

TRIAL OF CONTEST WILL OPEN MONDAY

Two Months to Be Required to Take Testimony.

POINT WON BY OLCOTT

Judges Overrule Motion of Contestant Demanding Governor Post $20,000 Bond.

SALEM, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Trial of the election contest proceedings filed recently on behalf of Charles Hall, defeated candidate for the republican nomination for governor at the primary contests last May, will start in the Marion county circuit court here next Monday, according to a tentative agreement reached tonight. Attorneys intimated that not less than two months will be required to take the testimony based on the issues now before the court.

Governor Olcott, named as contestee in the suit, won the second round in the legal battle today, when Judges Bingham and Kelly, sitting en banc, overruled a motion submitted by the contestant's attorneys in which they asked that the contestee's answer to Mr. Hall's original complaint be eliminated from the records unless he posted a bond in the amount of $20,000.

Bond Argument Made. W. S. U'Ren of counsel for the contestant, argued that his client was required to post such a bond at the time the original proceedings were filed, and that there was no good reason why the contestee should not be compelled to file a similar bond. It was the contention of Mr. U'Ren that Governor Olcott's answer to the complaint in reality was a counter-action, in that it brought to light the issues and language was not confined to a denial or explanation of the charges. As a result of raising new issues, Attorney U'Ren contended that the governor's answer should be considered a counter-action and that he should be made to comply with the statutes with relation to posting a bond.

Judge Bingham said that it was his opinion that Governor Olcott simply was attempting to meet the issues, in that he was the person attacked. It was Judge Bingham's contention that the governor's answer was legitimate and that he could not be required under the statute to post a bond.

Judge Kelly declared that the law provides that the contestant shall file a bond, but that the statute is silent with relation to the contestee.

Right Denied Governor. "In this case," said Judge Kelly, "Governor Olcott is the only person in Oregon having the qualifications of a voter who is denied by law the right to contest an election. He is not contesting the rights of the contestant, but appears in the role of a defendant. His answer is purely defensive and his opinion is not a counter action."

The court took under advisement until Monday morning the request of the contestant's attorneys that they be allowed to amend their original complaint. In this motion the contestants set out that recent investigations had indicated irregularities in counting the votes for governor at the primary election in more than 200 precincts in the state in addition to those specified in the original complaint. These precincts, attorneys for the contestant said, are located in Baker, Klamath, Morrow, Polk, Sherman, Wasco and Deschutes counties. Additional precincts in Multnomah and Clatsop counties also were included in the contestant's motion to amend the complaint.

HALL ALLEGES MORE FRAUDS Charges Irregularities.

Alleged irregularities in four more counties, in the primary election, are charged by attorneys for Charles Hall and they seek to extend the contest into Baker, Klamath, Sherman and Wasco counties. An amendment to the original petition for the contest, making these allegations, was filed at Salem yesterday afternoon.

Certain irregularities as alleged in the original petition also are claimed in several additional precincts in counties named in the original petition. The total number of votes listed in the amended petition is 1895, which is in addition to those listed in the original petition.

Six checkers were placed at work in the registration office at the Multnomah courthouse yesterday by attorneys for Governor Olcott. Comparing the pollbooks with the registration card and determining if any changes were made at the last minute. This checking was performed several weeks ago by the Hall interests.

A new charge by the Hall lawyers, which they wish added to their petition, is to the effect that priests of the Catholic church in Marion county, urged and persuaded a large number of the legal voters in certain precincts to refrain from voting for Hall and to vote for Olcott. The amendment to the petition declares that the precincts so influenced were East Mount Angel, West Mount Angel, St. Paul, Sublimity, West Gervais, McKee and Scottsford. These precincts gave Olcott 845 votes and Hall 23. The lawyers for Hall want all these precincts thrown out and declared wholly void.

According to the attorneys representing Hall, "certain priests and other officers of the Roman Catholic church, and of the parishes of said church, did privately, secretly and otherwise than by public election and public print, by undue influence and corrupt practices, urge voters and support Olcott and that Hall, in campaigning was of such wide scope and so permeated the entire vote cast in each of said precincts, that they vitiated and invalidated in said precincts the republican nomination for governor."

Complaint likewise is made by the Hall interests that election boards in many counties erroneously, wrongfully and unlawfully permitted many persons to vote the republican ballot on blank "A" freeholder affidavits, and upon blank "B" affidavits, who were not members, in good faith, of the republican party.

RECALL VOTE TO BE TAKEN Jackson County Sheriff to Run for Re-election Saturday.

MEDFORD, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—The recall election against

IF YOUR HAIR IS BOBBED THIS WON'T INTEREST YOU.

It is the latest style in which up-to-date Parisian women are doing their hair, but it is out of the question for flappers and near-flappers who have had their locks bobbed. For those who have not as yet had their hair trimmed, the above mode appears quite attractive with the doubling carrying to set off the knot of hair in the back.

Sheriff C. E. Terrill of Jackson county will be held on Saturday as contemplated, Circuit Judge Calkins today having refused to issue an injunction to stay the election as sought by friends of the sheriff. D. M. Lowe of Medford is the recall candidate. While the recall committee stoutly maintain that they are seeking to oust Sheriff Terrill because he has failed to enforce the laws, particularly the prohibition laws, friends of the sheriff told that the recall is simply an attempt on the part of the Ku Klux Klan to obtain control of the law enforcement bodies of Jackson county. Refusal of Judge Calkins to stay the election has resulted in the citizens' committee formed to combat the Klan inaugurating a whirlwind campaign in an effort to retain Sheriff Terrill in office. At the same time the recall committee is not asleep and as a result it is expected that an exceptionally heavy vote will be cast in the election. In ruling against granting of the injunction Judge Calkins held that the remedy sought by the petitioners could be obtained after election. If the county clerk had refused to strike names from the recall petition after being asked to do so, Judge Calkins ruled that the election would be invalid. Judge Calkins ruled that the recall, if permitted to proceed, would not injure Sheriff Terrill, except perhaps in the way of humiliation, but on the other hand, refusing to permit the election would be regarded by the electorate as a right, that of expressing itself at the polls. Judge Calkins in his decision called attention to the fact that Judge Hamilton of Douglas county, who was refused the right to sit on the case, because of the filing of a petition charging prejudice by the recall committee's attorney, concurred in every particular in the decision as handed down.

HECKER MOTION IS UP

Appeal for New Trial for Slaying to Be Heard Today. OREGON CITY, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—The motion for a new trial for Russell Hecker, convicted slayer of Frank Bowker, Portland musician, near Clackamas station, on Easter Sunday, will be heard before Judge J. U. Campbell Monday. Hecker is confined in the state penitentiary under sentence to be hanged September 25. The motion is based on the charge that sufficient evidence to warrant the conviction was not presented and that the woman charged guilty was misconduct. An affidavit from Thomas Miller, balliff of one-half century's service in the Clackamas county court, to the effect that the woman members of the jury were always under guard during the period of their deliberation, has been filed by the state. The costs to the county in trying the Hecker case amounted to $999.71.

CARS FROM TEXAS COME IN GROUPS TO VISIT PORTLAND

It's a Safe Guess That One of Recent Caravans That Arrived at Auto Camp Had Only Fords in It—Teacher Travels in House Car.

BY ADDISON BENNETT. THE cars from Texas come in groups or blocks, and one of the groups arrived Wednesday night, there being five cars in this particular group, and all the cars are of one make. You can guess at the name of the maker. One guess will be sufficient. That's right; you hit it the first time! In the five cars there were nine people from Dallas and two from Fort Worth, and all school teachers except two, a Dallas druggist, L. O. Robinson, and his wife.

The names of the Fort Worth party are W. D. Francks and wife, and of the other members from Dallas there are G. I. Graham and wife, T. J. Mortier and wife, and E. W. Wyatt and J. E. Kelly. The number on the car of the probable leader, Mr. Francks, is 19,231, and that license was issued in May. So they probably have more than 800,000 cars in the Lone Star state, if Oregon only had half that many!

Four young men are here from Gary, Ind., looking to better themselves. Their names are W. J. Hughes, Norman Arvidson, Dick Gray and Ernest Barnes. Four fine young men who will be a credit to any community they may locate in. E. E. McMillan and wife came from Alpha, Ind., with them their 11-year-old son, Alpha. Mr. McMillan had an auto exchange and garage in Alpha, but he is now in quest of a new location. From Salt Lake, Utah, came W. J. Rodriguez and wife, with their three fine children, W. E., age 20, Etta, 18, and Jack, 6. Mr. Rodriguez is a building contractor. He has been

MURDER CLEW IS FOUND

COLUMBIA RIVER MYSTERY AGAIN UNDER INQUIRY.

Fugitive Held for Recent Wilbur Station Robbery Is Linked With Highway Crime. ROSEBURG, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Evidence that J. C. Kingman, alias W. C. Gleason, held here on a charge of robbing the Southern Pacific and American Express company's station at Wilbur, Or., was near The Dalles about the time that the body of a murdered man was taken from the Columbia river near that city, has started a new investigation of the murder. The body taken from the river never has been identified. Special Agent Rutherford, who brought Kingman here from Phoenix, Ariz., where he was arrested, began the investigation as a result of finding express company checks, apparently stolen from a Washington station in the prisoner's possession. Bloodstains on one of these checks excited the first suspicion. Kingman denied having ever been in Oregon, but the authorities declared that he also had checks and other articles taken from the Wilbur station. When taken before the fingerprint expert at Sacramento, Kingman was recognized as being Carl Becker, alias Paul Krueger, who was arrested for grand larceny after having stolen a motorcycle at Sacramento. At that time he was wanted in Minnesota.

Tillamook Hay Crop Light.

TILLAMOOK, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Owing to the dry spring that prevailed along the Oregon coast this year, the hay crop is unusually light for Tillamook county, although there is a fairly good crop of oat hay, which will relieve the feed question some. Usually at this season of the year the meadows are green, producing a large amount of green feed, but they are drying up quite rapidly, with the result that the dairymen soon will have to begin feeding. It is said by some of the older settlers that it is 40 years since there was such a dry spell in the county at this season of the year.

Albany Scouts to Take Trip.

ALBANY, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Forty-two Albany Boy Scouts have signed up for the annual Boy Scout encampment at Camp Cascadia, two miles above Cascadia, in the heart of the Cascades. The scouts will leave here next Tuesday for the big camp where they will remain for 15 days under the direct supervision of Scout Executive Cook who will be assisted by a number of Albany business men.

$200,000 LEASE SIGNED

SWETLANDS TO OCCUPY NEW SITE ON MORRISON.

Royal Bakery Retail Store to Vacate Premises for Well-Known Confectionery. Swetlands confectionery store, for the past 20 years located at 269 Morrison street, will be moved to the site of the present Royal Bakery retail store on Morrison street, just west of Broadway, as the result of a 15-year lease which was signed yesterday. The lease, it was said, represents rentals aggregating $200,000. The lease was negotiated by Leon Buller, manager of the lease department of the F. E. Taylor company. It was announced by J. E. Hawkins of Swetlands, Inc., that the work of remodeling the Royal Bakery for the occupancy of the confectionery store will be started tomorrow. He said that he planned to expend approximately $100,000 on the remodeling and the purchase of modern equipment. The interior will also be redecorated and a complete ice cream factory installed. Swetlands will operate the present location and the new one for a time, but it was said that it is the intention to ultimately make the new store the exclusive headquarters. Just what will be done with the old location has not yet been decided. The giving up of the retail store means that the Royal Bakery is going out of the retail business, it was said. William B. Heuser, president of the Royal Bakery, represented that concern in the negotiations.

RIOT TALK EXAGGERATED

Stone-Throwers' Footprints Indicate They Are Boys.

LA GRANDE, Or., July 27.—(Special.)—Reports of an alleged riot early Wednesday morning were greatly exaggerated, according to a report made by the police. A railroad employee's wife reported that her home was being bombarded by strikers, but when officers arrived the vicinity was deserted. The only evidence that could be found was several stones and footprints of someone who had thrown stones at the house. In the case of a rumored attack on a woman by a railroad guard, police report that railroad officials refused to give information. They said the matter would be taken up with federal authorities. Following investigation of the charges of alleged inefficient police service, made by railroad officials here, the commission announced that it would remain neutral and continue to protect both sides of the strike controversy. No further additions will be made to the police force unless conditions change. The commission's investigation revealed that an alleged attack of a score of strikers on a railroad guard was exaggerated. A drunken man, not a striker, without any assistance, removed the guard's badge of authority. Irish Session Postponed. DUBLIN, July 27.—(By the Assoc.
