NORTHWEST WINDS FAN FOREST FIRES

Officials Not Worried by Situation Toward Coast.

DANGER HELD MAGNIFIED

Secretary of Local Association Reports That Fighters Will Control Flames Soon.

Northwest winds which are rising in the Tillamook and Columbia county forests are expected to give the fighters of fires in those localities some trouble during the next few days. However, no such impending danger as some reports have indicated exists along any of the fire fronts, according to C. C. Scott, secretary of the Forest Fire Patrol association. Alarmed by announcements of the fires raging in the crowns of the timber in the vicinity of Cochran, Mr. Scott immediately got in touch with his agents there and found that the report was unfounded.

The rising winds in the Tillamook country had started some fires which were burning on the ground alone and were not harming the tops of the valuable timber. The fire was reported to be burning fast and wiping out all the underbrush.

Heavy Loss Not Expected.

Late yesterday it had not been controlled and no lines had been thrown across its path. But experienced fire fighters of the patrol association were of the opinion that they would have it well in hand today and that no anxiety need be caused the owners. More fighting forces were offered them, but were said not to be needed. The present facilities are able to care for the burns, said the reports.

Columbia county also sent in reports that the rising winds were liable to cause some trouble, but no new fires had occurred yesterday.

The local offices of the C. H. Wheeler company announced that there had been no change in conditions in their tract.

Mountain Fire Burning.

The distance from Timber to Belding, Or., is about 15 miles and fires are burning in the region between. It is specifically stated by fighters in the country that the fires are not burning together and are not threatening to join. There is no raging conflagration in any of that area with the exception of the ground fire, which, it is hoped, will be controlled today.

The forest service officers had an intimation yesterday of a fire in the east end of the Rainier national forest. Details could not be learned yesterday, but it was thought that more information would be sent in today.

Smoke Pall Leaves Peak.

MOUNT HOOD LODGE, Or., July 12.— (Special.)— The smoke pall which had covered Mount Hood for several days past has now entirely cleared away and Mount Hood stands out crystal clear again. The blanket of smoke was so dense that the summit was not visible even from Mount Hood lodge, a condition which has not taken place for many years. Mount Adams, Mount Rainier and Mount St. Helens were also unusually clear this morning.

Smoke Screens Idaho.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, July 12.—(Special.)—Smoke from the northern forest fires has been screening southern Idaho the last few days. The heavy haze rendered the sun a dull red ball of fire throughout the day and early in the afternoon it disappeared behind a thick smoke wall in a cloudless sky. Hundreds of persons marveled at the phenomenon.

YOUNG MEN NOT HOLDUPS

Workers in Sawmill at Linnton Discharged From Custody.

Lionel Peak and A. C. Fortey, both 22 years old, quickly won their release as suspected highwaymen yesterday when police detectives found that the men were working in a sawmill at Linnton at the time they were supposed to have held up W. H. Roy, a grocer, at 1 East Twenty-eighth street North. The men were picked up at an early hour in the morning and later partially were identified as the highwaymen by Roy.

But they both maintained their innocence and said they had been working until 2 A. M. The robbery was at about 11 P. M. Tuesday. From the mill foreman it was learned that they had been at the mill from 5 P. M. Tuesday until 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

PRUNE WAGE SCALE SET

Clarke County Growers to Pay Same as Last Year.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 12.—(Special.)—The Washington Growers' association, composed of 90 per cent of the prune producers of Clarke county, have fixed the scale of harvesting their crop for 1922 the same as it was in 1921. Kiln tenders will receive $5 a day, common labor $3, picking prunes 6 cents a box with a bonus of 2 cents if the picker remains until the crop is picked. The price of drying prunes was raised from $10 to $11 a ton.

Indications are that the crop will be a big one this year. Most of it already has been sold by the association.

FARMERS ARE THANKFUL

Dry Land Owners Approve Stand of Irrigation Commission.

L. A. Young of Madras yesterday returned from Salem, where he presented a letter of appreciation to the members of the state irrigation securities commission for their refusal to concur in the proposed contract between the directors of the Jefferson conservancy district, known also as the "north unit," and a bond-buying establishment. The letter was signed by 127 land owners, representing the holding of 39,827 acres. The letter presented read:

We, the undersigned voters and landowners of the Jefferson water conservancy district of Jefferson county, Oregon, desire to thank you for your refusal to concur in the proposed contract between the directors of the Jefferson conservancy district and a certain bond buying agency of an adjoining state for some reasons as stated below:

(1) That the price of eighty-two cents (82c) is entirely too low.

(2) That we think the desire of the directors to sell at eighty-two cents (82c) and desire of buyers to pay only 82 cents is an acknowledgment by both that the project is a doubtful business venture.

(3) That we heartily disapprove of the objectionable cost plus features of the contract.

(4) That we also desire to express to you our emphatic disapproval of the provisions of the state law that permits a voter owning but one acre of land to exercise the same power in organizing districts, electing officials, and voting disastrous obligations against the district as is exercised by a voter who has the savings of a lifetime invested in a successfully operating wheat farm.

(5) We want you to know that your action has our entire and enthusiastic approval and beg that you remain steadfast in your refusal to concur in any proposed contract until the bonds can be sold for something near par and until the cost plus features can be entirely elliminated and the contract for construction can be offered to the public for competitive bids.

(6) We want you and the public at large to know that we have a healthful, fertile and productive country and that we have no desire to donate the entire territory to a bond house for the promise of water.

ENTERTAINER PLEASES AUDIENCES AT HIPPODROME.

Miss Jean Carpentier.

Miss Jean Carpentier, the pretty partner of Fred Gray, the eccentric comedian on the bill at the Hippodrome this week, is one of the few favorites that have come to Portland to be underbilled. Miss Carpentier, in addition to being very good looking, is a musician of exceptional ability on a variety of instruments, and a large part of the entertainment provided by the team is due to her ability to entertain in delightful fashion. In addition she has a charming personality.

THEATER MEN ARE FREED

Local Trio Cleared of Disorderly Conduct Charges.

A. C. Raleigh, local theater manager; L. C. Moore, organist, and Nick Milner, chauffeur, were exonerated by District Judge Deich yesterday afternoon of charges of disorderly conduct preferred against the trio when arrested on the Columbia river highway last Monday.

The hearing was a farce, not an allegation of the complaint being sustained. W. M. Royall, special deputy sheriff employed at Benson park, was the chief witness for the prosecution. It was his telephone call which caused the sheriff to telephone Albert Weisendanger, forest ranger at Eagle creek, to arrest the party.

Royall testified that the machine was parked in a restricted part of Benson park and that the occupants were slow in obeying his order to move on. He said there were no harsh words, no obscene language, no loud laughter, talking or shouting.

Farm Bequeathed Children.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 12.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sophia Sundvik, a resident of Clarke county, died leaving a will in which she bequeathed a 60-acre farm near La Center to her two minor children. She also left $1000 to Erik Simonson, stating in the will "to be paid for labor had, and a loan made by him to me." The farm was sold, debts paid, leaving $950 cash from which $110 attorney's fees are to be taken, leaving net $840. Judge Simpson today held that Mr. Simonson was to be paid the money as he was clearly in a preferred class.

Vancouver to Present Claim.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 12.—(Special.)—A committee of local citizens was appointed today by Mayor Kiggins to present Vancouver's claim on obtaining the location of the orphans' home to be built on the Pacific coast by the grand lodge of Yeomen. The committee is composed of H. D. Warren, Lloyd DuBois, O. Jorgen Olson, J. S. G. Langsdorf, all bankers; A. L. Miller, Henry Crass, J. J. Padden, Charles Cook, Harry Thompson, John H. Elwell and Lee Evans.

Baby Falls From Window.

OREGON CITY, Or., July 12.—(Special.) — Russell Parker, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker of Portland, was brought to the Oregon City hospital this evening to undergo medical attention for concussion of the brain. The child, while watching children play near the Lucretia apartment house, where the Parkers are making their home, accidentally fell to the pavement below when the screen of the window gave way.

Obituary.

J. H. Jaggy.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 12.—(Special.)—Funeral services for J. H. Jaggy, prominent Vancouver merchant, who died Saturday at Seaside, Or., were held today at the Knapp chapel. Rev. Charles H. Powell of St. Luke's Episcopal church officiated. Music was furnished by the Rotary club quartet.

There were many floral tributes. Mr. Jaggy was born at Cape Horn, Wash., in 1862, and had lived here most of his life. Many of his friends among the early settlers attended the services.

The active pallbearers were William C. Bates, Lloyd DuBois, Charles W. Davis, John H. Elwell, George B. Simpson and Dr. Charles S. Irwin. The Masons had charge of the services at the grave in the Masonic section of the city cemetery.

Edward Perry.

WHITE SALMON, Wash., July 12. —(Special.) — Edward Perry, foreman for the Basin Logging company, near Stevenson, Wash., who met death on Sunday, when a log struck a snag and rolled over on him, crushing his heart, spent his boyhood at the family homestead on the Snowden road, this district. He was born at The Dalles 30 years ago. His father, who was one of the early pioneers in the Burdoin mountain district, now resides at Bend, Or. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church, White Salmon, on Tuesday, with interment at the local cemetery.

TREE PLANTING IS URGED

PREVENTION OF FRUIT PEST IS OBJECTIVE.

Nurserymen in Convention Hear Expert Horticultural Talk at Meeting.

To prevent further introduction of foreign plant disease, the propagation of fruit tree stock should be highly developed in America, in the opinion of F. A. Wiggins, president of the Washington Nursery company of Toppenish, Wash., who has just returned from a six weeks trip to the east where he attended the convention of the American Association of Nurserymen held in Detroit. Mr. Wiggins was one of the speakers at yesterday's session of the Pacific Coast Nurserymen's association convention being held this week in Portland.

"Laws passed by the government several years ago which cut down a considerable amount of fruit stock importation from Europe are hastening the time when America will produce all her own foundation stock or roots on which to bud or graft selected varieties of fruit," further declared Mr. Wiggins to the convention yesterday.

He also pointed out to the visiting nurserymen as proof of the menace to fruit growing from foreign importation the recent pear blight, and declared that other fruit diseases would sweep the country if the importation laws are not made more stringent.

Several other speakers addressed the nurserymen yesterday on special horticultural production. Yesterday afternoon the nurserymen were taken to the Weed landscape nursery near Beaverton, where they witnessed a tractor demonstration and had lunch. They also visited the Oregon nursery at Orenco.

Today's session, which will be the final one, will consist of several addresses by Oregon nursery experts on "Linking Up for Maintainence of Standard Quality of Nursery Products." Several other subjects will be discussed, selection of a place for next year's meeting will be made and new officers elected.

ROBBERY CLEWS LACKING

POLICE BAFFLED BY BENSON HOTEL CRIME.

Sleuths Think Robber Might Be Patron or Employe Familiar With Rooms.

The pack of police, baying at the brief trail of the Benson hotel robber, got no farther last night than to admit that the hotel had been robbed.

Possibilities considered by the police are:

Robber entered 601, room of D. J. O'Brien, San Francisco chief of police, and worked upward on the fire escape.

Robber may be an ex-employe of the institution.

Robber may be employed at present, or may be an outsider working in co-operation with employe.

Robber may be patron familiar with hotel. The only real clew, and one that might easily be a coincidence, was furnished by Mrs. S. Klee of New York, in room 501, who said that as she lay sleeping in the early morning a stranger opened her door. She spoke to him, and he apologized and withdrew.

Monday night's robbery gave loot of $1600.

On November 14, 1921, the room of Herman Winters, jewelry salesman of New York, was entered and robbed of several thousand dollars worth of samples. The robbery was never cleared up, although police and house detectives worked for weeks on the case.

Jewelry valued at $2500 was stolen from the room of Hamilton C. Rolfe, real estate dealer of Seattle, on the night of June 21, this year. The robbery remains a mystery.

The robbery methods in all three cases were similar, leading police to the conclusion that a burglar ring having intimate knowledge of the hotel committed all the robberies.

ELKS CHOOSE ATLANTA

Georgia City Wins Convention by Contest With Boston.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 12— Atlanta, Ga., was selected as next year's place for the grand lodge of Elks at today's session of the annual reunion of the organization. A stiff contest was waged between Atlanta and Boston, the southern city finally winning out in a close vote.

Millions of dollars are to be spent for building during the ensuing year by the Elks, according to the report of the retiring grand exalted ruler, William Wallace Mountain, presented at today's session of the grand lodge.

The assets of subordinate lodges now amount to $58,099,234, and the elaborate building programme for the year shows that there are to be erected in various parts of the country 31 new homes. This is exclusive of the Elks' National Memorial and Administration building, which is to be in Chicago, the new center of Elkdom.

FIRE PATROL DISCUSSED

Secretary Wallace Seeks Way to Help Oregon Forest Guards.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, D. C., July 12.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace visited the capitol this afternoon and conferred for more than an hour with Senator McNary on the forest fire situation in Oregon. The secretary said he was trying to find a way to allocate funds for forest fire patrol, provided the war department will furnish planes and personnel.

The war department was not able to give an answer today to Senator McNary's request for planes and men, having received no reply from the headquarters of the ninth corps area, San Francisco, which was asked yesterday to advise if the request could be met.

BABY SEA-LION CAUGHT

Judge Evans Vouches for Wild Tale About Beach Life.

While it appears to be a fish story and also to come into the nature faking class, Walter H. Evans, judge of the circuit court, vouched for its accuracy.

During a recent outing at Netarts bay, following the giving of a Fourth of July oration at Tillamook, Judge Evans discerned a baby sea-lion sporting around on the waves. A native of the region, insisted the judge, warbled an imitation of the sea-cow's cry to its young, with the result that the youngster paddled straight for the deceiver, followed him to the beach and flapped after him on the sand until it fell exhausted.

A nippled milk bottle was obtained and when Judge Evans left the coast the baby was doing nicely —so he said.

"I spent the rest of my outing on the bay imitating the call of a salmon to its mate without getting a single bite," concluded Judge Evans.
