

WETS AND DRIES IN ACCORD FOR ONCE

Both Demand Prohibition on Ships at Sea.

REASONS BIT DIFFERENT

Dries Act on Convictions, While Wets Would Make Dry Law Odious, Says Sullivan.

BY MARK SULLIVAN. (Copyright by the New York Evening Post. Published by Arrangement.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—The hearing which is being held on whether the law is to be made "dry" or "wet" or both does not and ought not to permit the sale of liquor on American ships may develop any kind of turn. Both the "wets" and the "dries" each seeking their own advantage, may try to mass the testimony each way. But regardless of all that, there need not be much doubt that ultimately, through one means or another, American ships are going to be made "dry."

Opinion to that effect throughout the country and in congress, is overwhelming. The "dries" want it done because they believe in it. The "wets," although they may seem to try to uphold the "wet" end of the legal argument, really want the ships made "dry" because that is a part of their general campaign to make prohibition odious.

At the conclusion of the present hearing the attorney-general's office may decide either that the law as it stands permits the sale of liquor or that it does not. If the decision is that the law prohibits the sale of liquor on American ships that will end the matter and the ships will go "dry" immediately.

Dry Ships Inevitable. If the decision is that the law as it stands permits the sale of liquor that will not affect the ultimate outcome. In that event congress, either by immediate action or by an amendment to the shipping bill, will make the ships "dry."

A good many persons thought the president would issue an order making the ships "dry" as soon as he learned that the contrary was the practice. Others believe he may issue such an order after the attorney-general's office has interpreted the law. Lacking that, it will be done by congress. The real outcome is not a matter of technical law, but of public opinion. The feeling is that this practice justifies the worst that is said of Uncle Sam by foreign critics, that Uncle Sam is a hypocrite, willing to violate the law against the individual, but is not willing to practice it himself when money is to be made out of it.

Raw Facts Disclosed. All the circumstances of the making public of the fact that liquor is being sold on shipping board vessels combined to make the incident as unfortunate as possible. The fact that the ship was named after George Washington, who never told a lie; the fact that one of the items on the ship's wine list, as reproduced in congress, was "Old American rye moonshine"; the irony of the fact that the disclosure was made by a brewer who was in a position to call Uncle Sam "the biggest boot-legal in the world"; the fact that the ordinary layman ignored all legal technicalities involved and says that if the law against liquor does not run on American ships he can't see how the law against murder runs there; the fact that whatever—all these combined give rise to the maximum quantity of the most adverse comment on the incident.

As a result American ships are certain to be "dry," whatever effect this may have on the passage of the subsidy bill, or on the possibility of having the precise kind of maritime that the shipping board is aiming at.

BEAUTY HUNT FAILURE

MR. ZIEGFELD'S TRIP TO PARIS DISAPPOINTMENT.

New Yorker So Far Unable to Hire Girls Pretty Enough to Take Part in Shows. (Copyright, 1922, by the New York World. Published by Arrangement.) PARIS, July 12.—(Special Cable.)—Florenz Ziegfeld, the New York theatrical producer, now in Paris, has requested correspondents to rectify a number of statements erroneously accredited to him concerning the coming marriage of Marilyn Miller, one of his stars, and Jack Pickford. Mr. Ziegfeld insisted that he had never made any public criticism of Pickford.

Mr. Ziegfeld said that he had temporarily canceled bookings of "Sally" after that show had made its phenomenal run of 52 straight weeks in order to give the principals and chorus a rest. When he did that, he said, he was well aware that Miss Miller meant to marry Pickford.

Miss Miller will resume the leading role in "Sally" upon that show's opening in September, Mr. Ziegfeld said. Although Pickford has been reported as engaged for a part in the same show, that is denied, but not by Mr. Ziegfeld. The producer declined to discuss the report.

Paris has so far failed to give Mr. Ziegfeld the prizes he came over for—more beauties for his shows. His mission has been a disappointment so far, even though he recently met Henri Letellier, the multimillionaire newspaper owner, who was co-responsible in the Peggy Hopkins divorce suit. "I am very happy to meet you," Mr. Letellier remarked with the utmost gravity when the two met. "And the meeting is appropriate because you are the greatest authority on feminine beauty in America and I am the greatest in the world."

for—more beauties for his shows. His mission has been a disappointment so far, even though he recently met Henri Letellier, the multimillionaire newspaper owner, who was co-responsible in the Peggy Hopkins divorce suit. "I am very happy to meet you," Mr. Letellier remarked with the utmost gravity when the two met. "And the meeting is appropriate because you are the greatest authority on feminine beauty in America and I am the greatest in the world."

FIRE COSTS $750,000

Three Lakes, Wash., Lumber Company's Mill Burns. EVERETT, Wash., July 12.—The plant of the Three Lakes Lumber company at Three Lakes, near here, was partly destroyed by fire of unknown origin last night which started in the sawmill area. The sawmill and yards containing a large stock of lumber burned with a loss estimated at $750,000, partly covered by insurance. The shingle mill and planing mill were saved.

CAVES AMAZE OFFICIALS

(Continued From First Page.) A few feet to where a bridge is to be put in. A couple of detours will be necessary for a month or six weeks.

Left to right—Howard E. McDonald of Seattle, national secretary; E. J. Elvers, Portland, national president, and Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, national treasurer.

McDonald of Seattle, National secretary, by Stanley M. Rinehart of Washington, D. C., national treasurer, and one of the original founders of the first 40 and 8 society at Allentown, Pa., who was in Portland yesterday with Colonel Charles R. Forbes.

More Tourists Coming. At Big Grayback creek bridge, where it meets the cave stream, there is a good camping ground. The commissioners' party, however, went to the tented camps of McIlven, where they bunked for the night after an extensive exploration of the marble halls. Some idea of the popularity of this attraction with tourists may be gained from the statement that in the past two weeks more people have visited the caves than during all of last season.

The crowd averages 1000 a week. All day long cars from California and other states are climbing the grade and unloading tourists for the trip. There does not appear to be any difference whether one searches the caverns at midnight or during daylight. It was late at night when the Oregon officials made the trip. Citizens of Grants Pass who went to Crescent City, Cal., to meet the governor and escort them to the caves arranged for the initiation ceremonies. In Grants Pass there is a most kindly sentiment toward Portland, for credit is given the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and particularly R. S. Howard, for assistance in having the cave road opened. The next thing Grants Pass wants is a hydro-electric plant near the wonder spot so that power will be provided for illuminating the caves. When this illumination is effected a light engineer should do the work for with properly placed globes, plain and colored, the artistic features will be greatly enhanced.

Leaving Crescent City the visitors were guests of the Josephine county court at Waldport and Commissioners McFadden and McCabe attending in person, assisted by a corps from the Grants Pass chamber.

Secretary Comes From Seattle. Howard E. McDonald, national correspondent of the 40 and 8, was in the city yesterday from Seattle to meet with Dr. Rinehart. As a result the three leading officers of that organization, E. J. Elvers of Portland, national president; Mr. McDonald, national secretary, and Dr. Rinehart, national treasurer, had a little informal meeting at the Multnomah hotel.

'40 AND 8' HEADS MEET IN PORTLAND

Credit Given Western Men for Rapid Growth.

THREE OFFICIALS HERE

Stanley M. Rinehart, Husband of Noted Writer, Tells Policy of Veterans' Bureau.

DANCING MINISTER FREED

(Continued From First Page.) take her with him when he went out. She testified that he had been

THREE NATIONAL OFFICERS OF '40 AND 8' HOLD INFORMAL MEETING HERE.

Left to right—Howard E. McDonald of Seattle, national secretary; E. J. Elvers, Portland, national president, and Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, national treasurer.

McDonald of Seattle, National secretary, by Stanley M. Rinehart of Washington, D. C., national treasurer, and one of the original founders of the first 40 and 8 society at Allentown, Pa., who was in Portland yesterday with Colonel Charles R. Forbes.

More Tourists Coming. At Big Grayback creek bridge, where it meets the cave stream, there is a good camping ground. The commissioners' party, however, went to the tented camps of McIlven, where they bunked for the night after an extensive exploration of the marble halls. Some idea of the popularity of this attraction with tourists may be gained from the statement that in the past two weeks more people have visited the caves than during all of last season.

The crowd averages 1000 a week. All day long cars from California and other states are climbing the grade and unloading tourists for the trip. There does not appear to be any difference whether one searches the caverns at midnight or during daylight. It was late at night when the Oregon officials made the trip. Citizens of Grants Pass who went to Crescent City, Cal., to meet the governor and escort them to the caves arranged for the initiation ceremonies. In Grants Pass there is a most kindly sentiment toward Portland, for credit is given the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and particularly R. S. Howard, for assistance in having the cave road opened. The next thing Grants Pass wants is a hydro-electric plant near the wonder spot so that power will be provided for illuminating the caves. When this illumination is effected a light engineer should do the work for with properly placed globes, plain and colored, the artistic features will be greatly enhanced.

Leaving Crescent City the visitors were guests of the Josephine county court at Waldport and Commissioners McFadden and McCabe attending in person, assisted by a corps from the Grants Pass chamber.

Secretary Comes From Seattle. Howard E. McDonald, national correspondent of the 40 and 8, was in the city yesterday from Seattle to meet with Dr. Rinehart. As a result the three leading officers of that organization, E. J. Elvers of Portland, national president; Mr. McDonald, national secretary, and Dr. Rinehart, national treasurer, had

Dr. Rinehart is Guest. Dr. Rinehart was the guest of prominent members of the 40 and 8 at an informal luncheon at the University club yesterday noon. Dr. Rinehart, who has been touring the west with Colonel Forbes, said that he planned to meet his wife in Montana later. He has three sons, one of which, Alan, he said, was a "cut" reporter on a Washington, D. C., paper. Frederick is a sophomore at Harvard and a third, S. M. Jr., the oldest, is in the publishing business with his father-in-law.

Dr. Rinehart said that he and his family planned a trip along the skyline trail in the Oregon Cascades last year but had to postpone it on account of the illness of Mrs. Rinehart.

Credit for the great growth, especially in the west, of the 40 and 8, the playground order of the American Legion, was given to the work of E. J. Elvers of Portland, national president, and Howard E.

McDonald of Seattle, national secretary, by Stanley M. Rinehart of Washington, D. C., national treasurer, and one of the original founders of the first 40 and 8 society at Allentown, Pa., who was in Portland yesterday with Colonel Charles R. Forbes.

More Tourists Coming. At Big Grayback creek bridge, where it meets the cave stream, there is a good camping ground. The commissioners' party, however, went to the tented camps of McIlven, where they bunked for the night after an extensive exploration of the marble halls. Some idea of the popularity of this attraction with tourists may be gained from the statement that in the past two weeks more people have visited the caves than during all of last season.

Wife Is Noted Writer.

Incidentally Dr. Rinehart is the husband of Mary Roberts Rinehart, the famous writer, and also chief consulting physician of the tuberculosis division of the United States Veterans' bureau. During the war he was in charge of the tuberculosis work in the surgeon general's office.

"How does it feel to be the husband of a famous woman?" Dr. Rinehart was asked yesterday. "Well, you know," was the reply, "it has been sort of coming on me gradually."

In commenting on the work of the veterans' bureau Dr. Rinehart yesterday said that he favored placing patients who were suffering from tuberculosis as near as possible to their family and friends. For the reason that such a policy would probably govern the bureau he said that it would never be able to get away entirely from the use of contract hospitals.

Boy In California. "He told me he wished I was like his sister and would go out with other men," she testified. Since marriage, he bought her but one pair of shoes and a dress, she said. He is now in California.

The 25 other default divorce decrees were awarded in the following cases: Hazel against G. G. Klatt, Mary against Byron C. Jackson, Esther M. against Julian W. Perkins, Pearl against Sigmund Klingenspoon, Josephine against John F. Weber, Dorothy F. against John H. Sather, Albert T. against Mary C.

Hazelwood Orchestra

- J. F. N. Colburn, Director TONIGHT'S PROGRAMME 8 to 8 and 9:30 to 11:30 1—"You're the Girl," Fox Trot... C. J. Robinson 2—"Thousand and One Night," waltz... Joh. Strauss 3—"Apple Blossoms," selection. Kriesler, Jacoby 4—"Do It Again," from the French Doll... George Gerswin 5—"Sextette from 'Lucia di Lammermoor'"... Donizetti 6—"California," Fox Trot... Conrad and Friend 7—"La Boheme," selection... Puccini 8—"Ghosts," intermezzo... E. Dunkler

Washington St. Hazelwood CONFECTIONERY and RESTAURANT 388 Washington Street Near Tenth

Wallace, Clara against John Tolles, Gladys against Roy Henderson, Ada against Archie Lindsay, Olive against Frederick David, Gus against G. Kahos, Fern against Thomas C. Nye, M. H. against Helen Pierce, Francis against W. H. Gertrude against J. H. McCoy, Ardelta against Elmer Lasure, Paul against Alice Kuhl, Eva against E. R. Howland, Eva against Jack B. Bay, Ruby K. against Elmer E. Campbell, Minnie F. against Angus F. Connor, Edward against Edna Jeppesen, Grace against W. W. Brooke and Maude C. against Frank Rogers. Divorce suits filed in the circuit court yesterday were: Zola against Albert Lester Somerville, Angela E. against Roland E. Forsberg, and Dora against John Pollock.

ALSO-RANS TO BANQUET

Defeated Republican Candidates to Dine at Multnomah. Defeated republican candidates, who warred and lost at the recent primary election, are to assemble tonight, at 8:30 o'clock, at a dinner given at the Multnomah hotel. "We want the boys all to be there," urged George Shepherd, one of the prominent also-rans. "The dinner will be altogether the most unique event in current political happenings, and anyone who neglects his privilege to attend is going to miss a great deal and have much to be sorry for."

Advertisement for CRATER LAKE shoes, featuring the text 'The Foot Naturally Comfortable Good Looking Popular SHOES' and listing 'SOUTHERN PACIFIC LINES' as the retailer.

Large advertisement for Lipman Wolfe & Co. featuring 'Men's Wool Sport Sweaters That Were Fashioned in London' and 'Linen Golf Knickers—Special at $6.95'. Includes an illustration of a man in a sweater and golf attire.

Advertisement for SOUTHERN PACIFIC LINES featuring 'Excursion Fares' and 'Oregon Caves National Monument'. Includes an illustration of a mountain landscape.

Advertisement for 'RED ROCK' cheese, featuring the text 'Orders Doubled!' and 'Dijestors'.

Advertisement for 'COTTAGE CHEESE' featuring the text 'Don't merely Say' and 'Tell your dealer'.

Advertisement for 'Areal VICTROLA' portable vacuum cleaners, featuring the text 'Summer nights are Victrola nights!' and 'Sherman Clay & Co'.

Advertisement for 'THOMPSON OPTICAL INSTITUTE' featuring the text 'THE SIGN OF PERFECT SERVICE' and 'SAVE YOUR EYES'.

Advertisement for 'OREGON HUMANE SOCIETY' featuring the text 'Investigates all cases of alleged cruelty to animals'.