoquart slough in the morning. The contest for the goddess of 'berry will close Saturday night.

Box Factory Will Resume.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—The box factory of the Big Lakes Box company will resume operation in the near future, according to Burge W. Mason, an officer of the company. Following the calling of the timber workers' strike the first of March, the local Hoquart plant was moved to a leased plant at Sisson, Cal. The Sisson plant is working full capacity, with 65 men employed. Whether it will be operated permanently has not been decided. The local sawmill will not resume this season, Mason said.

FIRE CHIEFS IN SESSION

ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION ON AT MARSHFIELD.

First Day's Programme Ends With Theater Party; Bend Bids for Meeting Next Year.

MARSHFIELD, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—State fire chiefs are here to the number of 40, some with their wives and children. Others who were coming over the highway were turned back by false reports of blocked roads. The first day's programme ended tonight with a theater party and a smoker for the men at the Millcoons club.

The programme today was light and the visitors were given some time for observation. This afternoon a number of chiefs arrived on the 10 train, among them J. E. Young of Portland and J. Stephens of San Francisco. The women in the party were entertained by Mrs. J. W. Davis, wife of the Marshfield chief, at an outing on Coos river and luncheon at Idylwood, the evening being spent at the theater.

Chief Graham of Corvallis and his quartet entertained the people of the city this afternoon for an hour with singing, life-saving work and first aid examples.

The chiefs will be guests of the North Bend firemen and citizens a part of tomorrow.

The Marshfield firemen were out in uniform today and headed apparatus about and helped place life-nets and other paraphernalia.

BEND, Or., June 29.—(Special.)—An invitation was telegraphed by the Bend Commercial club directors today to the fire chiefs of Oregon, in their annual meeting at Marshfield, to hold their convention in Bend next year. Chief Carlson of Bend is to present the invitation in person.

It is also held against Miss Robertson by local leaguers that she declared while here that the league was formed by a group of women who did not know what to do with suffrage, now that they had it, and that they framed the Shepard-Towner maternity bill just to have something to crusade with that promised to be popular. It is declared that Miss Robertson was sadly misinformed as to the origin of that bill, since it did not come from the league at all, local women aver.

Regret was expressed that Miss Robertson had taken unkind thrusts at the league by Mrs. H. E. Torrey, who is active in it and who held a prominent office last year. She said

CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST DENTAL STUDENT FAILS.

Ralph Deering Held Not Guilty of Contributing to Delinquency of Girl.

Ralph Deering, young dental college student and world war veteran, was found not guilty of the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl by a jury in the court of domestic relations late yesterday afternoon.

A happier lad would have been difficult to find in the city, for the verdict meant considerably more to him than an escape from a jail sentence—it meant vindication in the eyes of a young woman to whom he is engaged and who had promised to marry him in July if his innocence was established.

Out of a panel of 40 names, only 10 jurors showed up for service yesterday morning in the court of Judge Kanler. Rather than to delay the case by insisting on being tried by 12 jurors, conviction of them women, Deering waived his rights, saying that he expected to get married next month and "wanted to get it over with."

The verdict leaves the record "fifty-fifty" for convictions in cases growing out of the delinquency of two girls, Fred Jeannette, musician, was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of one and sentenced to six months in the county jail; Vernon Kloster, dental student, was also convicted and sentenced to 30 days; and Barry Parker, student chum of Kloster, was acquitted on virtually identical testimony that introduced in the Kloster trial.

SHIP CHANGES PLANNED

ADMIRAL GOODRICH TO ADMIRAL RODMAN JULY 15.

Pacific Steamship Company to Improve Service Between San Francisco and Portland.

To replace the steamer Admiral Rodman with the steamer Admiral Goodrich on the Portland-Astoria-Marshfield-Burke-San Francisco route, a change that means doubling the cabin passenger accommodations as well as the cargo capacity, is the latest service improvement decided on by the Pacific Steamship company. The change becomes effective with the departure of the Admiral Goodrich from San Francisco, July 15. The Admiral Rodman is to proceed to Puget sound and may enter the Alaskan service.

H. S. Eaton, general agent for the fleet at Portland, says the step has been in contemplation for the last few weeks, especially as regards passenger travel because of the demand for accommodations in excess of the limit of the Admiral Rodman, which carries 32 in the cabin and 39 in the stowage, whereas the Admiral Goodrich can accommodate 60 first-class passengers, though the normal capacity of the stowage is but 20 persons and those accommodations are seldom taxed.

The Admiral Goodrich is of 2000 tons deadweight and is 230 feet in length, the Admiral Rodman being of 1600 tons deadweight and 187 feet long.

"Changes in the schedule through the addition of the big turbine H. Alexander to the Puget sound California schedule July 11 enabled the company to replace the Admiral Rodman, a step that it has been the wish of the management to bring about since the first of the season," said Mr. Eaton. "There are many travelers from Portland and Astoria going to Marshfield and Eureka, while from those ports to San Francisco the number is usually greater, and it was felt the Admiral Goodrich could be utilized to advantage on the run."

"The schedule changes will alter the sailing of the steamers Senator and Admiral Farragut on the Portland-San Diego route also, their departure after July 11 being each Tuesday, instead of Saturday, as at present. They will arrive from the south early Monday morning, while now they reach here Friday morning."

Leaving San Francisco July 15, the Admiral Goodrich is to arrive at Portland July 20, sailing the following day and reporting at San Francisco July 25. The steamer Senator, due today, which sails on the return to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego tomorrow afternoon, has most of her accommodations taken.
